Lost Promises Myra Shuster, 2025-06-16 Promises My Sister and I Made follows two deeply connected young sisters from Montreal who grew up in a secular home but yearned for a sense of purpose meaning and fulfilment beyond the material comforts their suburban life offered Imbued with their parents disillusioned idealism as members of leftist movements in 1950s Montreal the sisters are drawn to spiritual paths that promise personal and collective transformation With imaginations sparked by the freespirited ethos of the Summer of Love and lyrics instilled in them from their parents nostalgic folk songs New Age movements beckon Sharon visits the Creative Community Project a commune in San Francisco in the late 1970s and the author follows They both fall prey to the manipulative brainwashing techniques of the Unification Church known as the Moonies The author returns to Montreal soon after and as she grapples with her own process of disentanglement from the cult she prepares to assist her sister to do the same during Sharon's planned visit home. Just weeks before her anticipated visit, tragedy strikes. Sharon dies in mysterious circumstances while fundraising for the Moonies. The author recounts her legal investigation into her sister's death and takes us on a return journey to San Francisco in search of closure to revisit the place she and Sharon last saw each other. She offers insights to those who grapple with the impact of cults. Exploring two promises the sisters made: Sharon's vow to never leave Myra forever and the author's pledge made soon after Sharon died to live for both of them, the author blends letters, dreams, journals, and legal documents that shed light on Sharon's short life and honour their relationship, revealing an enduring bond not broken by death. Engaging travel writing and poignant reflection are two of the author's gifts to her readers who witness her working with the grief of sibling loss and finding peace through writing.

Journeys of Transformation John D. Barbour, 2022-03-31 Western Buddhist travel narratives are autobiographical accounts of a journey to a Buddhist culture. Dozens of such narratives have since the 1970s describe treks in Tibet, periods of residence in a Zen monastery, pilgrimages to Buddhist sites and teachers, and other Asian odysseys. The best known of these works is Peter Matthiessen's The Snow Leopard. Further reflections emerge from thirty writers including John Blofeld, Jan Van de Wetering, Thomas Merton, Oliver Statler, Robert Thurman, Gretel Ehrlich, and Bill Porter. The Buddhist concept of no self helps these authors interpret certain pivotal experiences of unselfing and is also a catalyst that provokes and enables such events. The writers' spiritual memoirs describe how their journeys brought about a new understanding of Buddhist enlightenment and so transformed their lives. Showing how travel can elicit self-transformation, this book is a compelling exploration of the journeys and religious changes of both individuals and Buddhism itself.

Opening Hearts by Opening Minds Connie Wineland, 2007-06-01 This book is for Christian readers of fiction who might experience difficulty trying to make an informed choice beyond what is being published by evangelical presses. Marketed to a specific target audience, evangelical fiction oftentimes leaves a reader with a strong emotional response but lacks the literary depth or the breadth of subject that could inspire life-changing spiritual growth. With this premise at the heart of her book, Connie Wineland includes her own story of conversion to Christianity by way of reading fiction. During her late twenties and early thirties, particularly while in graduate school, Wineland became immersed in literary and rhetorical studies while also practicing an Eastern form of religion as well as Native American spirituality. However, despite all her training in literary theory, her readings in Romantic, Victorian, modern, and postmodern literature, which she explains as well as her personal interest in mythology and world religions, kept her questioning the existence of God and the possible nature of God. Then, as a relatively new convert to Christianity, she faced several challenges at a small Christian college where she taught literature and writing courses. Eventually wanting to reach beyond the academic community, Wineland began a local Christian readers group, which she ran for four years. She includes in this book resources and materials such as sample syllabi and study guide questions, useful Web addresses, and plenty of how-to information for starting and running your own book club. Also included is an extensive list of

Working with Theories of Refusal and Decolonization in Higher Education Petra Mikulan, Michalinos Zembylas, 2023-12-05 This volume argues that refusal is a viable political ethics in education It is an ethics that allows space for new possibilities to emerge with the potential to enrich higher education study and pedagogies in the future Chapters examine the ethical epistemological political and affective premises of refusing the colonial university and reflect upon what refusal means for higher education decolonization across international settings Refusal marks a political ethos and praxis that denies resists reframes and redirects colonial and neoliberal logics while asserting diverse sovereignties and lifeworlds Whereas resistance may reinscribe the weakness of the colonized in the power relations with the colonizer refusal interrupts the smooth operation of power relations denying the authority of the settler state and remaking the rules of engagement It is a political stance and action that denies the very legitimacy of power over the subjugated This collection views refusal not as an end in itself nor as a mode of critique but as a necessary first step for educators and students in higher education to invest in the idea of radically different modes of futurity It explores how educators and students in higher education can invent pedagogies of refusal that function ethically affectively and politically and asks What do pedagogies of refusal look like How might western universities sustain and support refusal rather than discipline it What assumptions are sustained by ruling out certain educational futures as out of bounds or impossible This book will be important reading for researchers scholars and educators in Decolonizing Education Higher Education Transformation and Philosophy of Education It will also be valuable to policymakers and activists who are considering how refusal might be carried out within and outside institutions Living on the Edge of the Edge Ruth Elizabeth Krall, Lisa Schirch, the church s management of clergy sexual abuses of children teens and adults A second is the issue of sexual gender orientation and church membership Contemporary Christian denominations often intermingle the divisive issue of clergy and religious leader sexual abusiveness with the equally divisive issue of sexual gender orientation In this book Professors Krall and Schirch disentangle and discuss these two issues They discuss their personal and their professional opinions about ways in which religious and spiritual teaching communities can avoid the institutional perils of abusive clericalism and divisive denominational management practices Throughout the book they apply Anabaptist Mennonite principles of peace making in situations of sexual violation Case studies are provided A feminist hermeneutic is applied Each letter essay is auto
