encouraging positive student outcomes in multicultural learning environments Educating the Consumer-citizen Joel Spring, 2003-05-14 In Educating the Consumer Citizen: A History of the Marriage of Schools, Advertising, and Media Joel Spring charts the rise of consumerism as the dominant American ideology of the 21st century. He documents and analyzes how from the early 19th century through the present the combined endeavors of schools, advertising, and media have led to the creation of a consumerist ideology and ensured its central place in American life and global culture. Spring first defines consumerist ideology and consumer citizen and explores their 19th century origins in schools, children's literature, the commercialization of American cities, advertising, newspapers, and the development of department stores. He then traces the rise of consumerist ideology in the 20th century by looking closely at the impact of the home economics profession on the education of women as consumers and the development of an American cuisine based on packaged and processed foods, the influence of advertising images of sports heroes, cowboys, and the clean-shaven businessman in shaping male identity, the outcomes of the growth of the high school as a mass institution on the development of teenage consumer markets, the consequences of commercial radio and television joining with the schools to educate a consumer-oriented population, so that by the 1950s consumerist images were tied to the Cold War and presented as the American way of life in both media and schools, the effects of the civil rights movement on integrating previously excluded groups into the consumer society, the changes the women's movement demanded in textbooks, school curricula, media, and advertising that led to a new image of women in the consumer market, and the ascent of fast food education. Spring carries the story into the 21st century by examining the evolving marriage of schools, advertising, and media and its ongoing role in educating the consumer citizen and creating an integrated consumer market. This book will be of wide interest to scholars, professionals, and students across foundations of education, history, and sociology of education, educational policy, mass communications, American history, and cultural studies. It is highly appropriate as a text for courses in these areas. Non-Western Educational Traditions Timothy G. Reagan, 2004-09-22 This text provides a brief yet comprehensive overview of a number of non-Western approaches to educational thought and practice. Its premise is that understanding the ways that other people educate their children, as well as what counts for them as education, may help us think more clearly about some of our own assumptions and values and to become more open to alternative viewpoints about important educational matters. The value of this informative, mind-opening text for preservice and in-service teacher education courses is enhanced by Questions for Discussion and Reflection and Recommended Further Readings included in each chapter. New in the Third Edition: Chapter 2, "Conceptualizing Culture: I, We, and The Other," is new to this edition. It is a response to feedback about the problems inherent in our general discourse about culture and, in addition, provides an example of a culture that is near to us but nevertheless alien: the culture of the Deaf World. Chapter 9, which deals with Islam and traditional Muslim education, has been substantially revised. The subtitle of the Third Edition has been changed to Indigenous Approaches to Educational Thought and Practice, reflecting not so much a change in the emphases found in the book but rather a recognition of the growing scholarly interest in indigenous peoples their languages cultures and histories Various points throughout the text have been expanded and clarified and chapters have been updated as needed Studying Educational and Social Policy Ronald H. Heck, 2004-07-19 The purpose of this textbook is to introduce beginning researchers to the study of policy making how it has been examined from a scholarly perspective and the salient issues to consider in conceptualizing and conducting policy research How Educational Ideologies Are Shaping Global Society Joel Spring, 2014-04-08 In this book Joel Spring explores three major international educational ideologies that are shaping global society neo liberal educational ideology human rights education and environmentalism Neo liberal ideology reflects a rethinking of nationalist forms of education as the nation state slowly erodes under the power of a growing global civil society Traditional nationalist education attempts to mold loyal and patriotic citizens who are emotionally attached to symbols of the state whereas the goal of neo liberal educational ideology is to change nationalist education to serve the needs of the global economy These changes are fueling a clash between the ideas of free market and consumer based neo liberals and those of human rights and environmental educators Human rights education is concerned with creating activist global citizens It is rooted in the idea that inherent in human rights doctrines is a collective responsibility to ensure the rights of all people Environmentalism is the most radical of the ideologies because it rejects the industrial and consumerist paradigm that has dominated most economic thought including capitalism and communism Spring synthesizes and analyzes the effect of these educational ideologies on shaping the future of the global society In the concluding section he compares the effect of these ideologies on global society with the possibility of a world divided between conflicting civilizations How Educational Ideologies Are Shaping Global Society Intergovernmental Organizations NGOs and the Decline of the Nation State features a critical exploration of the transition of schooling from a function of the nation state to a globalized economic and political system a discussion of the major organizations and trading blocs shaping the future globalization of educational policies an analysis of the major competing global ideologies of education including national and corporate models that emphasize training workers for a competitive global free market the worldwide network of human rights and peace educators who are teaching a global set of ethics and the environmental movement s efforts to create a common set of educational standards for sustainable development and sustainable consumption and an exploration of the possible future of global educational policy and school organizations By integrating a wide range of previously scattered information within a bold new framework for understanding educational ideologies and their impact on the global society Spring raises important questions for researchers professionals and students in history and philosophy of education educational policy educational studies comparative education multicultural education curriculum studies critical media studies global studies human rights education and related areas Global Migration and Education Leah Adams, Anna Kirova, 2007 Global Migration and Education makes a notable contribution to understanding the issues faced by immigrant children their parents and educators as they interact in school settings and to identifying the common challenges to and successes in educational institutions worldwide as they cope with these issues Global in scope there are chapters from 14 countries It will help educators and others involved in these complex processes to see beyond the notion of problems created and experienced by recently arrived young children Rather this volume provides many concrete suggestions deriving from the success stories and voices of teachers parents and students It also offers evidence that diversity can be a condition for learning that when understood embraced and supported leads to rich learning opportunities for all involved that would not exist without diversity All of the authors offer recommendations about educational policy and practices to address and ultimately improve the education of all children including immigrant children The book is organized around five themes Multiple Global Issues for Immigrant Children and the Schools They Attend They Are Here Newcomers in the Schools Views and Voices of Immigrant Children Far from Home With Fluctuating Hopes and Searching for New Ways to Belong Intended for researchers students school professionals and educational policymakers and analysts around the world in the fields of multicultural education child psychology comparative and international education educational foundations educational policy and cross cultural studies this book is highly relevant as a text for courses in these areas Black

