The Church in the Latin Fathers James K. Lee, 2020-02-06 What is the church What does it mean to be a member of the church This book examines how the earliest Christian theologians in the Latin West understood the nature ends and boundaries of the church By analyzing the thought and practices of figures such as Tertullian of Carthage Cyprian of Carthage Augustine of Hippo and Pope Leo the Great James K Lee shows how early Latin theologians forged distinctive views of the church as one holy catholic and apostolic Lee argues that according to the Latin fathers the church was one complex reality with visible and invisible aspects that could be distinguished but not separated God could work outside of the church's visible bounds yet all who were saved were joined to the church's invisible bond of charity The church's unity was found in charity and for the early Latin fathers there was no salvation outside of the church In addition Lee demonstrates the trajectory from an exclusivist ecclesiology to a more inclusive understanding of church membership in the development of Latin ecclesiology over the course of the first five centuries of Christianity Apostolic and Prophetic Gesa Elsbeth Thiessen, 2012-07-26 Apostolic ecumenical and radical these are the ecclesial characteristics highlighted by Gesa E Thiessen while explaining her vision of the church The author focuses on the meaning of each of these marks as well as on their intrinsic connections an approach that leads her to delve deep into the history of the church and to draw a wide span between the apostolic past and a radical perspective on the present and future ecumenical church Apostolic and Prophetic studies the concept of apostolicity emerging in patristic theology and examines this concept as it has been developed in select Lutheran Roman Catholic and Anglican ecumenical documents Philo of Alexandria D.T. Fernandez, 2021-05-21 Violent extremism is not new but we have witnessed its rise to the point that it has become a defining issue of our time We cannot brush it aside any longer it characterizes who we are as a people and as a global society Why is violent extremism rising What are its drivers and triggers These questions must be asked and answered first and Teaching in a World of Violent Extremism takes up the questions and the answers In an effort to end violent extremism the next questions that must be pursued are these How shall we prevent and undo extremism especially the militant and violent kind In this world of violent extremism what curriculum designs educational programs and pedagogies shall we employ to develop competent citizens civic leaders and pastors as well as resilient communities Religion and Politics in Presidential Elections Victor Wan-Tatah, 2012-12-14 My frustration and disappointment with the media coverage of the 2008 and 2012 presidential elections prompted me to write this book I feel strongly about correcting the misinformation the presentation of fabrications as truth and the blatant demonizing of the experiences and perspectives of others I made up my mind that I wanted to address these issues the best way that I know how Politics involving religion and moral issues particularly in the areas of Christianity African American religion and Black Liberation Theology are my areas of interest and expertise At different times I have taught classes at the university level involving these topics and with the encouragement of my students I wish to address them in this book Drilling down to the root cause of the anti Obama rhetoric coming from Republicans and Christian conservatives not only provided useful talking points for my introductory course in Africana Studies but the issue became personal and convinced me to embark on this project

The Self-Donation of God Jack D. Kilcrease, 2013-03-20 In The Self Donation of God Jack Kilcrease argues that the speech act of promise is always an act of self donation A person who unilaterally promises to another is bound to take a particular series of actions to fulfill that promise Being that creation is grounded in God's promising speech the divine human relationship is fundamentally one of divine self donation and human receptivity Sin disrupts this relationship and therefore redemption is constituted by a reassertion of divine promise of salvation in the face of the condemnation of the law Gen 3:15 As a new and effective word of grace the promise of a savior begins the process of redemption within which God speaks forth a new narrative of creation In this new narrative God gives himself in an even deeper manner to humanity By donating himself through a promise first to the protological humanity and then to Israel he binds himself to them At the end of this history of self binding God in Christ enters into the condemnation of the law neutralizes it in the cross and brings about a new creation through his omnipotent word of promise actualized in the resurrection

The Doctrine of Atonement Jack D. Kilcrease, 2018-03-22 Post Enlightenment theology has frequently rejected the historic Christian doctrine of substitutionary atonement For theologians standing in the tradition of the Lutheran Confessions rejection of substitutionary atonement is particularly problematic because it endangers the unconditional nature of the justification through faith If one rejects vicarious satisfaction then the only alternative is to make redemption dependent on what sinners do for themselves In this study Jack Kilcrease argues for substitutionary atonement within the perspective of what he calls the Confessional Lutheran Paradigm The author also critiques a wide variety of modern Lutheran theologians understandings of atonement Werner Elert Gustaf Aul n Gustaf Wingren Robert Jenson Eberhard J ngel Wolfhart Pannenberg and Gerhard Forde As Kilcrease demonstrates although these authors often give many fine theological insights their distortion or misrepresentation of the doctrine of atonement carriers over to a problematic understanding of law gospel and justification through faith
