Because she devoted much of her life to exploring the relationships that exist between people and their built environment Edith Wharton developed a set of philosophies that she expressed in many arenas including interior design architecture and landscaping Her theories of space were practiced and materially executed in addition to being expressed in her writing This book explores Wharton's theories of space in Newport Rhode Island during the Gilded Age when the town was transformed from a rustic seaport to a playground for the fabulously wealthy The built environment played a pivotal role as social economic and personal conflicts were enacted among private and public spaces As a cultural worker and as an author Wharton stood squarely in the middle of these conflicts and directly participated in them Accordingly the book shows Wharton in a new light by exploring texts such as The Decoration of Houses and The House of Mirth as well as by examining the architecture and aesthetics of three of Wharton's primary homes Edith Wharton's The House of Mirth Carol J. Singley,2003 The House of Mirth is perhaps Edith Wharton's best known and most frequently read novel This casebook collects critical essays addressing a broad spectrum of topics and utilizing a range of critical and theoretical approaches with a variety of case studies from various historical spatial and cultural locations they share a strong central interest in the ways in which the narratives of travel contribute to the imagining of ethnic encounters and how they have acted as sites of transformation and transculturation from the early nineteenth century to the present day In addition to discussing textual representations of travel and migration the volume also addresses the ways in which cultural texts themselves travel and are reconstructed in various cultural settings The analyses are particularly attentive to the issues of globalization and migration which provide a general frame for interpretation What distinguishes the volume from existing books is its concern with travel and migration as ways of forging transcultural identities that are able to subvert existing categorizations and binary models of identity formation In so doing it pays particular attention to the performance of identity in various spaces of cultural encounter ranging from North America to the East of Europe putting particular emphasis on the representation of intercultural and ethnic encounters
