Great Private Collections Of Imperial Russia:

Great Private Collections of Imperial Russia Oleg Neverov, Mikhail Borisovich Piotrovskii, Emmanuel Ducamp, 2004 Imperial Russia before the 1917 Revolution had a great tradition of private collecting In this book the authors reconstruct a tour of the great Russian collections as they would have been just prior to the fall of the Romanovs The collections are brought back to life by watercolours and drawings of their palaces as well as photographs of interiors family portraits and naturally by the works of art that they collected now all in Russian museums or museums abroad The Empress of Art Susan Jaques, 2016-04-15 A German princess who married a decadent and lazy Russian prince Catherine mobilized support amongst the Russian nobles playing off of her husband's increasing corruption and abuse of power She then staged a coup that ended with him being strangled with his own scarf in the halls of the palace and herself crowned the Empress of Russia Intelligent and determined Catherine modeled herself off of her grandfather in law Peter the Great and sought to further modernize and westernize Russia She believed that the best way to do this was through a ravenous acquisition of art which Catherine often used as a form of diplomacy with other powers throughout Europe She was a self proclaimed glutton for art and she would be responsible for the creation of the Hermitage one of the largest museums in the world second only to the Louvre Catherine also spearheaded the further expansion of St Petersburg and the magnificent architectural wonder the city became is largely her doing There are few women in history more fascinating than Catherine the Great and for the first time Susan Jaques brings her to life through the prism of art Art of Transition Elise Herrala, 2021-12-30 The dissolution of the Soviet Union brought a massive change in every domain of life particularly in the cultural sector where artists were suddenly free from party mandated modes of representation and now could promote and sell their work globally But in Russia the encounter with Western art markets was fraught The Russian field of art still remains on the periphery of the international art world struggling for legitimacy in the eyes of foreign experts and collectors This book examines the challenges Russian art world actors faced in building a field of art in a society undergoing rapid and significant economic political and social transformation and traces those challenges into the twenty first century Drawing on historical and ethnographic research Art of Transition traces the ways the field of art has developed evolved and been sustained in Russia after socialism It shows how Russia's art world has grappled with its Soviet past and negotiated its standing in an unequal globalized present By attending to the historical legacy of Russian art throughout the twentieth century this book constructs a genealogy of the contemporary field of postsocialist art that illuminates how Russians have come to understand themselves and their place in the world A Handbook to Classical Reception in Eastern and Central Europe Zara Martirosova Torlone, Dana LaCourse Munteanu, Dorota Dutsch, 2017-02-06 A Handbook to Classical Reception in Eastern and Central Europe is the first comprehensive English language study of the reception of classical antiquity in Eastern and Central Europe This groundbreaking work offers detailed case studies of thirteen countries that are fully contextualized historically

Imperial Russia's Muslims Mustafa Tuna,2015-06-04 Investigates the entangled transformations of Russia s Muslim communities from the late eighteenth century through to the First World War Drawing from a wealth of Russian and Turkish sources Mustafa Tuna surveys the transformation of Imperial Russia s oldest Muslim community the Volga Ural Muslims Tolstoy Rosamund Bartlett,2010-11-11 In November 1910 Count Lev Tolstoy died at a remote Russian railway station attended by the world s media He was eighty two years old and had lived a remarkable and long life during one of the most turbulent periods of Russian history Born into a privileged aristocratic family he seemed set to join the ranks of degenerate Russian noblemen but fighting in the Crimean war alongside rank and file soldiers opened his eyes to Russia s social problems and he threw himself into teaching the peasantry to read and write After his marriage he wrote War and Peace and Anna Karenina both regarded as two of the greatest novels in world literature Rosamund Bartlett s exceptional biography of this brilliant maddening and contrary man draws on key Russian sources including the many fascinating new materials which have been published about Tolstoy and his legacy since the collapse of the Soviet Union Contested Russian Tourism Susan Layton,2021-08-10 This literary cultural history examines imperial Russian tourism's entanglement in the vexed issue of cosmopolitanism understood as receptiveness to the foreign and pitted against provinciality and nationalist anxiety about the allure and the influence of Western Europe. The study maps the shift from Enlightenment cosmopolitanism to Byronic cosmopolitanism with special attention to the art pilgrimage abroad. For typically middle class Russians daunted by the cultural riches of the West vacationing in the North Caucasus, Georgia and the Crimea afforded the compensatory opportunity to play colonizer kings and queens in Asia. Drawing on Anna Karenina and other literary classics, travel writing, journalism and guidebooks, the investigation engages with current debates in cosmopolitan studies including the fuzzy paradigm of colonial cosmopolitanism.

The New Century Book of Facts Carroll Davidson Wright, 1929 Soviet Russia Pictorial, 1922 The Encyclopædia Britannica, 1895 A Guide to Scholarly Resources on the Russian Empire and the Soviet Union in the New York Metropolitan Area Robert A. Karlowich, 2019-07-12. Identifies collections held by public and university libraries, historical societies and other institutions as well as private collections with material relating to any subject and historical period and to the widest geographical area under imperial or Soviet rule. Includes movements for example The Encyclopaedia Britannica, 1894 Photography and Cultural Heritage in the Age of Nationalisms Ewa Manikowska, 2020-09-08. The second half of the 19th century was a time of extensive political upheaval in central east Europe that saw the negotiation of conflicting territorial claims in the region by the Russian, Austrian and Prussian empires. The post WW1 settlement gave rise to the formation of the independent nation states of Poland, Lithuania, Ukraine, Latvia and Belarus. Less well known is that this same period was also an era of keen photographic activity. During this time of empire state and nation building, cultural heritage was a potent vehicle and a provider of collective memory and identity. This innovative account analyses the relationship between politics, history, cultural heritage and photography in central east Europe between 1859 and 1945. To understand the work photographs do in the construction of cultural heritage, the author analyses a wide range of little known photographic archives created by contemporary professional and amateur photographers. Their work was extensively exploited in contemporary debates appearing in albums, books, journals, exhibitions, museum exhibits, postcards and newspapers aimed at both scientific and popular and national and international publics. An extensive analysis of how photographic practices and outcomes were applied, borrowed, copied, appropriated and transmitted shows how photography was used to exert or subvert power on the one hand and as a tool in constructing and negotiating group identities on the other. By weaving photography and its patterns of making, dissemination and archival survival through major historical narratives, this volume reveals the centrality of photography and visual discourse at pivotal moments of modern history.

Caught in the Revolution Helen Rappaport, 2017-02-07 From the New York Times bestselling author of The Romanov Sisters Caught in the Revolution is Helen Rappaport's masterful telling of the outbreak of the Russian Revolution through eye witness accounts left by foreign nationals who saw the drama unfold Between the first revolution in February 1917 and Lenin's Bolshevik coup in October Petrograd the former St Petersburg was in turmoil felt nowhere more keenly than on the fashionable Nevsky Prospekt There the foreign visitors who filled hotels clubs offices and embassies were acutely aware of the chaos breaking out on their doorsteps and beneath their windows Among this disparate group were journalists diplomats businessmen bankers governesses volunteer nurses and expatriate socialites Many kept diaries and wrote letters home from an English nurse who had already survived the sinking of the Titanic to the black valet of the US Ambassador far from his native Deep South to suffragette leader Emmeline Pankhurst who had come to Petrograd to inspect the indomitable Women's Death Battalion led by Maria Bochkareva Helen Rappaport draws upon this rich trove of material much of it previously unpublished to carry us right up to the action to see feel and hear the Revolution as it happened to an assortment of individuals who suddenly felt themselves trapped in a red madhouse
