Europe The Return Of History:

Europe, the Return of History Sven Tägil, 2001 Europe is going through a period of dramatic development bringing fundamental change to the countries on the continent The integration process that started in the west is expanding eastwards and the European Union is gradually growing But there is a simultaneous trend towards disintegration with an increased number of nationalist strivings of the traditional kind especially in the eastern parts Although we can trace these evolvments it is difficult to foresee the future structures Are we going to have a politically economically and culturally united Europe or is the integration process going to slow down and come to a halt The key to understanding the underlying processes lies in an analysis of the historical background Written by historians at Lund University this anthology gives an overview and also an in depth description of Europe in historical terms as well as current situation and possible future developments

The Return of History Jonathan Pearlman, 2021-05-06 For a long time now the authority of knowledge has been under siege from those who march under the banner of pure belief Simon Schama Welcome to the new JQ The Return of History investigates rising global populism and the forces propelling modern nativism and xenophobia In wide ranging lively essays Simon Schama explores the age old tropes of Jews as both purveyors of disease and monopolists of medical wisdom in the wake of a global pandemic Holly Case takes us by train to Hungary Miko aj Grynberg reflects on Poland s commitment to forgetting its atrocities and Deborah Lipstadt puts white supremacy under the microscope examining its antisemitic DNA Recently discovered letters about Israel from Isaiah Berlin to Robert Silvers are published here for the first time In new sections on History and Community Ian Black revisits a turning point in the Arab Israeli conflict and Elliot Perlman traces the roots of the Jewish farmers in Uganda And in three insightful erudite book reviews Hadley Freeman Benjamin Balint and Robert Manne cast light on second generation Holocaust memoirs and the work of Paul Celan and G tz Aly The Return of History is a truly global issue bringing together esteemed well known voices and those you ll be exhilarated to read for the first time

The Return of History Jennifer Welsh, 2016-09-17 In the 2016 CBC Massey Lectures former Special Advisor to the UN Secretary General and international relations specialist Jennifer Welsh delivers a timely intelligent and fascinating analysis of twenty first century geopolitics In 1989 as the Berlin Wall crumbled and the Cold War dissipated the American political commentator Francis Fukuyama wrote a famous essay entitled The End of History which argued that the demise of confrontation between Communism and capitalism and the expansion of Western liberal democracy signalled the endpoint of humanity s sociocultural and political evolution and the path toward a more peaceful world But a quarter of a century after Fukuyama s bold prediction history has returned arbitrary executions attempts to annihilate ethnic and religious minorities the starvation of besieged populations invasion and annexation of territory and the mass movement of refugees and displaced persons It has also witnessed cracks and cleavages within Western liberal democracies as a result of deepening economic inequality The Return of History argues that our own liberal democratic society was not inevitable but that we must all as individual citizens take a more active role in its preservation and growth

The Return of History and the End of Dreams Robert Kagan, 2009-05-05 Hopes for a new peaceful international order after the end of the Cold War have been dashed by sobering realities Great powers are once again competing for honor and influence The world remains unipolar but international competition among the United States Russia China Europe Japan India and Iran raise new threats of regional conflict and a new contest between western liberalism and the great eastern autocracies of Russia and China has reinjected ideology into geopolitics For the past few years the liberal world has been internally divided and distracted by issues both profound and petty Now in The Return of History and the End of Dreams Robert Kagan masterfully poses the most important questions facing the liberal democratic countries challenging them to choose whether they want to shape history or let others shape it for them

