Ethics Of The Body Postconventional Ch:

Ethics of the Body Margrit Shildrick, Roxanne Mykitiuk, 2005 Essays approach bioethics from postmodernist feminist theoretical perspectives opening it to critiques that question the traditional normative framework Critical Interventions in the Ethics of Healthcare Dave Holmes, 2016-04-22 Critical Interventions in the Ethics of Healthcare argues that traditional modes of bioethics are proving incommensurable with burgeoning biotechnologies and consequently emerging subjectivities Drawn from diverse disciplines this volume works toward a new mode of discourse in bioethics offering a critique of the current norms and constraints under which Western healthcare operates The contributions imagine new less paternalistic terms by which bioethics might proceed terms that do not resort to exclusively Western models of liberal humanism or to the logic of neoliberal economies It is argued that in this way we can begin to develop an ethical vocabulary that does justice to the challenges of our age Bringing together theorists practitioners and clinicians to present a wide variety of related disciplinary concerns and perspectives on bioethics this volume challenges the underlying assumptions that continue to hold sway in the ethics of medicine and health sciences A Companion to the Anthropology of the Body and Embodiment Frances E. Mascia-Lees, 2011-03-29 A Companion to the Anthropology of the Body and Embodiment offers original essays that examine historical and contemporary approaches to conceptualizations of the body In this ground breaking work on the body and embodiment the latest scholarship from anthropology and related social science fields is presented providing new insights on body politics and the experience of the body Original chapters cover historical and contemporary approaches and highlight new research frameworks Reflects the increasing importance of embodiment and its ethnographic contexts within anthropology Highlights the increasing emphasis on examining the production of scientific technological and medical expertise in studying bodies and embodiment Handbook of Research on Technoethics Luppicini, Rocci, Adell, Rebecca, 2008-08-31 This book traces the emergence of the new interdisciplinary field of technoethics by exploring its conceptual development important issues and key areas of current research Compiling 50 authoritative articles from leading researchers on the ethical dimensions of new technologies Provided by publisher The ^AOxford Handbook of Feminist Philosophy Ásta, Kim Q. Hall, 2021-05-07 This Handbook offers an overview of the contemporary state of the field in feminist philosophy The editors introduction and forty five essays cover feminist critical engagements with and contributions to philosophy and other scholarly fields as well as feminist approaches to some of the current and crucial issues known across the world The volume provides a rigorous but accessible resource for students and scholars interested in diverse approaches within feminist philosophy and how feminist philosophers situate their work within the philosophical mainstream and other disciplines Feminist Ethics and Social and Political Philosophy: Theorizing the Non-Ideal Lisa Tessman, 2009-07-30 Feminist Ethics and Social and Political Philosophy Theorizing the Non Ideal is a collection of feminist essays that self consciously develop non idealizing approaches to either ethics or social and political philosophy or both

Characterizing feminist ethics and social and political philosophy as marked by a tendency to be non idealizing serves to thematize the volume while still allowing the essays to be diverse enough to constitute a representation of current work in the fields of feminist ethics and social and political philosophy Each of the essays either serves as an instance of work that is rooted in actual non ideal conditions and that as such is able to consider any of the many questions relevant to subordinated people or reflects theoretically on the significance of non idealizing as an approach to feminist ethics or social and political philosophy The volume will be of interest to feminist scholars from all disciplines to academics who are ethicists and political philosophers as well as to graduate students

health Inclusive Communities Andrew Azzopardi, Shaun Grech, 2012-09-11 The term Inclusive Communities has increasingly featured in recent years at policy practice and theoretical levels drawing from different disciplinary standpoints Much of this has been spurred by efforts at understanding the exclusions confronted by certain populations to develop the notion of and mechanisms by which communities can include those who are marginalised and or oppressed and in some contexts to bring back community as something real or imagined In spite of this this deceptive term remains shrouded in epistemological darkness conveniently endorsed but often little theorised and less understood This text provides an exciting introductory textbook drawing academics policy makers and activists from various fields to theorise create new and innovative conceptual platforms and develop further the hybrid idea of inclusive communities Health and Human Rights Thérèse Murphy, 2014-07-18 This book aims to bolster the burgeoning discourse of health and human rights In so doing it charts the history of the linkage between health and human rights It also pinpoints the sense of imperative that surrounds this relationship More importantly the book identifies a series of threats and challenges facing attempts to link health and human rights and proposes how these might be addressed Amongst other things it asks is conflict between risk and rights inevitable in the context of infectious disease control Is reproductive choice a bad argument in the context of reproductive technologies Is it sensible for human rights to make use of measurement tools such as indicators Is the cost of human rights an argument that can and should be used by proponents of human rights The answers it gives to these questions are original and engaging and will be of great interest to a diverse audience including scholars and policy makers in these areas Care in Practice Annemarie Mol, Ingunn Moser, Jeannette Pols, 2015-02-15 In what way is care a matter of tinkering Rather than presenting care as a preferably warm relation between human beings the various contributions to the volume give the material world usually cast as cold a prominent place in their analysis Thus this book does not continue to oppose care and technology but contributes to rethinking both in such a way that they can be analysed together Technology is not cast as a functional tool easy to control it is shifting changing surprising and adaptable In care practices all things are and have to be tinkered with persistently Knowledge is fluid too Rather than a set of general rules the knowledges in the plural relevant to care practices are as adaptable and in need of adaptation as the technologies the bodies the people and the daily lives involved Treatments Lisa Diedrich, Creative expression inspired by disease has been criticized as a celebration of victimhood unmediated personal experience or just simply bad art Despite debate however memoirs written about illness particularly AIDS or cancer have proliferated since the late twentieth century and occupy a highly influential place on the cultural landscape today In Treatments Lisa Diedrich considers illness narratives demonstrating that these texts not only recount and interpret symptoms but also describe illness as an event that reflects wider cultural contexts including race gender class and sexuality Diedrich begins this theoretically rigorous analysis by offering examples of midcentury memoirs of tuberculosis She then looks at Susan Sontag's Illness As Metaphor Audre Lorde's The Cancer Journals and Eve

Kosofsky Sedgwick's White Glasses showing how these breast cancer survivors draw on feminist health practices of the 1970s and also anticipate the figure that would appear in the wake of the AIDS crisis in the 1980s the politicized patient She further reveals how narratives written by doctors Abraham Verghese and Rafael Campo about treating people with AIDS can disrupt the doctor patient hierarchy and she explores practices of witnessing that emerge in writing by Paul Monette and John Bayley Through these records of intensely personal yet universal experience Diedrich demonstrates how language both captures and fails to capture these scenes of loss and how illness narratives affect the literary medical and cultural contexts from which they arise Finally by examining the ways in which the sick speak and are spoken for she argues for an ethics of failure the revaluation of loss as creating new possibilities for how we live and die Lisa Diedrich is assistant professor of women's studies at Stony Brook University
