Ethnicity Class Gender And Migration Greekcypriots In Britain Research In Ethnic Relations Series:

Ethnicity, Class, Gender and Migration Floya Anthias, 2022-08-12 Originally published in 1992 this book places Cypriot migration to Britain within the context of New Commonwealth migration as a whole and within developments in the field of racial and ethnic relations It provides an account of the economic and social position of Cypriots in British society paying particular attention to a number of central theoretical and political debates relating to class ethnicity racism and gender The book argues that migrant groups have to be understood in terms of the interaction between the internal cultural and social differentiations within the group and the wider structural institutional and ideological processes of the country of migration Gender divisions and the family are seen as central in understanding the forms of settlement and the economic and social placement of a migrant group Sociological Abstracts, 1995 From Immigrants to Ethnic Minority Lorna Chessum, 2017-07-05 While there is an extensive sociological literature concerning race relations racial discrimination and the process of migration this has tended to focus on snapshots at a given moment in time There are few historical accounts of the development of black communities in Britain This book will be the first social history of a black community in modern times which attempts to weave many aspects of life together to give a more comprehensive understanding of the lives of black people in Britain The book will address the way peoples lives are constructed through racialized identities and how African Caribbean people in Leicester relate to the wider community It provides an important contribution to the debate concerning the social class profile of different ethnic groups The work is gendered throughout and discusses the different nature of the experiences of men and women The 1991 census shows Leicester to have the highest proportion of ethnic minority residents of any city outside London however compared to other cities with black and Asian communities it has received little attention from academics The present study charts the development of Leicester s African Caribbean community from its origins in the Second World War to 1981 and its changing construction from immigrants to ethnic minority Negotiating Boundaries in the City Joanna Herbert, 2008 Using life story interviews and oral history archives this book provides a radically different story about multicultural Britain It explores the impact of South Asian migration from the 1950s onwards on the local white population and on the migrants themselves Offering rich data lacking in existing theoretical accounts it offers valuable insights into the nature of white ethnicity inter ethnic relations and the gendered nature of experiences Ethnicity and Education in England and Europe Dr Ian Law, Dr Sarah Swann, 2013-01-28 Ethnicity and Education in England and Europe examines where when and how minority ethnic groups miss out on educational opportunities Through a combination of comparative quantitative and qualitative methodologies and the showcasing of new research it provides a fresh approach to examining the long standing debates over ethnicity and in particular ethnic differences in educational achievement Drawing on extensive empirical research in England as well as information gathered as part of a major international programme of research under the auspices of the European Union EDUMIGROM this book both synthesises the findings of the English team and puts these findings in context through comparison with the analytical material generated in a range of other European countries With a key focus on the educational experiences and outcomes of the Roma in Central and Eastern Europe as compared with the experiences of minority ethnic groups in Western Europe this volume provides a contemporary assessment of ethnic relations across a selected range of European countries Presenting comparative cross national analyses of ethnic inequalities and policy interventions Ethnicity and Education in England and Europe makes a significant contribution to debates in the fields of migration ethnicity and education and will be of interest to both scholars and policy makers concerned with questions of race and educational outcome Migration and Race Relations in an English City Anthony H. Richmond, Michael Lyon, 1973 Study of race relations and the social integration of immigrants in the UK based on an interview survey conducted in 1965 in a low income neighbourhood of Bristol examines the situation of immigrants in respect of employment social mobility housing experience of racial discrimination social adjustment attitudes of the local level urban population towards migrant workers and immigration etc and includes the research methodology References and statistical tables Research in Migration and Ethnic Relations Series (STOM).
