First Fictions Introduction Eleven:

First Fictions, 1992 Introducing six new writers of fiction this book illuminates writers considered to show exceptional promise in their various genres In the past writers such as Tom Stoppard Ted Hughes Anne Devlin and Hugo Hamilton have Imperial Fictions Todd Kontje, 2018-04-25 Rethinks German literature by made their debuts in the Introduction series challenging the notion that national literature is the narrative of a spiritually united people Experimental Fictions Tullio Pagano, 1999 This volume provides the first comprehensive comparative study of two major representatives of naturalism Emile Zola and the Italian verist novelist Giovanni Verga The development of Verga's narrative from the early romantic novels to his mature verist fiction is to be understood in connection with French Naturalism and Zola in particular The author thus challenges the canonical interpretation of Verga's fiction dominant among Italian critics which sees it in Fictions of Embassy Timothy Hampton, 2011-03-15 Historians of early modern Europe antithetical opposition to Zola s have long stressed how new practices of diplomacy that emerged during the period transformed European politics Fictions of Embassy is the first book to examine the cultural implications of the rise of modern diplomacy Ranging across two and a half centuries and half a dozen languages Timothy Hampton opens a new perspective on the intersection of literature and politics at the dawn of modernity Hampton argues that literary texts tragedies epics essays use scenes of diplomatic negotiation to explore the relationship between politics and aesthetics between the world of political rhetoric and the dynamics of literary form The diplomatic encounter is a scene of cultural exchange and linguistic negotiation Literary depictions of diplomacy offer occasions for reflection on the definition of genre on the power of representation on the limits of rhetoric on the nature of fiction making itself Conversely discussions of diplomacy by jurists political philosophers and ambassadors deploy the tools of literary tradition to articulate new theories of political action Hampton addresses these topics through a discussion of the major diplomatic writers between 1450 and 1700 Machiavelli Grotius Gentili Guicciardini and through detailed readings of literary works that address the same topics works by Shakespeare More Rabelais Montaigne Tasso Corneille Racine and Camoens He demonstrates that the issues raised by diplomatic theorists helped shape the emergence of new literary forms and that literature provides a lens through which we can learn to read the languages of diplomacy Founded in Fiction Thomas Koenigs, 2024-11-26 This monograph presents a new history of early American literature that traces the diverse forms of fiction circulating in the early United States 1789 1861 and how they shaped the way Americans thought and argued Stranger Fictions Rebecca C. Johnson, 2021-01-15 Zaynab first published about political and cultural issues of their age in 1913 is widely cited as the first Arabic novel yet the previous eight decades saw hundreds of novels translated into Arabic from English and French This vast literary corpus influenced generations of Arab writers but has until now been considered a curious footnote in the genre's history Incorporating these works into the history of the Arabic novel Stranger Fictions offers a transformative new account of modern Arabic literature world literature and the novel Rebecca C Johnson rewrites the history of the global circulation of the novel by moving Arabic literature from the margins of comparative literature to its center Considering the wide range of nineteenth and early twentieth century translation practices including bad translation mistranslation and pseudotranslation Johnson argues that Arabic translators did far more than copy European works they authored new versions of them producing sophisticated theorizations of the genre These translations and the reading practices they precipitated form the conceptual and practical foundations of Arab literary modernity necessitating an overhaul of our notions of translation cultural exchange and the global Examining nearly a century of translations published in Beirut Cairo Malta Paris London and New York from Qiat R binun Kur z The story of Robinson Crusoe in 1835 to pastiched crime stories in early twentieth century Egyptian magazines Johnson shows how translators theorized the Arab world not as Europe s periphery but as an alternative center in a globalized network Stranger Fictions affirms the central place of mis translation in both the history of the novel in Arabic and the novel as a transnational form itself A Historical Study of Early Modern Chinese Fictions (1890—1920) Pingyuan Chen, 2021-01-28 This book contains a classic guide to historical study of early modern Chinese fiction from the late Qing Dynasty till early republican China It does not merely study the new fiction writing