Pedagogies of Globalization Joel Spring, 2012-10-12 In this ground breaking book Joel Spring examines globalization and its worldwide effects on education A central thesis is that industrial consumerism is the dominant paradigm in the integration of education and economic planning in modern economic security states In the twenty first century national school systems have similar grades and promotion plans instructional methods curriculum organization and linkages between secondary and higher education Although there are local variations the most striking feature is the sameness of educational systems How did this happen How was education globalized Spring explains and analyzes this phenomenon and its consequences for human life and the future improvement of social and economic organizations Central themes include the elements of the educational security state and the industrial consumer paradigm in relationship to classical forms of education such as Confucianism Islam and Christianity and their concerns with creating a just and ethical society the role of the other in the globalization of educational structures as international military and economic rivalries spark competition between educational systems the transition from the Confucian village school to Western forms of education as exemplified in the lives of Ho Chi Minh and Mao Zedong the effect of the cultural and economic rivalry between the Soviet Union and the United States and its impact on schooling in both countries the rise of the educational security state in China the Soviet Union and the United States as these countries focus their educational efforts on military and economic development the evolution of progressive education as it appeared in revolutionary movements in South America Cuba Nicaragua and El Salvador the transition from traditional to Westernized forms of Islamic education against the background of European imperialism Arab nationalism and wars of liberation and the uneasy tension between Western educational ideals and Islamic religious values socialist education in the Democratic People s Republic of Korea current developments in educational security states such as China Japan the United States the new Russia and the European Union and the consequences of English as the global language and the global spread of the industrial consumer paradigm Readership for this book includes scholars and students in comparative international and multicultural education educational policy and politics historical social and philosophical foundations of education and curriculum studies It is a particularly timely informative engaging text for courses in all of these areas

Global Constructions of Multicultural Education Carl A. Grant, Joy L. Lei, 2001-06 Provides a comparative understanding of the global range of multicultural issues in education and the types of approaches being used to address them Presents different ways to think talk and research about issues of diversity and the effects of power Oxford

Textbook of Migrant Psychiatry Dinesh Bhugra, 2021-02-04 Migrant psychiatry is an evolving subdiscipline within cultural psychiatry that deals with the impact of migration on the mental health of those who have migrated and those who work with these groups and provide services to them Stress related to migration affects migrants and their extended families either directly or indirectly The process of migration is not just a phase but leads on to a series of adjustments including acculturation which may occur across generations Factors such as changes in diet attitudes and beliefs and overall adjustment are important in settling down and making the individuals feel secure This period of adjustment will depend upon the individual migrant s pre migration experiences migration process and post migration experiences but also upon an individual's personality, social support and emotional response to migration. Socio-demographic factors such as age, gender, educational and economic status will all play a role in post-migration adjustment. In order to understand the impact on individuals, not only the type of migration and different stressors but also the types of psychological mechanisms at a personal level and the resources and processes at a societal level need to be explored. Despite the number of refugees and asylum seekers around the world increasing at an astonishing rate, the mental health needs of migrants are often ignored by policy makers and clinicians. The Oxford Textbook of Migrant Psychiatry is designed to serve as the comprehensive reference resource on the mental health of migrants, bringing together both theoretical and practical aspects of the mental health needs of refugees and asylum seekers for researchers and professionals. Individual chapters summarise theoretical constructs related to theories of migration, the impact of migration on mental health and adjustment, collective trauma, individual identity and diagnostic fallacies. The book also covers the practical aspects of patient management, including cultural factors, ethnopsychopharmacology, therapeutic interaction and therapeutic expectation, and psychotherapy. Finally, the book will examine special clinical problems and special patient groups. Part of the authoritative Oxford Textbooks in Psychiatry series, this resource will serve as an essential reference for psychiatrists, mental health professionals, general practitioners, primary care physicians, social workers, policy makers and voluntary agencies dealing with refugees and asylum seekers.