A Year Since the Return of History: A New Cold War Richard Sakwa, Li Bennich-Björkman, Ziya Öniş, Nicolai N. Petro, Ilter Turan, Anders Wivel, James A. Russell, Sırma Altun, Emre Demir, Greg Simons, Jonathan Beloff, Oğul Tuna, Luca Cinciripini, Gün Ünal, Aybars Arda Kılıçer, Enes Özcan, Shovkat Jabarova, Ali Demircioğlu, 2023-03-01 The last one year proved itself to be a very tough year and it brought many new challenges for the international relations Among these new challenges the most striking one is probably the Russia's unleashing a war of aggression on Ukraine As Russia's invasion stepped up on the 24 February 2022 many Western experts and policymakers predicted that the Ukrainian armed forces wouldn't be able to defend Kyiv and that it would fall to the invaders before the month ended Nonetheless the government and people of Ukraine are still fighting and you can see evidence of this everywhere you walk in Kyiv thanks to the flag of free Ukraine flying from rooftops It is clear that we are entering a new era in international relations one that has revived the horrors and catastrophes of the past and paved the way for The Return of History regardless of the outcome of the conflict in Ukraine Now that a full year has passed since the beginning of the attack TPQ has devoted this issue to exploring the implications of the Russian invasion of Ukraine on many spheres ranging from energy security to agriculture At the same time we are raising the question of whether the current era deserves to be classified as the new Cold War If so who are the competing parties and in what ways is this new Cold War differs from the one that ended in 1991 with the United States and the liberal world emerging victorious To come up with sufficient and informative answers for these critical questions we assembled a large number of extremely valuable articles written by eminent researchers policymakers journalists and young experts All around the world from the United States to Russia and from Türkiye to Sweden manuscripts came in from our contributors Hence it is with great pleasure that we provide you with this very qualified issue which investigates several facets of the emerging global order from an international perspective Professor Richard Sakwa investigates the causes of the resurgence of the Cold War and examines the differences between it with the original confrontation He thinks the Cold War mentality is once again ruling world relations These arguments suggest that the hope that the conclusion of the Cold War in 1989 would usher in a more universal and permanent

peace has largely been disproved instead by 2014 the centennial of the beginning of World War I Europe was once again in the grips of bloody war The United States and the rest of the Political West as it had been reshaped by the Cold War remained on one side On the other hand he claims that a considerably diminished Russia has replaced the defunct Soviet Union and that this is happening alongside a China that is determined to regain its great power position Professor Li Bennich Bj rkman argues that Russia is using bombings attacks and cruelty to obliterate Ukraine s history As a result she sees the current conflict as a struggle to maintain the recollection of what a peaceful Ukraine looked like smelt like tasted like and felt like She contends that a split between Russia and Ukraine is inconceivable for Putin because of Ukraine s strategic importance to Russia Ukrainian President Leonid Kravchuk understood this as early as 1991 She says that he and other Ukrainian leaders sought to defend Ukrainian territory while assuring Moscow that amicable ties remained a possibility Russia she complains has never undergone a comparable transformation Professor Ziya ni who believes that we are in the midst of a Neo Cold War focuses more on the conflict between the West and the Rest He claims that the clash between democratic and authoritarian capitalism the defining conflict of the new era was exacerbated by Russia s invasion of Ukraine According to him the concerted effort of Western nations to end the conflict was evidence of the resurgence of the democratic club of Western governments and their allies G7 plus He also argues that a significant schism in opinion has developed between the West and the Rest as a direct result of the War He claims that the Russian War in Ukraine ushers in a new era in the post Western world one in which territorial conquests are accepted as the norm setting the path for more armed clashes in a globe already riven by war Professor Nicolai N Petro maintains that the healing of the Ukrainian people is often forgotten among the numerous conflicting narratives that drive the war in Ukraine He argues that this is because the West is ignoring the Other Ukraine whose dissatisfaction with the actions of the Ukrainian government since 2014 has stoked tensions According to him the West s reaction to Russia s incursion has focused on punishing Moscow but hasn t done anything to ease the tensions within Ukraine His work indicates that permanent societal harmony in Ukraine and peace in Europe can be achieved only via reconciliation inside Ukraine We encourage you to learn more about A Year Since the Return of History A New Cold War On behalf of Transatlantic Policy Quarterly I would like to express my gratitude to all the contributors who committed a significant amount of effort and work The TPQ team has had a great time putting together this special issue An important acknowledgment goes to our premium corporate sponsor T pra In addition we would like to thank our online sponsor and the sponsor of this issue Monaco Economic Board We also like to thank our other sponsors Gordon Blair Halifax Kalekim TEB The Ritz Carlton and Uluslararası li kiler Dergisi for their ongoing support Region, Security and the Return of History Anthony Milner,2003 A decade ago there was talk of the end of history Francis Fukuyama assured us that no ideology even Islamic ideology could challenge the universalist claims of liberal democracy Influential analysts spoke of an international convergence of value systems as well as economies Today some have gone to the other extreme and accept the idea of a clash of civilizations At the very least we can say history has returned with a vengeance When commentators of a decade ago assumed change was moving in one direction they tended to dismiss ASEAN as a talk shop and pour scorn on attempts to formulate Asian values Today even tough minded security specialists attend to specific vocabulary and nuances of the conversation of this region What role will the historian play in this era of the return of history Professor Anthony Milner Basham Professor of Asian History and Dean of Asian Studies at the Australian National University addresses this question In 2002 Professor Milner was Raffles Visiting Professor in the Department of History at the National University of Singapore Contents include Critiquing ASEAN The Convergence Era Security and Talk Regionalism in Europe Recognizing Difference Difference in the Regional Conversation The Historian Excess Islam Putin and the Return of History Martin Sixsmith, 2024-01-18 An original history of Russia's thousand year past tracing the forces and the myths that have shaped Putin's politics and rekindled the Cold War Vladimir Putin's invasion of Ukraine has reshaped history In the decades after the collapse of Soviet communism the West convinced itself that liberal democracy would henceforth be the dominant ultimately unique system of governance a hubris that shaped how the West would treat Russia for the next two decades But history wasn't over Putin is a paradox In the early years of his presidency he appeared to commit himself to friendship with the West suggesting that Russia could join the European Union or even NATO He said he supported free market democracy and civil rights But the Putin of those years is unrecognisable today The Putin of the 2020s is an autocratic nationalist dedicated to repression at home and anti Western militarism abroad So what happened Was he lying when he proclaimed his support for freedom democracy and friendship with the West Or was he sincere Did he change his views at some stage between then and now And if that is the case what happened to change him Putin and the Return of History examines these questions in the context of Russia's thousand year past tracing the forces and the myths that have shaped Putin's politics of aggression the enduring terror of encirclement by outsiders the subjugation of the individual to the cause of the state the collectivist values that allow the sacrifice of human lives in battle the willingness to lie and deceive the co-opting of religion and the belief in Great Russia's mission to change the world The Impact of History? Pedro Ramos Pinto, Bertrand Taithe, 2015-03-24 Driven by the increasing importance of discussions around impact and its meaning and implications for history The Impact of History brings together established and new voices to raise relevant questions issues and controversies for debate The chapters are articulated around the themes of public history the politics of history the role of history in the shaping of learning and the situation of history in the changing world of education While this subject is driven differently by the research bodies and councils of different countries similar debates about the value and place of the academy in society are taking place in the UK the USA and Europe as well as in other parts of the world Chapters cover diverse areas of history from this perspective including public history national histories new technologies and the natural sciences campaigning histories the impact agenda This collection is a political and intellectual intervention at a time when scholars and readers of history are being asked to explain why history matters and it seeks to intervene in the debates on impact on education and on the role of the past in the shaping of our future Bringing together leading authors from a wide range of fields The Impact of History is an accessible and engaging yet polemical and thought provoking overview of the role of history in contemporary society