in China which was strongly influenced by the western fiction but also draws a comparison between classical Chinese fiction and the early modern Chinese fiction This book is an excellent reference in the study of early modern Chinese literature since it conveys a point of view to the readers with abundant and solid historical materials At the heart of the book it is the matter of a specific value in trans cultural studies between the western world and China Faithful Fictions Thomas M. Woodman, 2022-02-25 Catholic writers have made a rich contribution to British fiction despite their minority status Evelyn Waugh Graham Greene and Muriel Spark are well known examples but there are many other significant novelists whose work has a Catholic aspect This is the first book to survey the whole range of this material and examine whether valid generalizations can be made about it In charting such fiction from its development in the Victorian period through to the work of contemporaries such as David Lodge the author analyses its complex relationships with changes in British society and the international Church There is more than one way of being a Catholic as Woodman shows but he also demosntrates that many of these writers share common themes and a distinctive perspective They often wish in particular to use their religion as a weapon against what they portray as a complacent Protestant or secular society Their consciousness of writing in the midst of such a society gives a special edge to their treatments of the perennial Catholic themes of suffering sin and sex It also has implications for literary form and relates to what has been seen as the extremist mode of Catholic fiction The final question that Woodman puts is whether the changes in the Church since the Second Vatican Council must inevitably lead to the loss of this distinctive Catholic contribution to the novel Fictions of Conversion Jeffrey S. Shoulson, 2013-03-21 Fictions of Conversion investigates the anxieties produced by the rapid and erratic religious political and cultural transformations in early modern England which were often given shape in poetry plays and translations by the figure of the

Iewish converso The Orphan in Eighteenth-Century Fiction E. König, 2014-05-29 The Orphan in Eighteenth Century Fiction explores how the figure of the orphan was shaped by changing social and historical circumstances Analysing sixteen major novels from Defoe to Austen this original study explains the undiminished popularity of literary orphans and reveals their key role in the construction of gendered subjectivity The Cambridge Companion to Environmental Humanities Jeffrey Cohen, Stephanie Foote, 2021-09-02 Offers a comprehensive introduction to the environmental humanities It addresses the 21st century recognition of an environmental crisis Mutes & Earthquakes Bill Manhire, 1997 An anthology of writing from 70 writers who have been involved with the editor s writing course Contributions are included from many of the most well known contemporary writers along with essays on creative writing and Manhire's own introduction exercises and notes Brief biographical notes are given for most of the writers Lost in Space Marleen S. Barr, 2017-11-01 Archaeologists and anthropologists discover other civilizations science fiction writers invent them In this collection of her major essays Marleen Barr argues that feminist science fiction writers contribute to postmodern literary canons with radical alternatives to mainstream patriarchal society Because feminist science fiction challenges male centered social imperatives it has been marginalized and dismissed from the canon thus lost in space Moving beyond feminist science fiction itself Barr goes on to examine other literary genres from the perspective of feminist fabulation a term she has coined to encompass science fiction fantasy utopian literature and mainstream literature that critiques patriarchal fictions Discussing the works of such writers as Margaret Atwood Joanna Russ Salman Rushdie Paul Theroux Ursula Le Guin Herman Melville Saul Bellow Edgar Allan Poe and Marge Piercy Barr illuminates feminist science fiction s connections to other literary traditions and contemporary canons Her critical analysis yields a new and expanded understanding of feminist creativity Eliot's Early Novels U. C. Knoepflmacher, 2022-04-29 This study shows how George Eliot a leader in the nineteenth century intellectual world of Darwin and the Industrial Revolution wrestled in her early novels with the esthetic problems of reconciling her art and her philosophy Attempting in her fiction to reproduce the real temporal world she lived in George Eliot also tried to reassure herself and her readers that their godless modern world still operated according to higher moral laws of justice and perfectibility U C Knoepflmacher examines here for the first time in sequence George Eliot s development of increasingly sophisticated forms of fiction in her efforts to reconcile the two conflicting orientations