Geographies Of Young People The Morally Contested Spaces Of Identity:

Geographies of Young People Stuart C. Aitken, 2001 Anxieties over children's safety or teenage propensities towards violence and sex have precipitated a moral panic in a large swathe of our society This provocative work traces the changing scientific and societal notions of what it is to be a young person and argues that there is a need to rethink how we view childhood spaces child development and the politics of growing up The book challenges popular myths that evoke general notions of childhood as a natural stage in the development towards adulthood and offers alternative theories that value the embodiment and local embeddedness of young people Publisher's description The Geographies of Young People Stuart C Aitken, 2001-07-05 The Geographies of Young People traces the changing scientific and societal notions of what it is to be a young person and argues that there is a need to rethink how we view childhood spaces child development and the politics of growing up This book brings coherency to the growing field of children's geographies by arguing that although most of it does not prescribe solutions to the moral assault against young people it nonetheless offers appropriate insights into difference and diversity and how young people are constructed Other books in the series Culture Place Health forthcoming Seduction of Place forthcoming Celtic Geographies forthcoming Timespace Bodies Mind and Body Spaces Children's Geographies Leisure Tourism Geographies Thinking Space Geopolitical Traditions Embodied Geographies Animal Spaces Beastly Places Closet Space Clubbing De centering Sexualities Entanglements of Power Spaces of Masculinities

Kathrin Hörschelmann, Bettina van Hoven, 2013-03-07 Changing circumstances in Western and global societies have introduced new constraints and opportunities for men and the formation of male identities Meanwhile the emerging diversity of atypical identities atypical when compared with traditional conceptions of middle class white heterosexual men poses new challenges for the production and use of spaces Spaces of Masculinities provides a comprehensive introduction to the innovative and diverse research on spaces of masculinity Drawing on a variety of geographical research projects the central concern of the book is to highlight the significance of research on masculinity in sociological and geographical work dealing with constructions of gender Young People, Place and Identity Peter E. Hopkins, 2013-05-13 Young People Place and Identity offers a series of rich insights into young people's everyday lives What places do young people engage with on a daily basis How do they use these places How do their identities influence these contexts By working through common sense understandings of young people's behaviours and the places they occupy the author seeks to answer these and other questions In doing so the book challenges and re-shapes understandings of young people's relationships with different places and identities The textbook is one of the first books to map out the scales themes and sites engaged with by young people on a daily basis as they construct their multiple identities The scales explored here include the body neighbourhood and community mobilities and transitions and urban rural settings and how these all shape and are shaped by young people's identities Each chapter explores how social identities such as race gender sexuality class disability and religion are constructed within particular contexts and influenced by multiple processes of inclusion and exclusion These discussions are supported by details of the research methods and ethical issues involved in researching young people s lives Drawing upon research from a range of contexts including Europe North America and Australasia this book demonstrates the complex ways in which young people creatively shape contest and resist their engagements with different places and identities The range of issues topics and case studies explored include ethical and methodological issues in youth research youth subcultures experiences of home territorialism youth and crime political engagement and participation responses to global issues engagements with different institutional contexts negotiating public space the transition to adulthood drinking cultures The author explores these issues through blending together original empirical research theory and policy Individual chapters are supported by key themes project ideas and suggested further reading Details of key authors journals and research centres and organisations are also included at the end of the book This textbook will be pertinent for undergraduate and postgraduate students and academic researchers interested in better understanding the relationships between young people places and identities Young People, Border Spaces and Revolutionary Imaginations Stuart Aitken, Fernando

Bosco, Thomas Herman, Kate Swanson, 2013-12-16 Drawing from discussions that pulled together child researchers working near the borders of Mexico the United States and Canada this book explores how material and metaphoric borders give way to young people s experimentations with cultural social and political change The contributors highlight the capacities of children to revolutionize thought and practice through creative re imagining of the boundaries borders events circumstances and familial relations that affect their everyday lives The first section in different ways highlights borders and movements through them as a bricolage of images symbols tensions and joys In the second section the idea of a portable border is explored in three chapters that consider a migrants lifecourse citizenship and political activism respectively The last section of the book brings together three chapters that uncover how youth resist confront and transform the borders that envelop their lives By weaving narratives pertaining to young people s creative stories transnational migrations personal identities pen pal programs masculinities inter generational change border crossings political activism and addictions the contributors in toto raise the idea of young people taking bounded and embodied events places and institutions and moving them towards something emancipatory sin fronteras without borders This book was published as a special issue of Children s Geographies

