

The EU's Aging Population

2021 vs. 2100

Dependency ratio 2021

Dependency ratio 2100

The dependency ratio is calculated as the ratio between the number of persons aged 65 and over (age when there are generally economically inactive) and the number of persons aged between 15 and 64. The value is expressed per 100 persons of working age (15–64).

Eucambis Immunology And Ageing In Europe:

EUCAMBIS Graham Pawelec, 2000 EUCAMBIS was established under BIOMED I in 1994 as an interdisciplinary consortium aiming to advance our understanding of the molecular and cellular bases of ageing of immunosenescence The project sought to draw together scientists and clinicians from diverse fields including immunology molecular biology cell and tumour biology geriatrics endocrinology and transplantation biology in order to investigate the impact of ageing on immune responses The papers collected in this volume illustrate the diversity of the work carried out by the members of EUCAMBIS during its three and a half year existence This introductory chapter attempts to summarize the results of some of the EUCAMBIS collaborations with emphasis on the workshop approach which was aimed at analysing the expression of growth arrest genes in ageing human T lymphocytes The European Union and Health Services Reinhard Busse, Matthias Wismar, Philip C. Berman, 2002 While most Member States Governments have assumed that they have full responsibility and control over their own health services it is becoming increasingly apparent that the Single European Market is having a substantial impact on health services Recent rulings by the European Court of Justice ECJ have in particular established the freedom of citizens to choose health care goods and services across borders To examine the actual relationship between the SEM and health services this book identifies SEM regulations and directives as well as ECJ decisions which explicitly refer to health services and which therefore have a potential impact on the purchasing supply and delivery of health services evaluates the impact of SEM regulations and ECJ decisions on the purchasing supply and delivery of health services identifies outcomes including both intended and unintended effects of the SEM on Member States health services and develops future scenarios exploring key issues identified in the earlier analysis and evaluation Family Care of Older People in Europe Ian Philp, 2001 Developing appropriate responses to an ageing population is recognized by policy makers throughout the developed world as a top priority as is the vital contribution made by family caregivers However cultural demographic and organizational differences between countries have encouraged diverse patterns of response to this common challenge This book provides a systematic cross cultural analysis of contemporary patterns and future trends in all major countries of the European Union Additional interest is provided by including Poland emerging from the post Communist block as the country at the forefront for joining the European Union The book should be useful to European policy makers and academics involved in studying the health and social care needs of older people and the capacity contribution and needs of family caregivers who provide care to older people The book is also relevant for policy makers and researchers in other countries mostly in North America and Australia who wish to study European approaches to supporting older people and family caregivers The Influence of Economic Evaluation Studies on Health Care Decision-making J. Matthias Schulenburg, 2000 Despite the growing activity in the field of health economics very little is known about the influence of economic evaluation studies on health care decision making in the EU member states Several investigations about the impact of health economic studies on decision making have been done but most of them did not involve decision makers themselves In this work the results of the EUROMET survey are reported and discussed To allow an international perspective different types of decision makers in nine European countries were surveyed Besides the extent of knowledge about economic evaluation the actual and potential use of study results as well as barriers and incentives for the use of economic evaluation studies had been investigated