in her thought We see this popular novelist as she progressed artistically from the flawed Amos Barton in 1857 up to the balance she achieved in Silas Marner in 1861 And we discover her in the context of her literary antecedents and surrounding in a way that brings many new affiliations to light particularly the connection of her novels to the writings of Milton the Romantic poets and her contemporaries Arnold and Carlyle Professor Knoepflmacher thoroughly discusses each work in George Eliot s first stage brining new attention to minor works like The Lifted Veil and Scenes of Clerical Life and fresh insights to such well known works as Adam Bede The Mill on the Floss and Silas Marner This title is part of UC Press s Voices Revived program which commemorates University of California Press s mission to seek out and cultivate the brightest minds and give them voice reach and impact Drawing on a backlist dating to 1893 Voices Revived makes high quality peer reviewed scholarship accessible once again using print on demand technology This title was originally published in 1968 Displacing Fictions of Orhan Pamuk Hande Gürses, 2023-11-21 Displacing Fictions of Orhan Pamuk Beyond the Bridge questions the prevailing relevance and violence of the bridge metaphor for literature through new readings of Orhan Pamuk This book argues that despite its association with connection dialogue and reconciliation the bridge is an inherently violent structure that controls movement by regulating it Drawing on deconstruction and Derrida the author argues for a rethinking of the intrinsic connection between the bridge and the writings of Orhan Pamuk Exploring Pamuk's significance as an author of the world literature canon this book investigates the history and theory of the discipline as a bridge Identifying new metaphors in Pamuk s work Hande G rses shows the political potential of moving beyond the bridge As people lands and ideas keep moving Displacing Fictions of Orhan Pamuk argues for an urgent need for new metaphors to understand and represent the realities of our contemporary world The Passionate Fictions of Eliza Haywood Kirsten T. Saxton, Rebecca P. Bocchicchio, 2000 The most prolific woman writer of the eighteenth century Eliza Haywood 1693 1756 was a key player in the history of the English novel Along with her contemporary Defoe she did more than any other writer to create a market for fiction prior to the emergence of Richardson Fielding and Smollett Also one of Augustan England's most popular authors Haywood came to fame in 1719 with the publication of her first novel Love in Excess In addition to writing fiction she was a playwright translator bookseller actress theater critic and editor of The Female Spectator the first English periodical written by women for women Though tremendously popular her novels and plays from the 1720s and 30s scandalized the reading public with explicit portrayals of female sexuality and led others to call her the Great Arbitress of Passion Essays in this collection explore themes such as the connections between Haywood's early and late work her experiments with the form of the novel her involvement in party politics her use of myth and plot devices and her intense interest in the imbalance of power between men and women Distinguished scholars such as Paula Backschieder Felicity Nussbaum and John Richetti approach Haywood from a number of theoretical and topical positions leading the way in a crucial reexamination of her work The Passionate Fictions of Eliza Haywood examines the formal and ideological complexities of her prose and demonstrates how Haywood s texts deft traditional schematization Empiricism and the Early Theory of the Novel Roger Maioli, 2017-03-18 This book is about the empiricist challenge to literature and its influence on eighteenth century theories of fiction British empiricism from Bacon to Hume challenged the notion that imaginative literature can be a reliable source of knowledge This book argues that theorists of the novel from Henry Fielding to Jane Austen recognized the force of the empiricist challenge but refused to capitulate It traces how in their reflections on the novel these writers attempted to formulate a theoretical link between the world of experience and the products of the imagination and thus update the old defenses of poetry for empirical times Taken together the empiricist challenge and the responses it elicited signaled a transition in the longstanding debate about literature and knowledge as an inaugural round in the persisting conflict between the empirical sciences and the literary humanities

