However, only 1% participate in higher education. Although the Roma are widely dispersed across Europe and beyond, they face similar social, political, and economic challenges throughout the continent. A major site of struggle has been access, attendance, and achievement in the education sector for Gypsies, Roma, and Travellers. GRT This groundbreaking text explores the Roma in higher education, a topic of great importance since higher education is considered to be a significant pathway out of poverty and to social mobility. Why are participation rates so low? What are the barriers, and what are the enablers? This edited collection brings together authors from diverse national and organisational locations, including academics, activists, and policymakers from Canada, Chile, Finland, Greece, Hungary, Macedonia, Poland, Romania, Serbia, the UK, and the USA. They share and critically analyse contemporary knowledge on research, policies, practices, and interventions to promote Roma participation in higher education in a range of European locations. They cover key topics, including the representation of Roma communities as living on the margins, but also racism, anti-Gypsyism, Romaphobia, hate crimes, and discriminatory practices. The book offers insights into how to fight discrimination and redistribute higher educational opportunities without objectifying the Roma or representing these rich and diverse communities merely as powerless victims. Emerging

Teaching Democracy Emery J. Hyslop-Margison, James Thayer, 2019-02-11 As we move forward well into the 21st century most citizens around the globe seemingly accept the rudiments of a democratic citizenship. And yet in spite of this broad acceptance a clear articulation of what democratic citizenship entails remains somewhat elusive. In this book Hyslop-Margison and Thayer achieve two critically important objectives in response to this problem. First they successfully articulate the threat to democracy posed by current citizenship education programs that adopt a largely instrumental framework fostering passivity and compliance by protecting the established parameters of neo-liberal social design. Second they show a way out of this anti-democratic trap by illustrating how critical theory with its marvelous ability to provide trenchant critiques of capitalism and turn those critiques into concrete political action provides the ideal pedagogical approach to educate our students effectively as future democratic citizens. The authors critique the conditions of modern democratic citizenship and distinguish a robust or thick version of citizenship based on citizen agency and participation in the construction of social reality from contemporary models that undermine citizen engagement. They contend that it is only through critical theory and the political agency it inspires that meaningful democratic change can and must occur. Hence the role of education in their view is not merely to prepare students for a new economic reality but to prepare them instead to shape that reality in more progressive and socially just ways. This book eloquently argues that the citizenship mission of schools ought to teach students what is possible rather than simply objectifying them as human capital being prepared for the inevitable impact of the policies determined by others

Breastfeeding Privatization in Public Education Meral Apak, 2022-03-24 This book unveils women's empowerment as mothers as a notion in the school system that reinforces patriarchy rather than weakening it. It discusses how empowerment is a contested notion even though it is mostly praised in terms of women's emancipation. This book explores the concept that although women are breastfeeding education as mothers in the neoliberal education system they are not necessarily doing so as a self-sacrifice as one may generalize in the context of neoliberal economy. Instead, this book argues that women are doing this as a means of investment for gaining a sense of individual power which ironically reinforces patriarchal values. It presents demonstrative and descriptive practical incidences in the field.