Estrogens, Estrogen Receptor and Breast Cancer Fritz F. Parl,2000 Estrogens have been implicated to play a role in the development of breast cancer The purpose of this book is to provide a comprehensive analysis of experimental clinical and epidemiological evidence in support of the carcinogenicity of estrogens      Palliative Care in Europe H. ten Have,Rien Janssens,2001 This text is concerned with the organization ideas and problems of palliative care in the European context As a result of a BIOMED project various organizations concepts and problematic issues of palliative care have been studied and described      Prevention and Health Promotion for the Excluded and the Destitute in Europe Pierre Chauvin,2002 The social inequalities of health have persisted or even increased in Europe in the last few years This text presents the experiences of professionals from various institutional backgrounds in eight European countries as well as their recommendations to improve the access of excluded people      Quality of Orthodontic Care Bastiaan J. Njio,B. Prahl-Andersen,Gea ter Heege,2002 The objective of the EURO QUAL programme has been to improve the quality of care for the individual patient At the same time the need for harmonisation of health care in Europe was recognised This Quality Improvement System QIS for orthodontic care in Europe comprises of Guidelines for how to implement a QIS and reference material from the project teams Financial Resources Professional Development Consumer Satisfaction and Industrial Co operation In this respect the following topics are discussed The differences and similarities in local national quality initiatives The use of databases as a technique to improve quality by comparing one s own performance against that of colleagues The influence of the different national systems of funding on both the amount of care provided as well as the quality of care The contents and the quality of the educational programmes at all levels of orthodontic care Promotion of patients rights and responsibilities before during and after the orthodontic treatment A common goal and common language with the industrial partners by which the interaction can be optimised and communication will be enriched This book provides the background information for the appropriate use of the European Orthodontic Quality Manual EOQM Strategies for the implementation of a QIS in orthodontics taking into account the complex of the outlined aspects make this book interesting for the orthodontic professional as well as the stakeholders education funding industry and consumers in orthodontic care      Patient's Autonomy, Privacy and Informed Consent Helena Leino-Kilpi,2000 In this text an overview of the literature in patients autonomy privacy and informed consent has been made This is important for many groups and patients rights were emphasized during the 1990s in many countries The volume contains the laws and ethical codes referring to the topic

Molecular Pathogenesis of Pancreatic Cancer Thomas M. Gress,2000 This book was written to summarize the midterm meeting of the concerted action BMH4 CT98 3085 funded by the European Union in the context of the BIOMEDII programme The objective of this concerted action CA is to generate a European network allowing to share expertise technologies and resources to speed up the process of characterization of potential new disease genes in pancreatic cancer The meeting in Barcelona in November 1999 was hosted by the group at the IMIM led by F X Real and was scheduled to allow a midterm evaluation of the individual projects The Eurocleft Project 1996-2000 Bill Shaw,2000 The European Register of Cleft Lip and Palate Services will be produced as a result of the concerted action project Standards of Care for Cleft Lip and Palate in Europe EUROCLEFT funded by the European Commision under its BIOMED II and INCO COPERNICUS programmes The project aimed at developing a network of cleft care teams across Europe ran for three years between 1996 and 1999 and aimed broadly to improve the effectiveness and efficiency of care for European children with clefts of the lip and or palate Clefts of the lip and or palate are birth defects affecting 1 500 live births Successful rehabilitation requires a complex multidisciplinary mix of services

Basic Biology and Clinical Impact of Immunosenescence G. Pawelec,2003-05-01 Ageing is of perennial interest as a universal feature in all human societies The genetic background and biochemical bases of ageing processes are currently being revealed in unprecedented detail It is emerging that one of the main hurdles to be overcome in achieving a long and healthy lifespan is the maintenance of a properly functioning immune system The main cause of death in people who have achieved successful ageing which mostly means not having succumbed to cancer or cardiovascular disease is infectious disease caused by immunosenescence This book contains chapters by many of the leaders in the field of immune related issues in ageing and remediation Excitatory Amino Acids Lechoslaw Turski,D. D. Schoepp,Esper A. Cavalheiro,2001 This past decade has led to many significant advances in the understanding of the function of excitatory amino acids in synaptic transmission The cloning of the ionotropic and metabotropic glutamate receptor families of receptor proteins has produced new strategies for the pharmacological modulation of glutamate transmission The engineering of transgenic animals with modified expression of receptor proteins has created new insights into the function dysfunction and possible pathology causally related to glutamate receptors Advances in the pharmacology of glutamate receptors has led to clinical research addressing multiple therapeutic applications of drugs that act on excitatory amino acid systems A number of NMDA receptor anatagonists have now been studied in humans AMPA kainate and metabotropic receptor active compounds have left the preclinical realms of research and have moved towards or are in the clinic Frontiers in Whiplash Trauma Narayan Yoganandan, Frank A. Pintar,2000 One of the goals for the proposed book is to bring together leading experts in the world working in multidisciplinary areas including epidemiology biomechanics experimental and analytical research physical modeling and clinical aspects of whiplash injury The contributing authors have submitted chapters in their area of expertise 39 Chapters are included that cover the above aspects Contributions by the federal government industry health care professionals academic researchers and various experts from the United States and abroad are included     Handbook on Immunosenescence Tamas Fulop, Claudio Franceschi, Katsuki Hirokawa, Graham Pawelec, 2009-02-27 Immunosenescence is an imprecise term used to describe deleterious age associated changes to immune parameters observed in all mammals studied so far It represents a rapidly progressing science in the aging field with a vertiginous volume of new data knowledge and concepts concerning these changes We are poised to be in a position to translate these accumulated data into the clinical setting via better understanding of the contribution of immunosenescence to age associated pathologies and their prevention by appropriate interventions This authoritative handbook seeks to encompass the current state of our knowledge on the multitude of those changes to immunity related to aging with contributions from experts in the research and clinical areas This book therefore considers methods and models for studying immunosenescence cellular immunosenescence of T cells B cells neutrophils antigen presenting cells NK NKT and stem cells genetics mechanisms including receptors and signal transduction mitochondria proteasome cytokines neuro endocrine immune networks inflammation thymus clinical relevance in disease states including infections autoimmunity cancer metabolic syndrome neurodegenerative diseases frailty and osteoporosis modulation by nutrition lipids vaccination and the question can interventions to influence immunosenescence be realistically proposed based on our current state of knowledge