Fear of Fiction David Neal Miller,2012-02-01 David Neal Miller s Fear of Fiction is the first book length study that begins with the understanding that Singer is truly a Yiddish writer in language and culture With the exception of a handful of articles American critical examination of Isaac Bashevis Singer s work has been devoted to Singer s work in English to those pieces he himself has selected for translation This American Nobel laureate is part of a long tradition of Yiddish literature and he still writes in that language Working exclusively with Singer s Yiddish texts many of the pieces discussed here are not available in English Miller examines Singer s narrative strategies his blurring of the distinctions between fiction and reportage Fear of Fiction captures an intriguing paradox of Singer s writing Singer fictionalizes the factual and historicizes the imaginative Miller demonstrates that Singer is no inspired innocent but that this blending of genres is the work of a craftsman who uses genre to mediate between the world and the imagination The book is enriched by Miller s careful and sensitive translations of many illustrative Yiddish passages Fear of Fiction is both erudite and entertaining Miller not only examines Singer s skillful undermining of our expectations of different genres but also draws the reader into Singer s work as a whole This book will fascinate both the scholar and the sophisticated reader of Singer

The Passionate Fictions of Eliza Haywood Kirsten T. Saxton, Rebecca P. Bocchicchio, 2014-07-11 The most prolific woman writer of the eighteenth century Eliza Haywood 1693 1756 was a key player in the history of the English novel Along with her contemporary Defoe she did more than any other writer to create a market for fiction prior to the emergence of Richardson Fielding and Smollett Also one of Augustan England's most popular authors Haywood came to fame in 1719 with the publication of her first novel Love in Excess In addition to writing fiction she was a playwright translator bookseller actress theater critic and editor of The Female Spectator the first English periodical written by women for women Though tremendously popular her novels and plays from the 1720s and 30s scandalized the reading public with explicit portrayals of female sexuality and led others to call her the Great Arbitress of Passion Essays in this collection explore themes such as the connections between Haywood's early and late work her experiments with the form of the novel her involvement in party politics her use of myth and plot devices and her intense interest in the imbalance of power between men and women Distinguished scholars such as Paula Backschieder Felicity Nussbaum and John Richetti approach Haywood from a number of theoretical and topical positions leading the way in a crucial reexamination of her work The Passionate Fictions of Eliza Haywood examines the formal and ideological complexities of her prose and demonstrates how Haywood's texts deft traditional schematization Complicit Fictions James A. Fujii, 2023-09-01 In Complicit Fictions James Fujii challenges traditional approaches to the study of Japanese narratives and Japanese culture in general He employs current Western literary critical theory to reveal the social and political contest inherent in modern Japanese literature and also confronts recent breakthroughs in literary studies coming out of Japan The result is a major work that explicitly questions the eurocentric dimensions of our conception of modernity Modern Japanese literature has long been judged by Western and Japanese critics alike according to its ability to measure up to Western realist standards standards that assume the centrality of an essential self or subject Consequently it has been made to appear deficient derivative or exotically different Fujii challenges this prevailing characterization by reconsidering the very notion of the subject He focuses on such disparate twentieth century writers as Natsume Soseki Tokuda Shusei Shimazaki Toson and Origuchi Shinobu and particularly on their divergent strategies to affirm subjecthood in narrative form The author probes what has been ignored or suppressed in earlier studies the contestation that inevitably marks the creation of subjects in a modern nation state He demonstrates that as writers negotiate the social imperatives of national interests which always attempt to dictate the limits of subjecthood they are ultimately unable to avoid complicity with the aims of the state Fujii confronts several historical issues in ways that will enlighten historians as well as literary critics. He engages theory to highlight what prevailing criticism typically ignores the effects of urbanization on Japanese family life the relation of literature to an emerging empire and to popular culture the representations of gender family and sexuality in Meiji society Most important is his exposure of the relationship between state formation and cultural production His skillful weaving of literary theory textual interpretation and cultural history makes this a book that students and scholars of modern Japanese culture will refer to for years to come In Complicit Fictions James Fujii challenges traditional approaches to the study of Japanese narratives and Japanese culture in general He employs current Western literary critical theory to reveal the social and political contest inherent in mod
