White House Kids Joe Rhatigan, 2015-10-13 Living in America's most famous residence might seem glamorous at first it is the most fun place any kid could live There is a bowling alley in the basement chefs are always available to prepare whatever you're craving and sometimes presidential aides will even help you with your homework But life isn't always easy for the youngsters who call the White House home They're always in the spotlight and those pesky Secret Service agents are always around For every perk there is a problem From Washington to Obama see the White House through the eyes of the children and grandchildren Filled with wacky weird and wonderful stories it shows what it's like to call the president Dad or Granddad or Uncle Find out what schools they went to what mischief they caused and what pets they had There are first person accounts from letters and interviews fascinating photos original illustrations and even a section that follows the children after they left the White House

Pouring In Kim Kurtz, 2018-03-13 The world had changed Families had changed Values had changed The meaning of religion had changed After author Kim Kurtz graduated from high school twenty five years ago the world was not what she expected The moral landscape of college and life thereafter was hostile and foreign She struggled when the faith of her childhood didn't translate smoothly into adulthood She was disillusioned when the formulas of faith and church that she had always known no longer worked The messiness of life the difficulty of marriage and relationships and the many ups and downs she experienced were overwhelming Her faith couldn't handle it and she walked away According to research Kim wasn't alone 75% of young people raised in a Christian home leave the church after they leave the home Numerous studies show that Christian families are losing their kids and have been for decades A majority of church youth aren't developing a personal powerful and passionate faith in Jesus Christ And a passive faith quickly fades to no faith at all We can no longer afford as Christian parents as the church or as a nation to ignore this problem Pouring In addresses the profoundly difficult task of passing on a lasting faith to future generations Effectively passing on the baton of faith allows our kids to experience the love peace and hope that can only come from a genuine relationship with Jesus Christ Make no mistake YOU have the power to greatly affect the trajectory of your child's faith