Modernity, Civilization and the Return to History Anthony F. Shaker, 2020-10-06

The modern concept and study of civilization have their roots not in western Europe but in the spirit of scientific investigation associated with a self conscious Islamicate civilization What we call modernity cannot be fathomed without this historical connection We owe every major branch of science known today to the broad tradition of systematic inquiry that belongs to a region of being as Heidegger would say whose theoretical practical and institutional dimensions the philosophy of that civilization played an unprecedented role in creating This book focuses primarily on the philosophical underpinnings of questions relating to civilization personhood and identity Contemporary society and thinking in western Europe introduced new elements to these questions that have altered how collective and personal identities are conceived and experienced In the age of globalization expressions of identity individual social and cultural survive precariously outside their former boundaries just when humanity faces perhaps its greatest challenges environmental degradation policy inertia interstate bellicosity and a growing culture of tribalism Yet the world has been globalized for at least a millennium a fact dimmed by the threadbare but still widespread belief that modernity is a product of something called the West One is thus justified in asking as many people do today if humanity has not lost its initiative This is more a philosophical than an empirical question There can be no initiative without the human agency that flows from identity and personhood i e the way we the acting subject live and deliberate about our affairs Given the heavy scrutiny under which the modern concept of identity has come Dr Shaker has dug deeper bringing to bear a wealth of original sources from both German thought and ikmah Islamicate philosophy the latter based on material previously unavailable to scholars Posing the age old question of identity anew in the light of these two traditions whose special historical roles are assured may help clear the confusion surrounding modernity and hopefully our place in human civilization Proximity to Scholasticism and therefore Islamicate philosophy lent German thought up to Heidegger a unique ability to dialogue with other thought traditions Two fecund elements common to Heidegger Q naw and Mull adr are of special importance Logos utterance speech as the structural embodiment at once of the primary meaning essential reality of a thing and of divine manifestation and the idea of unity in difference which adr finally formulated as the substantial movement of existence But behind this complexity is the abiding question of who Man is which cannot be answered by theory alone Heidegger who occupies a good portion of this study questioned the modern ontology at a time of social collapse and deep spiritual crisis not unlike ours Yet that period also saw the greatest breakthroughs in modern physics and social science The concluding chapters take up more specifically identity renewal in Western literature and Muslim reformism The renewal theme reflects a point of convergence between the Eurocentric worldview in which modernism has its secular aesthetics roots and a current originating in Ibn Taymiyyah's reductionist epistemology and skeptical fundamentalism. It expresses a hopeless longing for origin in a historically pristine golden age, an obvious deformation of philosophy's millennial concern with the commanding creative oneness of the Being of beings.

