Electronic Evidence Strategies For Managing Records In Contemporary Organizations:

Electronic Evidence David Bearman, 1994 Effective Approaches for Managing Electronic Records and Archives Bruce William Dearstyne, 2006 This is a book of fresh insights perspectives strategies and approaches for managing electronic records and for addressing the implications for archival programs operating in a digital environment The authors draw on first hand experience to present practical solutions including recommendations for building and sustaining strong electronic records programs The book addresses several themes Historical development of digital technologies and their impact on records creation and recordkeeping practices Definition and concept of electronic record Institutional and legal contexts for development of electronic records policies Roles for archival and records management programs in broader digital initiatives of their parent institutions Moving from theory to practice Strategies for developing and sustaining successful programs including leadership approaches partnering with records creators fostering development of new knowledge skills and abilities for information professionals and adapting and customizing programs The Nordic Model of Digital Archiving Greg Bak, Marianne Rostgaard, 2023-11-23 The Nordic Model of Digital Archiving explores the roots and strengths of Nordic digital archiving and proposes new directions to guide digital archivists in addressing the challenges posed by ever changing digital technologies and the datafication of information and records Digitization and born digital records promise efficient and cost effective solutions to everything from preservation of data to easy user access However digitization also poses challenges for archival practitioners worldwide Bringing together contributions from practitioners and academics to offer a range of international case studies this book offers practical solutions for archivists in terms of governance technologies and processes It highlights and analyses the cornerstones of the Nordic model of archiving reliance on standards powerful regulatory instruments especially in public sector archiving including legislation and collaboration between archivists and government agencies and among different tiers of central and local government While showcasing work in the Nordic region for the benefit of archivists and record keepers globally this volume also challenges the limits of the Nordic model with insights drawn from international archival theory The Nordic Model of Digital Archiving offers a new perspective on archiving that will be of interest to academics researchers and postgraduate students of archiving digital archives and records management Managing Records Elizabeth Shepherd, Geoffrey Yeo, 2003 Many organizations do not yet have a formal programme of records management but increasingly they are recognizing the benefits of well managed records and the serious consequences of inadequate records systems Establishing records management and maintaining an effective programme requires specialist expertise This essential manual of practice provides a detailed guide to the concepts skills and techniques of records management for organizational staff who have a responsibility for setting up maintaining or restructuring a records management programme It offers invaluable advice on the management of records in both electronic and traditional paper media and focuses on the following areas understanding records management analysing the context for records management classifying records and documenting their context creating and capturing records managing appraisal retention and disposition maintaining records and assuring their integrity providing access implementing records management The appendices provide a wealth of additional information including a list of standards for records management an annotated bibliography and sources of further information and details of professional and advisory bodies Readership This much needed manual is an indispensable purchase for organizations wishing to introduce better practices for managing their records The book is intended to be of value to experienced records managers as well as LIS practitioners and newcomers to the field It should be on the desk of every manager and every information professional with responsibility for records management

Managing Historical Records Programs Bruce W. Dearstyne, 2000-09-20 Historical records are a focus and collecting area for many historical societies history museums and other historical agencies Yet many historical records programs face special challenges and needs from inadequate resource levels physical preservation problems under developed documentation appraisal and collecting policies etc In Managing Historical Records Dearstyne's goal is to foster stronger more vibrant historical records programs by introducing archival work and describing strategies approaches principles and practices of strong programs Lots of examples checklists and appendices help in finding solutions and approaches A must have resource for anyone considering starting a historical records program or who already has one and wants to strengthen it