Musculoskeletal Disorders in Health-related Occupations Thomas Reilly, 2002 Annotation The Biomed IV project researched musculoskeletal disorders in health related occupations This work based on the project provides insight on the problems of musculoskeletal disorders and the means of their investigation After a presentation of background to the project methodologies and applications are described and a set of reviews is provided in particular for the research techniques used by the various investigators These include the application of precision stadiometry electromyography epidemiology the Delphi method and body composition analysis Individual studies illustrate how hospital specialisms fit into the broader ergonomics context Reilly is affiliated with the Research Institute for Sport and Exercise Sciences at Liverpool John Moores University UK Annotation c Book News Inc Portland OR booknews com     Glial Interfaces in the Nervous System Håkan Aldskogius, John Fraher, 2002 Glial cells are commonly viewed as subordinate players to the functional requirements of neighbouring neurons in normal as well as pathological conditions These neuron glial interactions are crucial for the development maintenance plasticity and repair of the nervous system They are also dependent upon and or influenced by interactions between glial cells themselves     Doctors' Errors and Mistakes of Medicine Moshe Wolman, Ruth Manor, 2004

During the last decades healthcare in the various industrialized countries has been deteriorating steadily The enormous progress of medicine in the same period could only partly compensate for the loss This book describes the deterioration of healthcare that increases continually It analyses its causes and outlines the measures that might prevent or at least slow the change The deterioration of healthcare variable in different fields progressing at different paces in the various industrialized countries is produced mainly by two types of causes Minor ones resulting from lack of knowledge or by inadequate equipment or procedures can be corrected by relatively simple means such as education and technical or procedural improvements. The major causes for the deterioration involve general policy whose effects are the steady decrease in monitoring health care and the change of healthcare into profit seeking service. The data collected and its analysis is based on over 300 articles in major medical and nursing journals. It has three parts: part 1 deals with individual doctors' errors; part 2 with errors of the medical establishment; and part 3 is devoted to more theoretical aspects. Engaging the World Søren Holm, Monique F. Jonas, 2004. Holm: Institute of Medicine Law and Bioethics, University of Manchester, UK; and Jonas: Center for Social Ethics and Policy, University of Manchester. The papers represent the work performed as part of the Empirical Methods in Bioethics project sponsored by the European Commission DG Research. The papers are mainly concerned with investigating EUROHIS. A. Nosikov, Claire Gudex, 2003. The EUROHIS project has focused on the comparability of health surveys and has uncovered some problems that arise when aiming to compare data from different countries. Similar problems of cross-cultural comparability also arise when comparing data from other sources such as health registers and are just as complex and difficult to tackle. One of the main advantages of health surveys, however, is the relatively low cost and time involved in adapting them according to the needs of health policy makers. This work shows that the output from the EUROHIS project provides common instruments for the measurement of eight health indicators. The development of these instruments has required careful consideration of relevant common concepts and how these should be defined and operationalized. The instruments are freely available for use by all countries with the aim of enhancing national health information systems and facilitating cross-national comparisons of health data.