Placing Latin America Edward L. Jackiewicz, Fernando J. Bosco, 2020-01-27 Placing Latin America offers a thematic approach to the study of the diverse geographies of a globalizing region This comprehensive text focuses on the dynamic connections between people places and environments rather than on predefined notions about the region The book s well rounded and accessible analysis includes discussions of borders and migration transnationalism and globalization urbanization and landscapes of cities the connections between economic development and political change the physical environment and human environmental interactions and natural resources in the context of a global economy The authors also explore social and cultural themes such as the illegal drug trade social movements tourism and children and young people Providing a nuanced and clear perspective this book will be an invaluable guide for all those interested in the politics economy and society of a rapidly changing continent Rethinking Children's Spaces and Places David Blundell, 2016-09-22 How do we understand children and young people's lives in ways that do not rely on nostalgic romantic ideals or demonising prejudices Can the geographical concepts of space place and spatiality enhance our understanding of childhood and how children experience their lives as social actors This book draws on a rich and growing academic literature concerned with the spatiality of childhood and the spaces and places in which children live learn work and play It examines changing ways of seeing space place and environment and how these can promote rethinking about children's lives across local and global scales In common with other texts in the New Childhoods series it asks for a reappraisal of modernity's assumptions about childhood and for a move towards full participation of children and young people in matters that concern us all Combining critical discussion of theory with examples drawn from research Rethinking Children's Spaces and Places offers readers a language to facilitate rethinking and catalyse active responses to the challenges of 21st century childhoods Children, Nature, Cities Ann Marie F. Murnaghan, Laura J. Shillington, 2016-05-26 Why does the way we think about urban children and urban nature matter This volume explores how dichotomies between nature culture rural urban and child adult have structured our understandings about the place of children and nature in the city By placing children and youth at the center of re-theorising the city as a socio-natural space the book illustrates how children and youth's relations to and with nature can change adultist perspectives and help create more ecologically and socially just cities As a key contribution to children's studies the book engages and enlivens debates in urban political ecology and urban theory which have not yet treated age as an important axis of difference With examples from ten localities the chapters in this volume ask how we can subvert both romanticized and modernist conceptualizations of nature and childhood that conflate innocence and purity with children and nature the volume asks what happens when we re-invent urban natures with children's needs and perspectives in mind

Young People, Rights and Place Stuart Aitken, 2018-05-16 Concern is growing about children's rights and the curtailment of those rights through the excesses of neoliberal governance This book discusses children's spatial and citizenship rights and the ways young people and their families push against diminished rights Armed initially with theoretical concerns about the construction of children through the political status quo and the ways youth rights are spatially segregated the book begins with a disarmingly simple supposition Young people have the right to make and remake their spaces and as a consequence themselves This book de-centers monadic ideas of children in favor of a post-humanist perspective which embraces the radical relationality of children as more than children more than human Its empirical focus begins with the struggles of Slovenian Izbrisanerased youth from 1992 to the present day and reaches out to child rights and youth activists elsewhere in the world with examples from South America Eastern Europe and the USA The author argues that universal child rights have not worked and pushes for a more radical sustainable ethics which dares to admit that children's humanity is something more than we as adults can imagine Chapters in this groundbreaking contribution will be of interest to students researchers and practitioners in the social sciences humanities and public policy      Children's Spatialities Julie Seymour, Abigail Hackett, Lisa Procter, 2016-04-02 Drawing from a wide range of disciplines including anthropology sociology architecture and geography and international contributors this volume offers both students and scholars with an interest in the interdisciplinary study of childhood a range of ways of thinking spatially about children's lives      Urban Nightscapes Paul Chatterton, Robert Hollands, 2003-09-02 In many western cities urban nightlife is experiencing a McDonaldisation where big branded names are taking over large parts of downtown areas leaving consumers with an increasingly standardised experience This book takes a new look at this rapidly changing aspect of urban life examining the relationships between young adults nightlife and city spaces It focuses on what the authors call urban nightscapes both mainstream and alternative youthful cultural activities in bars pubs night clubs and music venues which occur against a backdrop of increasing corporate influence in the night time economy      Transforming Young Adult Services Anthony Bernier, 2019-05-20 Now showcasing an even more rigorous debate about the theory and practice of YA librarianship than its first edition this provocative presentation of diverse viewpoints by leaders in the field Catholic Library World has been updated and expanded to incorporate recent advances in critical youth studies      Researching Families and Relationships Caroline King, Zhong Eric Chen, 2011-08-26 This collection focuses on the real life experiences of conducting empirical research about families and relationships with an emphasis on the actualities of doing research and the experiences of being a researcher      Telling Young Lives Craig Jeffrey, Jane Dyson, 2008-09-15 Telling Young Lives presents more than a dozen fascinating ethnographically informed portraits of young people facing rapid changes in society and politics from different parts of the world From a young woman engaged in agricultural labor in the High Himalayas to a youth activist based in Tanzania the distinctive voices from the U K India Germany Sierra Leone South Africa and Bosnia Herzegovina provide insights into the active and creative ways these youths are addressing social and political challenges such as war hunger and homelessness Telling Young Lives has great appeal for classroom use in geography courses and makes a welcome contribution to the growing field of young geographies as well as to politics and political geography Its focus on individual portraits gives readers a fuller more vivid picture of the ways in which global changes are reshaping the actual experiences and strategies of young people around the world      Culturally Sustaining Systemic Functional Linguistics Praxis Ruth Harman, Kevin Burke, 2020-03-19 By introducing a framework for culturally sustaining Systemic Functional Linguistics SFL praxis Harman Burke and other contributing authors guide readers through a practical and analytic exploration of youth participatory work in classroom and community settings Applying an SFL lens to critical literacy and schooling this book articulates a vision for youth learning and civic engagement that focuses on the power of performance spatial learning community activism and student agency The book

