European Defense Research Development:

The Emergence of EU Defense Research Policy Nikolaos Karampekios, Iraklis Oikonomou, Elias G. Carayannis, 2017-11-16
This book explores European security and defense R D policy unveiling the strategic industrial institutional and ideational sources of the European Commission s military research initiative Starting from a well defined empirical epicentre the rise of non civilian R D priorities in the European Union this book covers interrelated themes and topics such as approaches to arms production and R D collaboration relationships between European R D related institutions technology and research foundations of European security policy past and present European armament collaborations transatlantic R D collaboration the militarization of border security Divided into 5 sections the enclosed chapters explore the EU technology and innovation policy in regards to security industrial competitiveness and military capabilities The terrorist attacks in the US on September 11 2001 provided a window of opportunity for the introduction of security as a distinct European R D priority In fact since 2002 the Preparatory Action for Security Research PASR has funded 45 million euros to 39 research consortia to conduct security R D While the idea of pooling defense research efforts and programmes in Europe is not new the establishment of institutions like the European Defense Agency EDA are a major step into institutionalizing European agencies involvement in supporting defense technology research It is against this backdrop of policy developments that this book is positioned in addition to addressing some of the political economic industrial and philosophical questions that arise Featuring contributions from a variety of academic fields and industries this book will be of interest to scholars researchers students and policy makers in the fields of security policy international relations innovation European studies and military studies

European Defense Research & Development Jeffrey P. Bialos, Stuart Koehl, 2004 Symposium held at the Center for Transatlantic Relations on June 6 2003      European Defense Cooperation United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Armed Services. Subcommittee on Research and Development, 1976      Europe Defense Shift Michael Davis, AI, 2025-03-12
Europe Defense Shift examines Europe s increasing focus on military independence amidst shifting global dynamics It explores the historical context of European defense cooperation noting past attempts at military integration and analyzing the current political climate that fuels the need for a stronger more self reliant European defense posture The book highlights how factors like transatlantic tensions and the perceived decline of American influence are driving this shift The book argues that Europe is re evaluating its security dependencies due to both internal and external pressures While complete independence from the U S is unlikely soon the trend towards greater strategic autonomy is deemed irreversible Europe Defense Shift begins by examining the historical foundations of European defense structures progresses to analyzing current challenges and opportunities and culminates in exploring practical applications including policy recommendations This book provides a unique perspective by combining historical analysis with contemporary political and technological assessments It bridges the gap between academic theory and practical policymaking offering valuable insights into European

Politics International Relations and the evolving landscape of European Security      International Cooperation in the Aerospace Industry Wesley Spreen, 2023-10-27 International Cooperation in the Aerospace Industry offers a unique study and analysis of how nations and industries have cooperated internationally to design and manufacture civil and military aircraft from a variety of perspectives historical economic organizational operational and political Covering Europe North and South America Asia and the Middle East the author examines both the practical and managerial aspects of establishing and operating international programs and analyzes the economic and political dynamics associated with international cooperation A chapter is dedicated to describing and comparing the various organizational and legal structures that have historically been used as frameworks for cooperative programs It also examines cooperative international activities in aerospace research and development and international ventures in maintenance repair and overhaul of operational aircraft Throughout the book practical examples of cooperative programs around the world are used to illustrate analytical themes as well as a series of case studies of international cooperative aircraft programs of special political and economic significance This comprehensive book will be a valuable resource for researchers and postgraduate students specializing in aviation and aerospace management      Europe and the United States Glennon J. Harrison, 2016-09-16 A product of the Committee on Foreign Affairs of the US House of Representatives this text studies the emergence of a more unified Europe as an economic and political power and the implications of European integration for the United States      Department of Defense Appropriations for Fiscal Year 1992: Research, development, test and evaluation United States. Congress. House. Committee on Appropriations. Subcommittee on Department of Defense, 1991      The Rise of European Security Cooperation Seth G. Jones, 2007-02 A systematic and comprehensive analysis of the significant increase in security cooperation among European states      Current Developments in European Defence Policy Great Britain. Parliament. House of Lords. European Union Committee, Bernan, 2008 For this report key topics in the evidence were the European Defence Agency EDA budget European defence spending and value for money issues Other questions focused on other aspects of the EDA issues around the UK's non participation in projects in the Joint Investment Programme on research into Innovative Concepts and Emerging Technologies and the Force Protection Joint Investment Programme as well as various other defence interests      Proceedings of the XIII International Symposium SymOrg 2012: Innovative Management and Business Performance , 2012-06-03      The Battle for Authority in European Defence Cooperation Felix Biermann, 2023-10-14 This book addresses one of the most profound transformations in international governance the proliferation of regime complexity Regime complexes can be found wherever state interests clash Thus even in one of the most constitutionalized of institutional environments the European Union EU regime complexity features prominently especially in European defence cooperation where states have created competing institutions overlapping in their mandates to organize armaments cooperation or defence planning The tense relationship between the institutions of the EU's Common

Security and Defence Policy CSDP and those of NATO is well known Yet inter institutional conflict is not limited to this dichotomy It extends to institutions beyond these two frameworks such as those of the former Western European Union and regional defence cooperation frameworks such as the Nordic Defence Cooperation NORDEFCO or OCCAR a minilateral armaments agency All these institutions have partially overlapping membership structures and mandates and therefore rival authority claims in the field of European defence This book uncovers the hidden regularities of the ongoing battle for institutional authority among EU member states

Europe Alone David Schultz,Aurelija Puraite,Vidmante Giedraityte,2022-09-28 Since the end of World War II and the breakup of the Soviet Union in 1991 the United States has taken the lead in maintaining European security through its membership in NATO However the economic and political positions of both the United States and Europe have changed in the last seventy five years leading many to wonder if America is still willing and able to provide for Europe s security needs especially at a time when the Russian Federation has become a more aggressive military and political player Europe Alone explores the prospects of European security in a future when the United States may no longer be a reliable partner Leading security scholars offer a multifaceted approach to the changing role and meaning of national security into the future They look at European security issues from the perspective of small states and seek to broaden the concept of security beyond traditional domestic policing or national defense

Alternative Conventional Defense Postures in the European Theater: The impact of political change on strategy, technology, and arms control Hans Günter Brauch,Robert Kennedy,1990 This volume examines NATO strategy and force posture alternatives in the light of changes that have taken place and which are taking place in Europe today The authors offer their views on the nature of political change changing military doctrines and changes in technology NATO s future role in the new Europe which is beginning to emerge in the post Cold War period is analyzed

The European Defence Agency Nikolaos Karampekios,Iraklis Oikonomou,2015-04-10 This volume provides a comprehensive understanding of the European Defence Agency EDA the leading EU armaments policy institution Despite its critical role in European strategic and military affairs as the key hub of European policy making in the field of armaments the Agency has hitherto received very little attention by the academic and research community around Europe To fill this gap in the literature the book covers a multitude of inter related themes and topics Not only does it provide a detailed analysis and assessment of the Agency s record as the first institution dealing solely with EU armaments policy but it also links these findings to international relations and European integration theory Thematically the contributions go beyond the mere description of achievements gaps and risks elaborating on novel themes such as space offsets pooling and sharing and transatlantic armaments relations The book combines an interdisciplinary approach to the study of European defence with theoretical and ontological pluralism and seeks to unveil the strategic industrial institutional and ideational sources of armaments collaboration and capability development under the aegis of the EDA The multi faceted orientation of the book will be of much interest to students of European security EU institutions defence studies arms control and international relations in general
