Proceedings of the Tenth Seminar of the IATS, 2003. Volume 9: The Mongolia-Tibet Interface, 2007-11-30 This volume focuses on the interface between Mongolian and Tibetan cultures and aims to create a platform to encourage the development of new forms of scholarship across geographical and disciplinary boundaries This forum lets new materials emerge and brings to the fore a variety of different approaches to studying Mongolian and Tibetan cultures and societies The papers in this volume deal not only with the substantial Mongolian contribution to and engagement with Tibetan Buddhism but also with multiple readings of shared history and religion reconstruction of traditions shifting ethnic boundaries and the broader political context of the Mongolian Tibetan relationship

A History of Buddhism in India and Tibet Dan Martin, 2022-07-19 The first complete English translation of an important thirteenth century history that sheds light on Tibet's imperial past and on the transmission of the Buddhadharma into Central Asia Translated here into English for the first time in its entirety by perhaps the foremost living expert on Tibetan histories this engaging translation along with its ample annotation is a must have for serious readers and scholars of Buddhist studies In this history discover the first extensive biography of the Buddha composed in the Tibetan language along with an account of subsequent Indian Buddhist history particularly the writing of Buddhist treatises The story then moves to Tibet with an emphasis on the rulers of the Tibetan empire the translators of Buddhist texts and the lineages that transmitted doctrine and meditative practice It concludes with an account of the demise of the monastic order followed by a look forward to the advent of the future Buddha Maitreya The composer of this remarkably ecumenical Buddhist history compiled some of the most important early sources on the Tibetan imperial period preserved in his time and his work may be the best record we have of those sources today Dan

Martin has rendered the richness of this history an accessible part of the world s literary heritage      The ^ATibetan Assimilation of Buddhism Matthew T. Kapstein,2002-02-07 Thanks to the international celebrity of the present Dalai Lama Tibetan Buddhism is attracting more attention than at any time in its history Although there have been numerous specialist studies of individual Tibetan texts however no scholarly work has as yet done justice to the rich variety of types of Tibetan discourse This book fills this lacuna bringing to bear the best methodological insights of the contemporary human sciences and at the same time conveying to non specialist readers an impression of the broad domain of Tibetan religious and philosophical thought Ranging widely over the immense corpus of Tibetan literature Kapstein brilliantly illuminates many of the distinctive Tibetan contributions and points out some of the insights      A History of Sanskrit Grammatical Literature in Tibet, Volume 2 Assimilation into Indigenous Scholarship Pieter Cornelis Verhagen,2021-10-01 This first systematic survey of the Tibetan non canonical literature dealing with Sanskrit grammar partly consists of translations of Indic works such as revisions of canonical versions and translations of works not contained in the canon and partly of original Tibetan works In the first chapter of the book a detailed description of these textual materials is presented sixty one titles in total which were produced during all periods of Tibetan literary history from the ninth to the twentieth centuries The second chapter discusses one specific effect of the impetus of Indic traditional grammar within Tibetan scholastics namely the influence of Indic models of linguistic description on Tibetan indigenous grammar This particular assimilation of an Indic technical discipline into Tibetan scholarship is examined in detail and it is shown that other segments of Indic Buddhism were sources of inspiration and derivation for the Tibetan grammarians as well      Tibetan Buddhist Literature and Praxis International Association for Tibetan Studies.
