the stone circles of our prehistoric ancestors Although there have been many theories to explain them to this day there is no consensus about their purpose Colin Richards and Vicki Cummings provide a clear and illuminating field guide to 424 key stone circle sites in Britain and Ireland Organised by region this handy volume sets out the features of these megalithic monuments including their landscape position construction and physical properties The authors take stock of cutting edge research and recent excavations stone circles that were previously lost to time They present new insights on the chronology composition and roles of different circles to transform our understanding the sites Beautifully illustrated with photographs maps and plans this is an essential guide to Britain and Ireland s most mysterious prehistoric monuments

The Use and reuse of stone circles Courtney Nimura, Richard Bradley, 2016-09-30 The study of stone circles has long played a major role in British and Irish archaeology and for Scotland most attention has been focused on the large monuments of Orkney and the Western Isles Several decades of fieldwork have shown how these major structures are likely to be of early date and recognized that that smaller settings of monoliths had a more extended history Many of the structures in Northern Britain were reused during the later Bronze Age the Iron Age and the early medieval period A series of problems demand further investigation including when were the last stone circles built How did they differ from earlier constructions How were they related to henge monuments especially those of Bronze Age date How frequently were these places reused and did this secondary activity change the character of those sites This major new assessment first presents the results of fieldwork undertaken at the Scottish recumbent stone circle of Hillhead the stone circles of Waulkmill and Croftmoraig the stone circle and henge at Hill of Tuach at Kintore and the small ring cairn at Laikenbuie in Inverness shire Part 2 brings together the results of these five projects and puts forward a chronology for the construction and primary use of stone circles particularly the Chalcolithic and Bronze Age examples It considers the reuse of stone circles long after they were built and discusses four neighboring stone circles in Aberdeenshire which display both similarities and contrasts in their architecture use of raw materials associated artefacts and structural sequences Finally a reassessment and reinterpretation of Croftmoraig and its sequence is presented the new interpretation drawing attention to ways of thinking about these monuments which have still to fulfill their potential

Archaeologies of Remembrance Howard Williams, 2012-12-06 How did past communities and individuals remember through social and ritual practices How important were mortuary practices in processes of remembering and forgetting the past This innovative new research work focuses upon identifying strategies of remembrance Evidence can be found in a range of archaeological remains including the adornment and alteration of the body in life and death the production exchange consumption and destruction of material culture the construction use and reuse of monuments and the social ordering of architectural space and the landscape This book shows how in the past as today shared memories are important and defining aspects of social and ritual traditions and the practical actions of dealing with and disposing of the dead can form a central focus for the definition of social memory

Haunted Spaces, Sacred Places

(EasyRead Large Bold Edition) Brian Haughton, 2008 Forms of Dwelling Ulla Rajala, Phil Mills, 2017-01-31 The concept of a socially constructed space of human activity in areas of everyday actions as initially proposed in the field of anthropology by Tim Ingold has actually been much more applied in archaeology In this wide ranging collection of 13 papers including a re assessment by Ingold himself contributors show why it has been so influential with papers ranging from the study of Mesolithic to historic and contemporary archaeology revisiting different research themes such as Ingold s own Lapland study and the development of landscape archaeology A series of case studies demonstrates the value and strength of the taskscape concept applied to a variety of contexts and scales across wide geographical and temporal situations While exploring new frontiers the papers contrast British Nordic and Mediterranean archaeologies to showcase the study of material culture and landscape and conclude with an assessment of the concept of taskscape and its further developments The Moon and the Bonfire Richard Bradley, Sharon Arrowsmith, 2005 Whilst a report on excavations at three stone circles and two fieldwalking projects in north east Scotland may not seem very appealing this book does much to heighten public awareness and interest in such sites and re connects us with the mysterious monuments of the past This study of the sites of Tomnaverie Deeside Cothiemuir Wood Donside and Aikey Brae Buchan is written in an engaging and approachable style with plenty of illustrative material Whilst the project was geared towards investigating the character chronology structural development and wider context of the stone circles its results go much further in revealing how people used and perceived such sites and the landscape around them Here contextual information discussion of methodology and objectives are combined with factual data and interpretation as the project members examine various aspects of the sites such as the characterisation shape colour and texture of the stones used construction techniques evidence of burning the presence of human remains and possible solar and lunar alignments The proffering of new insights into the use and symbolism of the monuments is highly valuable for example the suggestion that we should perhaps consider the use of these stone circles during the hours of darkness rather than daylight an idea first proposed by Aubrey Burl requires us to re think our preconceptions about monuments in the past The rewards of painstaking excavation and trudging through muddy fields are evident in a publication such as this Haunted Spaces, Sacred Places (EasyRead Super Large 20pt Edition) , Haunted Spaces, Sacred Places (Volume 2 of 2) (EasyRead Super Large 24pt Edition) , Space, Place and Religious Landscapes Darrelyn Gunzburg, Bernadette Brady, 2020-10-01 Exploring sacred mountains around the world this book examines whether bonding and reverence to a mountain is intrinsic to the mountain constructed by people or a mutual encounter Chapters explore mountains in England Scotland Wales Italy Ireland the Himalaya Japan Greece USA Asia and South America and embrace the union of sky landscape and people to examine the religious dynamics between human and non human entities This book takes as its starting point the fact that mountains physically mediate between land and sky and act as metaphors for bridges from one realm to another recognising that mountains are relational and that landscapes form personal and group cosmologies

