Ethics From A Theocentric Perspective:

Ethics from a Theocentric Perspective: Theology and ethics James M. Gustafson, 1983      Ethics from a Theocentric Perspective James M. Gustafson, 1983      Ethics from a Theocentric Perspective James M. Gustafson, 1981      Ethics from a Theocentric Perspective, Volume 1 James M. Gustafson, 1981-10

Ethics from a Theocentric Perspective will surprise some, shock others and unleash a flood of speculation about what has happened to James Gustafson. The answer quite simply is nothing has happened to Gustafson except that he has now turned his attention to developing his constructive theological position and we should all be very glad. In this the first of two volumes Gustafson displays his colors as a constructive theologian and they are indeed brilliant and splendid. Though Gustafson is a theologian who works in the Christian tradition he reminds us that the God Christians worship is not merely the Christian God. For Gustafson the kind of God who is the object of the theologians' reflection eludes or surpasses the inevitably confessional activity of Christian theological reflection. Thus Gustafson the constructive theologian is also Gustafson the revisionist theologian who takes as his task nothing less than challenging the anthropocentrism that he alleges characterizes mainstream Western Christian theology. Stanley Hauerwas Journal of Religion

Ethics from a Theocentric Perspective: Ethics and theology James M. Gustafson, 1992      Ethics from a Theocentric Perspective, Volume 2 James M. Gustafson, 1992-11-01

Gustafson's two volume work has been hailed as a major contribution to Christian ethics. In this second volume Gustafson considers marriage, suicide and the allocation of resources in famine and in biomedical research to develop an ethical outlook in which divine purpose is the basis of moral activity. Breadth and subtlety, wisdom and insight. Gustafson is a first rate theologian. Commonweal. The two volume work now complete will be a benchmark for discussions of Christian ethics for years to come. With it Gustafson becomes one of the thinkers by whom others can by agreement or divergence define their own ethics. Roger L. Shinn Christianity and Crisis. Gustafson's theocentrism is an original and creative contribution to modern ethical discussion. Douglas Sturm Ethics

Stanley Hauerwas Journal of Religion      Ethics from a Theocentric Perspective

James Moody Gustafson, 1984      Ethics from a theocentric perspective, v.1 : theology and ethics James M. Gustafson, 1981
James M. Gustafson's Theocentric Ethics Beckley, Swezey, 2002-08      Ethics from a theocentric perspective, v.2 : ethics and theology James M. Gustafson, 1984      Intersections James M. Gustafson, 1996

In his 1994 A Sense of the Divine The Natural Environment from a Theocentric Perspective James M. Gustafson offered a long awaited application of his theocentric ethics. In Intersections Gustafson continues to insist that theology and theological ethics must overlap with other diverse fields of study particularly the hard sciences if they are to remain rich, vital and relevant in the years ahead. With trademark clarity he relentlessly pursues the fundamental questions of theological ethics: the nature of being human, what distinguishes us from other species, how our self-interest conflicts with our sympathy and concern for others, and the role of religious faith. After contrasting two interpretations of human nature—one from theologian Reinhold Niebuhr, the other from biologist Melvin Konner—Gustafson suggests four modes of moral discourse about medicine, then examines styles of religious reflection in medical ethics. Briefly sharpening his focus on genetic therapy, he moves to larger questions of human viability, concluding with a stirring call to scholars, clergy, and laypersons alike to engage in these intellectual intersections that have above all supreme practical importance in our daily lives.

Morality Truly Christian, Truly African Paulinus Ikechukwu Odozor C.S.Sp., 2014-11-15

Given the largely Eurocentric nature of moral theology in the history of the Roman Catholic Church, what will it take to invest the theological community in the history and moral challenges of the Church in other parts of the world, especially Africa? What is to be gained for the whole Church when this happens in a deep and lasting way? In this timely and important study, Paulinus Ikechukwu Odozor brings greater theological clarity to the issue of the relationship between Christianity and African tradition in the area of ethical foundations. He also provides a constructive example of what fundamental moral theology done from an African and Christian, especially Catholic, moral theological point of view could look like. Following a brief history of the development of African Christian theology, Odozor examines responses of African theologians to African tradition and Christian responses to the reality of non-Christian religions. In a context where the African religious experience and heritage are powerful sources of meaning and identity, Christian evangelization raises questions both about the African primal religions and about Christianity itself and its claims. Odozor takes up the subject of moral reasoning in an African Christian theological ethics and concludes with case studies that show how the African Church has tried to inculturate moral discourse on a religiously pluralistic continent and relate the healing gospel message to African situations. Students and scholars of moral theology and ethics, and church leaders, will profit from the issues raised in Morality Truly Christian, Truly African.

