Economic Efficiency Ben Van Rompuy, 2012-08-01. Over the past decade we have witnessed an apparent convergence of views among competition agency officials in the European Union and the United States on the appropriate goals of competition law enforcement. Antitrust policy, it is now suggested, should focus on enhancing economic efficiency, which we are to believe will promote consumer welfare. Recent EU Commission Guidelines on the application of Article 101 TFEU appear to banish considerations that cannot be construed as having an economic efficiency value, such as the environment, cultural policy, employment, public health, and consumer protection, from the application of Article 101 TFEU. Arguing that the professed adoption of an exclusive efficiency approach to Article 101 TFEU does not preclude but rather obfuscates the role of non-efficiency considerations, the author of this timely contribution accomplishes the following objectives: traces the genesis of the shift to an efficiency orientation in EU and US antitrust policy and dispels several ingrained misconceptions that underpin it; demonstrates the close interrelationship between evolving images of the purpose of antitrust, the development of related enforcement norms, and enforcement output; provides in-depth analyses of a number of analytically rich cases in the audiovisual sector and particularly those related to sports rights; and explores what the role of non-efficiency considerations in the application of Article 101 TFEU could and should be under the modernized enforcement regime.

Business Networks Reloaded Peter Krebs, Stefanie Jung, 2017-05-15. Business networks are an important economic phenomenon of increasing practical importance throughout Europe. This volume examines business networks from an interdisciplinary perspective with many contributions dealing with a certain form of business network, the so-called cooperative or non-hierarchical. With regard to this specific form of cooperation, the volume presents new economic findings, proposes a definition, and discusses the governance structure of those networks. Moreover, this book explores whether the research results can also be applied to hierarchical, centralized business networks. With medium-sized companies and all the more with large companies, business networks also pose the question of the compatibility with anti trust law This collection dedicates three contributions to this important question They are complemented by chapters on liability of the network and its members towards third parties and contributions discussing duties of loyalty and the interpretation of agreements Drawing on new research from Italy Spain Germany and Norway this work illustrates the European legal perspective on business networks EU Law and the Harmonization of Takeovers in the Internal Market Thomas Papadopoulos,2010-01-01 Although some provisions of the Directive are obligatory for all Member States two key provisions have been made optional the non frustration rule which requires the board to obtain the prior authorization of the general meeting of shareholders before taking any action that could result in the frustration of the bid and the breakthrough rule restricting significant transfer and voting rights during the time allowed for acceptance of the bid Other relevant legal issues covered in the course of the analysis include the following A the right of establishment as a right of legal persons A vertical vs EU Law and Private International Law Jan-Jaap Kuipers,2011-11-25 The Rome I Regulation on the Law Applicable to Contractual Obligations has unified the conflict of laws rules of the Member States The influence of the European Union upon Private International Law goes beyond positive harmonisation however There is a certain tension between European law and PIL European law is concerned with whether the imposition of a rule constitutes a restriction to the internal market whereas PIL does not seek to neutralise the disadvantages that result from differences between national laws but instead tries to locate the geographical centre of the legal relationship The present book attempts to identify the methodological disharmony between the two legal disciplines in the regulation of cross border contracts and proposes suggestions to enhance their mutual understanding Steiner & Woods EU Law Lorna Woods,Philippa Watson,2014 Now in its 12th edition this leading textbook provides a thorough account of the institutions that govern the EU along with the most important areas of substantive law The book focuses on giving a clear explanation of the law as well as highlighting areas for further debate Scrutiny of European Business Great Britain.