The book fuses ideas of space place and material religion with cultural environmentalism and takes an interconnected approach to material religio landscapes In this way it fills the gap between lived religious traditions personal reflection phenomenology historical context environmental philosophy myths and performativity In defining material religion as active engagement with mountain forming and humanshaping landscapes the research and ideas presented here provide theories that are widely applicable to other forms of material religion

The Oxford Handbook of Light in Archaeology Costas Papadopoulos, Holley Moyes, 2021-12-09 Light has a fundamental role to play in our perception of the world Natural or artificial lightscapes orchestrate uses and experiences of space and in turn influence how people construct and negotiate their identities form social relationships and attribute meaning to im material practices Archaeological practice seeks to analyse the material culture of past societies by examining the interaction between people things and spaces As light is a crucial factor that mediates these relationships understanding its principles and addressing illumination s impact on sensory experience and perception should be a fundamental pursuit in archaeology However in archaeological reasoning studies of lightscapes have remained largely neglected and understudied This volume provides a comprehensive and accessible consideration of light in archaeology and beyond by including dedicated and fully illustrated chapters covering diverse aspects of illumination in different spatial and temporal contexts from prehistory to the present Written by leading international scholars it interrogates the qualities and affordances of light in different contexts and im material environments explores its manipulation and problematises its elusive properties The result is a synthesis of invaluable insights into sensory experience and perception demonstrating illumination s vital impact on social cultural and artistic contexts

Building the Great Stone Circles of the North Colin Richards, 2013-11-30

Of all prehistoric monuments few are more emotive than the great stone circles that were built throughout Britain and Ireland From the tall elegant pointed monoliths of the Stones of Stenness to the grandeur of Stonehenge and the sarsen blocks at Avebury circles of stone exert a magnetic fascination to those who venture into their sphere In Britain today more people visit these structures than any other form of prehistoric monument and visitors stand in awe at their scale and question how and why they were erected Building the Great Stone Circles of the North looks at the enigmatic stone structures of Scotland and investigates the background of their construction and their cultural significance

The Neolithic of Britain and Ireland Vicki Cummings, 2017-05-18 The Neolithic of Britain and Ireland provides a synthesis of this dynamic period of prehistory from the end of the Mesolithic through to the early Beaker period Drawing on new excavations and the application of new scientific approaches to data from this period this book considers both life and death in the Neolithic It offers a clear and concise introduction to this period but with an emphasis on the wider and on going research questions It is an important text for students new to the study of this period of prehistory as well as acting as a reference for students and scholars already researching this area The book begins by considering the Mesolithic prelude specifically the millennium prior to the start of the Neolithic in Britain and Ireland It then goes on to consider what life was like for people at the time alongside the monumental record and how people treated the dead This is presented chronologically with separate chapters on the early Neolithic middle Neolithic late Neolithic and early Beaker periods Finally it considers future research priorities for the study of the Neolithic

The Book of Unconformities Hugh Raffles, 2022-04-18 From the author of Insectopedia a powerful exploration of loss grief endurance and the absences that permeate the present Unconformities are gaps in the geological record physical evidence of breaks in time For Hugh Raffles these holes in history are also fissures in feeling knowledge memory and understanding In this endlessly inventive riveting book Raffles enters these gaps drawing together threads of geology history literature philosophy and ethnography to trace the intimate connections between personal loss and world historical events and to reveal the force of absence at the core of contemporary life Through deeply researched explorations of Neolithic stone circles Icelandic lava mica from a Nazi concentration camp petrified whale blubber in Svalbard the marble prized by Manhattan s Lenape and a huge Greenlandic meteorite that arrived in New York City along with six Inuit adventurers in 1897 Raffles shows how unconformities unceasingly incite human imagination and investigation yet refuse to conform heal or disappear A journey across eons and continents The Book of Unconformities is also a journey through stone this most solid ancient and enigmatic of materials it turns out is as lively capricious willful and indifferent as time itself The Ancient World Sarolta Anna Takacs, Eric H. Cline, 2015-07-17 Designed to meet the curriculum needs of students from grades 7 12 this five volume encyclopedia explores the history and civilizations of the ancient world from prehistory to approximately 1000 CE Organized alphabetically within geographical volumes on Africa Europe the Americas Southwest Asia and Asia and the Pacific entries cover the social political scientific and technological economic and cultural events and developments that shaped the ancient world in all areas of the globe Each volume explores significant civilizations personalities cultural and social developments and scientific achievements in its geographical area Boxed features include Link in Time Link in Place Ancient Weapons Turning Points and Great Lives Each volume also includes maps timelines and illustrations and a glossary bibliography and indexes complete the set
