Eudecisionmaking Euro Union Hc:

EU Withdrawal as a Supranational Affair Polly Polak, 2023-08-07 The UK has generally leaned towards intergovernmental rather than supranational relations despite the significant restrictions on their sovereignty that 47 years of EU membership have entailed These supranational constraints were not only a cause behind their attempt precisely to take back control but have also been especially present during the process of Britain's withdrawal from the Union Thus this book brings together the many valuable lessons the British have left us with concerning the legal and procedural constraints that are placed on an EU Member State's withdrawal and which have also led to a post Brexit Britain that continues bound by important supranational features that have crossed over from their abandoned membership into their new relationship with the EU

Accountability, Parliamentarism and Transparency in the EU Adam Cygan, 2013 It was a great pleasure to find such a rich analysis of the role of national parliaments in the EU What I particularly like and what proves to be particularly fruitful is the combination of perspectives the EU law and national constitutional perspective including a comparative dimension the perspective that explains the role of national parliaments in the EU from past to present and even near future and last but not least the perspective of the interaction between the legal frameworks and the political reality There is every reason to congratulate Adam Cygan wholeheartedly on this book Ton Van Den Brink Europa Instituut Utrecht The Netherlands One of the most outstanding specialists on the role of national parliaments in the EU has produced another impressive book about this dynamic topic It provides an illuminating overview of current practices it sharply analyses the legal status quo and it brings theoretical depth to the topic in multiple perspectives Olaf Tans Amsterdam University College The Netherlands This accessible and detailed book takes an interdisciplinary approach in exploring the position of national parliaments in the EU polity and in particular their position within the EU governance framework Adam Cygan analyses the impact of subsidiarity monitoring upon national parliaments and to what extent this provides new opportunities for national parliaments to be engaged in and exert influence over the EU legislative process While the post Lisbon position of national parliaments may have improved this book questions whether national parliaments can really be considered as central actors in EU affairs The author also queries whether subsidiarity monitoring has the capacity to create a collective bloc of horizontal actors which exert effective accountability over the EU legislative process Accountability Parliamentarism and Transparency in the EU will strongly appeal to academics parliamentarians parliamentary officials working in EU affairs as well as EU civil servants

Indian Emission Norms and Practices Mr P. Vignesh, Dr. A.R. Pradeep Kumar, Dr. N. Shankar Ganesh, In India vehicle emission standards were implemented in 1991 for gasoline vehicles and in 1992 for diesel vehicles Since 2000 Euro standards have been followed in India under the name Bharat Stage Emission Standards for four wheeled vehicles Since October 2010 Bharat Stage III norms have been implemented throughout India Bharat Stage IV norms have been in effect in a few cities since April 2010 Bharat Stage IV is expected to be implemented throughout India by April 2017 It is already in use in 13 major cities Upgrading the emission standards necessitates the upgrading of manufacturing companies technology which raises the cost of the vehicle One of the main reasons for the slow upgrade of emission standards is cost However there are some who argue that the cost increase is offset by cost savings in health care because the pollutants that cause disease are reduced as emission standards are raised Fuels are also important in meeting these emission standards Fuel specifications have also been aligned with the corresponding European production norms Transport Issues and Problems in Southeastern Europe Caralampo Focas, 2017-11-22 The collapse of previous command economic structures in Eastern Europe has led to an often chaotic reorganization of transport operations Southeastern Europe in particular not only lags behind the western EU countries in terms of transport infrastructure but also in terms of management and policy However despite this or perhaps even because there are no long standing established patterns this region is a fertile territory for innovation Based on the first major international conference dealing with transport issues in Southeastern Europe this edited volume brings together key researchers and policy makers to discuss and critically analyse these innovations Focusing on issues related to privatization and harmonization of national legislation the contributors also address the countries struggle with inadequate management structures and the challenges posed in running shipping ports and railways in a region fragmented into numerous nations and states It not only provides an up to date overview of transport operations and planning in Southeastern Europe but also provides more general insights into recent and current developments in a region that has undergone widespread upheavals in the past two decades and is now experiencing renewed growth The EU as a Global Regulator for Environmental Protection Ioanna Hadjiyianni, 2019-08-08 This book critically examines the extension of EU environmental legislation beyond EU borders through measures that determine access to the single market on the basis of processes that take place in third countries. It makes a timely contribution to political debates about the relations between EU and non EU countries and the Union's role in the global governance of environmental policy where it has been considered a global leader. The book aims to identify and explain the emerging legal phenomenon of internal environmental measures with extraterritorial implications as an important manifestation of EU global regulatory power and assesses the extraterritorial reach of EU environmental law from a legitimacy perspective. It examines mechanisms that can bolster its legitimacy focusing on the legal orders of the EU and the World Trade Organization which are key legal fora for controlling the EU's global regulatory power.

European Defence Decision-Making Antonio Calcara, 2020-03-02 This book comparatively examines the preferences of four key arms producing states towards European joint armaments programmes. The European defence market is characterised by a mixture of inter state competition and European cooperation and this work assesses why countries sometimes decide to cooperate with their partners while in other instances they refrain from doing so. In order to shed light on this empirical puzzle the book focuses on state defence industry relations in the four major European arms producers France Germany Italy and the UK. The main argument is that the public or private governance of industrial suppliers and market size are the two decisive variables that explain the simultaneous presence of cooperation and competition in European defence procurement. Specifically it argues that in public governance ecosystems arms industries are able to capture the state's decision making processes to their own advantage. In private governance ecosystems the state is relatively autonomous from defence industry's influence and able to pursue larger macro economic and military benefits. Moreover the strategy pursued by governments and defence firms is decisively shaped by market size because of its importance in determining the relative costs and benefits of collaborative arrangements. This book will be of much interest to students of EU policy defence studies European politics and International Relations.
