Remote Online Language Assessment: Eliciting Discourse from Children and Adults Natalia Gagarina,Angel Chan,Wenchun Yang,2024-08-20 Being able to collect valid data is crucial for empirical science disciplines such as linguistics developmental psycholinguistics clinical psycholinguistics and speech and hearing sciences In recent years there has been an increasing use of digital devices for remote language assessments such as online elicitation of language samples apps for eliciting expressive and productive lexical abilities and online questionnaires With the ongoing COVID 19 pandemic still affecting many lives globally there have been numerous disruptions of face to face in person language assessments leading many researchers to conduct their language assessments online Despite the necessity of remote language assessments and the convenience they may bring to both assessors and assessees the potential merits limits and problems of remote testing have not yet been systematically explored and understood This timely Research Topic seeks contributions that mobilize new evidence and or insightful and nuanced discussions to address questions such as can we control online testing so that it is as good as face to face in person testing and if so how Do we have evaluative evidence of such practices and if so how robust is the evidence What adaptations and concerns can and cannot be accommodated at the present time What opportunities are offered by recent technological advances Are there certain conditions in which online testing works better or worse Last but not least how do differences between offline in person language assessments and online remote assessments affect the results of testing The current topic has two main foci the first deals with the assessment of conversational discourse in general and narrative discourse in particular in both children and young adults Communicative competence at the discourse level has been considered an essential and ecologically valid component in language assessments of children and adults for three key reasons 1 this competence is crucial for an individual s everyday functioning and academic and social life 2 it provides information about an individual s socio cognitive and linguistic abilities and 3 it is a versatile test of language skills at the levels of content form use and their integration The second focus is on comparing the results elicited via in person assessments and remote online assessments This Research Topic welcomes empirical articles discussing new evidence perspective and opinion papers on issues at the conceptual methodological interface and methods articles presenting approaches that can offer opportunities for remote testing of developmental discourse supported by recent technological advances Potential themes may include but are not limited to comparisons of remote versus in person testing modes using a within participants research design learner variables such as age gender language status monolingual multilingual and clinical status typically developing children and adults children and adults with clinical conditions such as developmental language disorder autism spectrum disorder which may affect the efficacy of remote testing linguistic variables such as the use of referential and relational devices and mental state language which may be subject to more variations when being assessed remotely new methods that offer opportunities for the remote testing of developmental and adult discourse supported by recent technological advances articles addressing the same research question within developmental narrative discourse but using different i e either online or offline research methods

SENDCO: Questions and answers for the busy SENDCO Gary Aubin, 2022-01-07 The SENDCO role can feel quite isolating SENDCOs know more than anyone in their setting about SEND so who do they go to when they need support Especially when new to the role who do you turn to when tackling a problem or looking for inspiration The Lone SENDCO answers over 300 questions that SENDCOs grapple with whether experienced or new How should outcomes be worded Do I get longer to respond if I receive a consultation in the holidays How shall I structure my inclusion department How do I assess SEND for a child with EAL How should I be working with my school's Careers Officer How do I motivate disengaged learners What do Ofsted look for in an inspection Split helpfully into easily workable sections this reference book can be picked up and dipped into whatever the priority Whether it's organising an annual review for the first time taking your partnership with parents to the next level or linking your work in SEND to cognitive science The Lone SENDCO tackles the questions you have and the answers you need Sections include EHCPs and annual reviews working with parents carers statutory compliance and legislation strategic thinking as a SENDCO identification and assessment of SEND supporting transition for pupils working with pupils Ofsted developing my knowledge as a SENDCO funding for SEND teaching and learning exam access arrangements understanding data tracking progress managing a SEND register understanding the SENDCO role challenging decisions around placement and provision CPD as a SENDCO SEND as a whole school issue working with TAs working with external partners provision mapping interventions troubleshooting and a guide to types of need Local Economic and Employment Development (LEED) From Immigration to Integration Local Solutions to a Global Challenge OECD, 2006-11-13 This publication highlights principles and factors which are important in supporting integration locally It includes a comparison of local initiatives implemented in five OECD countries Project-Based Learning Applied to the Language Classroom Juliana Franco Tavares/ Louise Emma Potter, 2018-03-05 In Project Based Learning Applied to the Language Classroom the authors propose a way to develop PBL in the language classrooms taking into account all of the obstacles and specifics involved in teaching a foreign language It is about teaching English as a second or foreign language using Project Based Learning PBL We approach this combination because many people seem to think about implementing PBL in their language classes and ask questions about how to do it but feel that there aren't enough materials based on this methodology In fact most researchers and writers we have come across discuss the applications of PBL in the students mother tongue to subjects such as Math History Literature Social Studies and Science However there are few published works about the specifics of PBL in foreign language classes Besides it seems obvious to us that the main difficulty in developing projects in a second or foreign language lies exactly on the fact that communication may be hindered when students do not have enough knowledge in the target language The Strategy Factor in Successful Language Learning Carol Griffiths, 2018-03-28 This book addresses fundamental questions regarding the relationships between successful language learning and strategy use and development according to learner situational or target variables It considers strategy effectiveness from an individual point of view and discusses pedagogical issues especially relating to teacher perceptions and training classroom and learner factors methodology and content This new edition has been reworked and revised to include an extensive review analysis and re interpretation of the existing literature and an update on the theoretical debate surrounding language learning strategies The research methodology section has been considerably extended and detailed explanations are now given for how to analyse data from research studies Rather than focusing on strategies divorced from the real world of the classroom this book explores the issues from the teaching learning point of view and will be of interest to students teachers trainee teachers teacher educators and researchers alike