Reference Services for Archives and Manuscripts Laura B Cohen, 2012-11-12 Like their librarian colleagues reference archivists mediate between the user and the source material However given the nature of archival materials and of their holding repositories unique issues arise While such matters as provenance and original order and access and security continue to be vital underpinnings of their work a myriad of other issues comes into play as reference archivists attempt to balance the competing demands of donors researchers the public and the press From the creation and dissemination of finding aids for electronic resources to the implementation of marketing strategies to increase support and strengthen service Reference Services for Archives and Manuscripts shows you how to thrive in the changing world of archival reference Intended to foster an appreciation of the issues both within and beyond the field of archives Reference Services for Archives and Manuscripts reveals that today's archivist is straddling the world of the traditional with the world of the new The book establishes its value as it guides you through new concerns such as how to take advantage of technological developments in appraisal accession and preservation address copyright privacy and funding issues for electronic resources mount archival cataloging records on local and wide area databases create a publicly available site on the Internet improve in house access tools professional abilities and the caliber of public service address security issues and respond to theft Reference Services for Archives and Manuscripts also helps you by preparing you for changes in the relationship between archivist and researcher that will inevitably occur with further changes in technology Other vital issues discussed are improved access for unserved and underserved groups a revision in ethical codes and the ability of archivists to become more customer centered Records Classification: Concepts, Principles and Methods Umi Asma' Mokhtar, Zawiyah Mohammad Yusof, 2017-05-19 Records Classification Concepts Principles and Methods Information Systems Context introduces classification an early part of the research lifecycle Classification ensures systematic organization of documents and facilitates information retrieval However classification systems are not prevalent in records management when compared to their use in other information fields This book views classification from the records management RM perspective by adopting a qualitative approach with case studies to gather data by means of interview and document content analysis Current development of information systems do not take into account the concept of classification from a RM perspective Such a model is required because the incorporation of information and communication technology ICT in managing records is inevitable The concept of classification from an RM perspective ought to be extended to the ICT team to enable the development of a RM system not limited to storage and retrieval functions but also with relation to disposal and preservation processes This proposed model introduces function based classification to ensure records are classified in context Gives a step by step functional model for constructing a classification system within an organization Advocates for the importance of practicing classification for records towards competent transparent and democratic organizations Helps organizations build their own classification system thus safeguarding information in a secure and systematic fashion Provides local case studies from Malaysia and puts together a generic globally applicable model Using Functional Analysis in Archival Appraisal Marcus C. Robyns, 2014-07-02 The identification of recorded information with continuing value that documents corporate and cultural memory is one of the archivist s primary tasks and he she accomplishes this mission in part through the process of appraisal But does traditional archival appraisal based on the concepts of primary and evidential values effectively serve the needs of institutional archivists and records managers In an age of scarcity and the challenge of electronic records can archivists and records managers continue to rely upon a methodology essentially unchanged since the early 1950s Using Functional Analysis in Archival Appraisal A Practical and Effective Alternative to Traditional Appraisal Methodologies shows how archivists in other countries are already using functional analysis which offers a better more effective and imminently more practical alternative to traditional appraisal methodologies that rely upon an analysis of the records themselves From this book information professionals will learn what functional analysis is and how it is already used around the world its useful application for a variety of record types and media including print non textual electronic and born digital records how functional analysis provides an alternative to a hierarchical arrangement scheme based upon record groups sub groups and series that mimics the structure of an institution or organization a recommended process for the practical and effective implementation of functional analysis Recordkeeping, Ethics and Law Livia Iacovino, 2006-07-20 Distributed networks such as the Internet have altered the fundamental way a record is created captured accessed and managed over time and therefore who controls has access to and is responsible for its authenticity Law and ethics provide the major sources of regulatory controls over participants in such networks This book analyses the interrelationship of recordkeeping ethics and law in terms of existing regulatory models and their application to the Internet environment It proposes the legal and social relationship model as an analytical tool for identifying the rights and obligations of recordkeeping participants in networked business transactions within communities of common interest based on trust The model is also used to examine the legal concepts of property access privacy and evidence with particular reference to its Internet context As legal relationships have their basis in the law of obligations found in both common and civil law systems as well as archival science the model has a broad based application The approach in this book has been to reconcile a number of archival traditions the common strands rather than the differences in particular concepts of identity trust acts actors and social relationships as fundamental concepts to social regulation It is therefore primarily directed to archives and records academics and practitioners especially those working within the realm of electronic records in order to provide them with a sound theoretical and practical knowledge of the legal and ethical dimensions of records created in distributed environments