Theological Ethics After Gustafson Theodoor Adriaan Boer, 1997. Met een samenvatting in het Nederlands      The Poetics of Grace: Christian Ethics as Theodicy Jeph Holloway, 2013-04-09

What is God doing about a world marked by conflict and division? What about a world in which our technologies promise great good but also threaten our existence? What is God doing in a world where the demands for accumulation and acquisition create division and despair Can Christians hope to be of positive influence in a world that does not always support reflect or even understand Christian commitments Christian ethics often raises such questions as these and the possible answers vary widely Paul s Letter to the Ephesians is a tremendous resource for exploring a faithful response to perhaps the toughest question of all what is God doing about evil The role of Christian ethics is to take seriously the challenge that whatever God is doing God calls us to participate in a distinctive task that embraces our own commitments and labors within the divine purpose Ephesians says that God has taken the initiative to pursue that purpose and remarkably offers that we ourselves are part of the answer to the question what is God doing about evil A Moral Ontology for a Theistic Ethic Frank G. Kirkpatrick,2017-11-22 This title was first published in 2003 This book develops a moral ontology for a theistic ethic that engages the work of contemporary moral and political philosophers and reaffirms the relevance of a theistic tradition of God s relation to the world reflected in the fundamental teachings of Judaism Christianity and Islam Drawing on recent thought in the non religious fields of psychology and political and moral philosophy which build around the concept of human flourishing in community Kirkpatrick argues that a theistic ethic need not be the captive of parochial or sectarian theological camps He proposes a common or universal ethic that transcends the fashionable ethnocentric incommensurate differences in morality alleged by many post modern deconstructionists In the wake of ethnic religious strife post September 11th 2001 this book argues for a common morality built on the inclusivity of love community and justice that can transcend sectarian and parochial boundaries The Future of Catholic Theological Ethics Anna Abram,2018-03-15

This book is a printed edition of the Special Issue The Future of Catholic Theological Ethics that was published in Religions

The Making of American Liberal Theology Gary J. Dorrien,2006-01-01 In this first of three volumes Dorrien identifies the indigenous roots of American liberal theology and demonstrates a wider longer running tradition than has been thought The tradition took shape in the nineteenth century motivated by a desire to map a modernist third way between orthodoxy and rationalistic deism atheism It is defined by its openness to modern intellectual inquiry its commitment to the authority of individual reason and experience its conception of Christianity as an ethical way of life and its commitment to make Christianity credible and socially relevant to modern people Dorrien takes a narrative approach and provides a biographical reading of important religious thinkers of the time including William E Channing Ralph Waldo Emerson Horace Bushnell Henry Ward Beecher Elizabeth Cady Stanton and Charles Briggs Dorrien notes that although liberal theology moved into elite academic institutions its conceptual foundations were laid in the pulpit rather than the classroom Ecotheology and

Nonhuman Ethics in Society Melissa Brotton,2016-11-30 This book promotes Christian ecology and animal ethics from the perspectives of the Bible science and the Judeo Christian tradition In an age of climate change how do we protect species and individual animals Does it matter how we treat bugs How does understanding the Trinity and Christ s self emptying nature help us to be more responsible earth caretakers What do Christian ethics have to do with hunting How do the Foxfire books of Southern Appalachia help us to love a place Does ecology need a place at the pulpit and in hymns How do Catholic approaches past and present help us appreciate and respond to the created world Finally how does Jesus respond to humans nonhumans and environmental concerns in the Gospel of Mark

Environmental Ethics, Ecological Theology, and Natural Selection Lisa H. Sideris, 2003 Lisa Sideris proposes a new way of thinking about the natural world an environmental ethic that incorporates the ideas of natural selection and values the processes rather than the products of nature Such an approach encourages us to take a minimally interventionist approach to nature Only when the competitive realities of evolution are faced squarely Sideris argues can we generate practical environmental principles to deal with such issues as species extinction and the relationship between suffering and sentience