The Return of Geopolitics in Europe? Stefano Guzzini, 2012-10-25. The end of the Cold War demonstrated the historical possibility of peaceful change and seemingly showed the superiority of non-realist approaches in International Relations. Yet in the post-Cold War period, many European countries have experienced a resurgence of a distinctively realist tradition: geopolitics. Geopolitics is an approach which emphasizes the relationship between politics and power on the one hand and territory, location and environment on the other. This comparative study shows how the revival of geopolitics came not despite but because of the end of the Cold War. Disoriented in their self-understandings and conception of external roles by the events of 1989, many European foreign policy actors used the determinism of geopolitical thought to find their place in world politics quickly. The book develops a constructivist methodology to study causal mechanisms and its comparative approach allows for a broad assessment of some of the fundamental dynamics of European security.

Beacon Lights of History: Modern European statesmen. [1891] John Lord, 1891. Beacon Lights of History: European statesmen John Lord, 1913. Beacon Lights of History: European statesmen. European leaders John Lord, 1921. Political Islam, World Politics and Europe Bassam Tibi, 2014-07-11. The new and updated edition of Political Islam: World Politics and Europe focusses on the shift within political Islam in light of 9/11 and the events of the Arab Spring from a jihadist struggle to institutional Islamism. Refuting what has often been referred to by commentators as the moderation of Islamism, the second edition of this book introduces the concept of institutional Islamism, a process which Tibi argues was accelerated in the aftermath of the Arab Spring. Both jihadist and institutional Islamism pursue the same goal of an Islamist state but disagree fundamentally on the strategy for achieving it. Whilst jihadism is committed to the idea of a violent Islamic world revolution, institutional Islamism embraces political institutions as a means to an end. Turning to the events of the Arab Spring in Tunisia, Libya and Egypt, this book attempts to determine whether an abandonment of violence is enough to underpin a shift to genuine democracy. Analysing the fall of Morsi in particular, Tibi questions what lessons can be learnt from his presidency and argues that this event will not change the overall trend of development from jihadism to institutional Islamism. A timely addition to existing literature, this book will be of interest to students and scholars studying Middle Eastern and European Politics, Political Islam and International Relations.

Return and Circular Migration in Contemporary European History Sarah Oberbichler, Eva Pfanzelter, Valerio Larcher, 2024-10-21. Migration is often viewed as a one-way process from the country of origin to the place of arrival, but recent academic research shows that this presumption is fundamentally flawed. Migration has always been characterized by return movements, as a glance into history reveals from transatlantic returns in the 19th century to the back and forth of migrant workers and refugees in the 20th century and numerous other forced and voluntary migrations This volume invites to reconceptualize studies in migration history by shifting away from the focus on going away to a more complex one revolving around a plurality of issues of leaving returning moving on and traveling again belonging and fluid identities in third spaces Structured in three parts the contributions in this volume shed light on the close connection between power dynamics and return migration as well as how migration processes shape individual planning abilities social relationships and complex spatial dynamics The methodological part of the volume further encourages readers to reflect on growing data collections and possibilities for digital research on return migration

Mapping Exile and Return Alain Epp Weaver, 2014-01-01 One of the most persistent if vexing issues facing not just theology but also political theory sociology and other disciplines is the ongoing Palestinian Israeli conflict For theology the problem is especially nettlesome on account of the church's shared history and tradition with the Jewish people Palestinians including Palestinian Christians bear the brunt of suffering and dispossession in the current situation yet are burdened even more by Christian political appropriation of Zionism Through an analysis of Palestinian refugee mapping practices for returning to their homeland Alain Epp Weaver takes up the troubled issue of Palestinian dispossession and argues against the political theology embedded in Zionist cartographic practices that refuse and seek to eliminate evidence of co existence Instead Alain Epp Weaver offers a political theology of redrawing the territory compatible with a bi national vision for a shared Palestinian Israeli future
