make sense of our preoccupation with copies of all kinds from counterfeits to instant replay from parrots to photocopies The Culture of the Copy is a novel attempt to make sense of the Western fascination with replicas duplicates and twins In a work that is breathtaking in its synthetic and critical achievements Hillel Schwartz charts the repercussions of our entanglement with copies of all kinds whose presence alternately sustains and overwhelms us This updated edition takes notice of recent shifts in thought with regard to such issues as biological cloning conjoined twins copyright digital reproduction and multiple personality disorder At once abbreviated and refined it will be of interest to anyone concerned with problems of authenticity identity and originality Through intriguing and at times humorous historical analysis and case studies in contemporary culture Schwartz investigates a stunning array of simulacra counterfeits decoys mannequins and portraits ditto marks genetic cloning war games and camouflage instant replays digital imaging parrots and photocopies wax museums apes and art forgeries not to mention the very notion of the Real McCoy Working through a range of theories on biological mechanical

The Art Instinct Denis Dutton,2009 The Dinka have a connoisseur s appreciation of the patterns and colours of the markings on their cattle The Japanese tea ceremony is regarded as a performance art Some cultures produce carving but no drawing others specialize in poetry Yet despite the rich variety of artistic expression to be found across many cultures we all share a deep sense of aesthetic pleasure The need to create art of some form is found in every human society In The Art Instinct Denis Dutton explores the idea that this need has an evolutionary basis how the feelings that we all share when we see a wonderful landscape or a beautiful sunset evolved as a useful adaptation in our hunter gather ancestors and have been passed on to us today manifest in our artistic natures Why do people indulge in displaying their artistic skills How can we understand artistic genius Why do we value art and what is it for These questions have long been asked by scholars in the humanities and in literature but this is the first book to consider the biological basis of this deep human need This sparking and intelligent book looks at these deep and fundamental questions and combines the science of evolutionary psychology with aesthetics to shed new light on longstanding questions about the nature of art and Forgeries Peter Knight, Jonathan Long, 2004 The possibility that works of art and literature might be forged and that identity might be faked has haunted the cultural imagination for centuries That spectre seems to have returned with a vengeance recently with a series of celebrated hoaxes and scandals ranging from the Alan Sokal hoax article in Social Text to Benjamin Wilkomirski's fake Holocaust memoir But as well as creating anxiety the possibility of faking it has now been turned into entertainment Traditionally these activities have been dismissed as dangerous and immoral but more recently some scholars have begun to speculate for example that all forms of national identity rely on forged myths of origin Recent cultural theory has likewise called into question traditional notions of authenticity and originality in both personal identity and in works of art Despite critical pronouncements of the death of the author and the substitution of the simulacrum for the original however making a distinction between the genuine and the fake continues to play a major role in our everyday understanding and evaluation of culture law and politics Consider for example the fiasco surrounding the forged Hitler diaries law suits against auction houses for failing to detect forgeries in the art market or the problem of plagiarism at universities It still seems to matter that we can spot the difference especially in the historical moment when we are capable of making copies that are indistinguishable perhaps even better than the original This collection of essays considers the moral aesthetic and political questions that are raised by the long history and current prevalence of fakes and forgeries The international team of contributors consider the issues thrown up by a wide range of examples drawn from fields ranging from literature to art history These case studies include little known subjects such as Eddie Burrup the Australian aboriginal artist who turned out to be an 81 year old white woman as well as new interpretations of familiar cases such as faked Holocaust memoirs The strength of the collection is that it brings together not only a wide range of cultural examples of fakes and forgeries from different historical periods but also offers a wide variety of theoretical takes that will form a useful introduction and casebook on this growing field of inquiry Warman's Antiques and Collectibles Price Guide Ellen T. Schroy, 1997-04 Collectors of miniature paintings lace Lefton china Tucker china and yard long prints will find their favorite pieces listed in Warman's Antiques and Collectibles Price Guide This 31st edition has added these categories to the numerous old favorites Hundreds of photographs factory marks and illustrations aid in identifying antiques and collectibles

Thinking about the Elgin Marbles: Critical Essays on Cultural Property, Art and Law John Merryman, 2000-05-19 This book begins with a critical reexamination of the rival Greek and British claims to the Elgin Marbles That case study identifies the questions that still dominate the growing international debate about cultural property policy and are explored in subsequent essays Why do people care about cultural property Is cultural nationalism a sound organizing principle for dealing with cultural property questions Or is it a relic of 19th century romanticism kept alive by the power of Byron's poetry How can cultural nationalism be rationalized with the idea that works of art and antiquities are the cultural heritage of all mankind What alternative ways are there of thinking about cultural property policy and law The author examines in particular the law and policy relating to cultural property export controls and the evolution and development of the 1995 UNIDROIT Convention on the Return of Stolen and Illegally Exported Cultural Property In the second part of the book the author addresses a number of contemporary art law issues in essays on counterfeit art the moral rights of artists the artist's resale right droit de suite the litigation over the Mark Rothko estate and problems of museum trustee negligence conflict of interests and misuse of inside information The author a Professor of Art Law at Stanford University is a leading international figure in cultural property and art law circles
