Pseudepigraphy and Ethical Argument in the Pastoral Epistles Lewis R. Donelson, 2015-09-29 By employing analyses of the literary structure of ancient pseudepigraphical letters and of the logical structure of ethical argument this study discovers in the Pastoral Epistles a consistent theological ethic that has cosmological and cultic grounding First an investigation of Greco Roman religious pseudepigraphical letters identifies those literary patterns that determine the form of argumentation in the Pastoral Epistles Second an investigation of the structure of ethical argument produces categories for organizing and analyzing the apparently disorganized arguments in these letters Finally this study concludes that the author of the Pastoral Epistles builds a coherent theological ethic by falsifying Pauline history and by grounding his ethical warrants in church officers

Ethics and International Relations Joel H. Rosenthal, 2017-03-02 This volume offers a new dimension to realist theories about world politics It questions both the theoretical and empirical foundations of much of traditional realist thought by offering realist oriented analyses that emphasize the possibilities of cooperation and accommodation through agreement over common motivations and concerns The articles in this volume demonstrate that moral considerations can and do play a significant role in shaping state behavior and that despair about the possibility of improving the systems and institutions within which we live is unwarranted Specific points of normative convergence are raised in some detail especially on issues of war membership and authority humanitarian concern and the social consequences of globalization Three ethical concepts form the core of the realism reconsidered argued for here namely the ideas of pluralism rights and fairness will find information that can help them better understand from where we are coming and inspire them to make choices and take actions in a longer term perspective The general public will find food for thoughts      Ontological Fundamentals for Ethical Management Dominik Heil, 2011-07-06 The book develops a philosophical foundation to the field of management education using the work of Martin Heidegger as a guiding philosophy It asks the questions what is a corporation and what is corporate management These two questions are foundational for management thought in general and management ethics in particular Most other academic fields are in some way defined and guided by a philosophical discourse This philosophical discourse is largely missing in the field of management thought and education Without this foundation it can never be clear what actually belongs into a certain academic discipline and what does not It also therefore lacks a sound and well articulated ontological foundation critical for developing approaches to ethical management This book seeks to fill this gap and consequently represents an interdisciplinary effort between the academic field of management business administration and philosophy which is vital for business ethics Intended as required reading for an elective on philosophy of management that is offered annually at the Wits Business School University of the Witwatersrand Johannesburg The structure of the course will be largely based on the structure of the book      Emerson's Complete Works Ralph Waldo Emerson, 1904

demands and thus reduce tensions within the academic system This book will appeal to scholars and students working at the intersection of law and science as well as policymakers and STEM scientists concerned with issues of academic freedom

Cumulated Index Medicus ,1989      Compassion: From Neuroscience to New Horizons and Innovative, Inclusive Research Agendas Kathryn Waddington, Julian Manley, Trudi Edginton, Jason Kanov, 2024-01-11 The nature and science of compassion encompasses many aspects of human behavior social and organizational experience with resultant debate about its definition meaning and application Research theorizing and scholarship is spread across a wide range of methodological disciplinary historical and cultural perspectives including psychology sociology psychosocial studies organizational science inter national politics and evolutionary studies Global concerns relating to the climate crisis COVID 19 pandemic and mass movements of displaced people all point to an urgent need for compassion in all human interactions New and innovative interdisciplinary approaches agendas and paradigms are needed to both compliment and critique existing understandings of the meaning and applications of compassion in all its diverse and complex forms In a world where there appears to be increasing demand for simplification and quantification from governments and policy makers questions must be asked about what this means for psychology and social science research The tendency towards post positivist reductionism has led to critiques that universities have become factories that produce sterile derivative unimaginative writing 21st century universities have been described as anxiety machines lacking in compassion and creating more competition and stress than knowledge Arguably research into compassion should take place in compassionate disciplinary and institutional cultures We all have a role to play in addressing the lack of compassion in universities which will involve an institutional level shift from individual level competition to group level collaboration Importantly recent advances in compassion research promise gains in understanding in both the science and neuroscience of human experience and in applications of that work to improve humankind and the world around us Qualitative research in psychology and psychosocial approaches although becoming more visible still remain a minority endeavor within the discipline This Research Topic offers the opportunity to foreground the values and virtues of qualitative psychology alongside more tried and tested approaches      Understanding Leadership and Organizational Psychology in Higher Education Institutions Ahsan Akbar, Petra Poulova, Hana Mohelska, Minhas Akbar, 2023-06-05