Enterprise Content Management, Records Management and Information Culture Amidst E-Government Development Proscovia Svärd, 2017-04-13 This book identifies key factors necessary for a well functioning information infrastructure and explores how information culture impacts the management of public information stressing the need for a proactive and holistic information management approach amidst e Government development In an effort to deal with an organization s scattered information resources Enterprise Content Management Records Management and Information Culture Amidst E Government Development investigates the key differences between Enterprise Content Management ECM and Records Management RM the impact of e Government development on information management and the role of information in enhancing accountability and transparency of government institutions The book hence identifies factors that contribute to a well functioning information infrastructure and further explores how information culture impacts the management of public information It highlights the Records Continuum Model RCM thinking as a more progressive way of managing digital information in an era of pluralization of government information It also emphasizes the need for information records management skills amidst e Government development Ideas about records information and content management have fundamentally changed and developed because of increasing digitalization Though not fully harmonized these new ideas commonly stress and underpin the need for a proactive and holistic information management approach The proactive approach entails planning for the management of the entire information continuum before the information is created For private enterprises and government institutions endeavoring to meet new information demands from customers citizens and the society at large such an approach is a prerequisite for accomplishing their missions It could be argued that information is and has always been essential to all human activities and we are witnessing a transformation of the information landscape Presents research with broad application based on archives and information science but relevant for information systems records management information culture and e government Examines the differences between Enterprise Content Management and Records Management Bridges a gap between the proponents of Enterprise Content Management and information professionals such as records managers and archivists Centres and Peripheries in Banking Even Lange,Ulf Olsson,Iain L. Fraser,2016-12-05 This volume presents a broad investigation into the relationship between the centre and the periphery in banking Focusing on the historical development of financial markets from their emergence in the early modern period to today s global financial and capital markets the chapters investigate how local national and international relationships have affected and helped shape the banking industry over three hundred years This wide ranging discussion in time and place is provided by a group of international experts encompassing bankers economists economic historians and historians and will be of interest to all those with a scholarly or professional interest in the development of financial institutions Handbook of Research on Heritage Management and Preservation Ngulube, Patrick,2018-02-02 Archives museums and libraries are pivotal to the management and preservation of any society s heritage Heritage assets should be systematically managed by putting in place proper policies maintenance procedures security and risks measures and retrieval and preservation plans The Handbook of Research on Heritage Management and Preservation is a critical scholarly resource that examines different aspects of heritage management and preservation ranging from theories that underline the field areas of convergence and divergence in the field infrastructure and the policy framework that governs the field and the influence of the changing landscape on practice Featuring coverage on a broad range of topics such as community involvement records legislation and collection development this book is geared towards academicians researchers and students seeking current research on heritage management and preservation Encyclopedia of Library and Information Science Allen Kent,2002-03-26 This supplement examines achieving synergy between computer power and human reason to the unified medical language system UMLS History and Electronic Artefacts Edward Higgs,1998 We are now entering a world of electronic communications where an increasing amount of contemporary information is created and retained only in electronic form How will such unstable flows of information be preserved for future historians Will the future have a past Will the history of our contemporary world be lost to our descendants History and Electronic Artefacts is the first publication to examine the implications of this revolution for historical research Historians are used to handling paper and parchment record in archives These are actual pieces of correspondence which passed between historical actors They are also relatively stable artefacts which can be preserved easily Two factors introduced by the electronic revolution threaten the existence of paper archives the dissociation between information content and the media by which it is transmitted ruptures the solidity of the archival object The ability to store electronic information anywhere and access it remotely via networks could make the central paper archive redundant Experts from the fields of information management and technology data archiving library science as well as historians consider the issues raised in depth The authors also place a unique emphasis on European developments The Contemporary History Handbook Brian Brivati, Julia Buxton, Anthony Seldon, 1996 This guide should be useful to those studying and researching modern history International and up to date it covers sources and controversies in the subject area and includes a section of useful addresses The volume is divided into three main sections which together comprise a reference work for contemporary historians A Subject Index to Current Literature Australian Public Affairs Information Service, Development of Digital Libraries Deanna B.