offers a range of research driven multimodal resources and methods for teachers to encourage students meaning making The authors share how teachers and community activists can interact and support diverse and multilingual youth fostering a dynamic environment that deepens inquiry of the arts and disciplinary area of knowledge Research in this book provides a model for collaborative engagement and community partnerships featuring the voices of students and teachers to highlight the importance of agency and action research in supporting literacy learning and transformative inquiry Demonstrating theoretically and practically how SFL praxis can be applied broadly and deeply in the field this book is suitable for preservice teachers teacher educators graduate students and scholars in bilingual and multilingual education literacy education and language policy     Routledge Handbook of Physical Cultural Studies Michael L. Families and Institutions Samantha Punch, Ian McIntosh, Ruth Emond, 2013-09-13 This book brings together recent UK studies into children's experiences and practices around food in a range of contexts linking these to current policy and practice perspectives It reveals that food works not only on a material level as sustenance but also on a symbolic level as something that can stand for thoughts feelings and relationships The three broad contexts of schools families and care residential homes and foster care are explored to show the ways in which both children and adults use food Food is used as a means by which adults care for children and is also something through which adults manage their own feelings and relationships to each other which in turn impact on children's experiences The book examines the power of food in our daily lives and the way in which it can be used as a medium by individuals to exert power and resistance establish collective identities and notions of the self and to express moralities about notions of proper family routines and good and healthy lifestyle choices It identifies inter generational and intra generational differences and commonalities in regard to the uses of and experiences around food across a range of studies conducted with children and young people This book was published as a special issue of Children's Geographies     Film Landscapes of Global Youth Stuart C. Aitken, Jacob Rowlett, 2024-04-22

This book explores the dynamic landscapes of global youth through spatially grounded chapters focused on film and media. It is a collection of incredible works concerning children and young people in and through media as well as an examination of what is possible for the future of research within the intersections of geography, film theory and children's studies. It contains contributions from leading academics from anthropology, sociology, philosophy, art, film and media studies, women and gender studies, Indigenous studies, education and geography, with chapters focused on a spatial area and the representations and relationships of children in that area through film and media. The insights presented also provide a unique and eclectic perspective on the current state of children's research in relation to the ever-changing media landscape of the 21st century. Film Landscapes of Global Youth approaches the subjects of children and young people in film and media in a way that is not bound by genre, format, medium or the on/off screen binary. Each chapter offers an insightful look at the relationships and portrayals of children and young people in relation to a specific country, culture or geographic feature. This book is a must-read for anyone interested in the intersections between geography, young lives and the power of film, television, social media, content creation and more.

The Awkward Spaces of Fathering Stuart C. Aitken, 2016-03-23 Societal notions of fathers have evolved from the distant breadwinner through genial dad and masculine role model to today's equal co-parent. This book seeks to explore the spaces and movements of men as fathers. Weaving together theories of space, sexuality and political identity with the stories of fathers from a range of sources including popular culture, it discusses the way in which geographies of space can disconnect and disempower fathers while societal notions marginalize and disassociate them from raising children. It explores how fathering identities are shaped by family and community spaces and aims to move the definition of fathering beyond its definition in opposition to mothering. In doing so, it provides insights into the contradictory nature of father's lives and argues that rather than moving away from the traditional notions of masculine roles, that the emotional work of fathering in itself is an heroic act.

Diverse Spaces of Childhood and Youth Ruth Evans, Louise Holt, 2016-04-08 Diverse Spaces of Childhood and Youth focuses on the diverse spaces and discourses of children and youth globally. The chapters explore the influence of gender, age and other socio-cultural differences such as race, ethnicity and migration trajectories on the everyday lives of children and youth in a range of international contexts. These include the diverse urban environments of Istanbul, Copenhagen, Helsinki, Toronto, London and Bratislava and the contrasting rural settings of Ghana and England. The analyses of children's, young people's, parents' and professionals' experiences and discourses provide critical insights into how gender and other socio-cultural differences intersect. The importance of everyday practices and performances in the formation of children's and young people's identities is revealed through, for example, friendships and everyday sociality, mobilities and movements across space in both rural and urban environments. The volume shows how discourses of childhood, particularly those associated with risk, intersect with difference. The recognition of young people's agency and participation is central to many of the chapters whilst also raising methodological questions about how discourses of childhood and youth are researched Overall the book provides an original contribution to geographies of children youth and families and research on diversity and difference in global contexts This book was published as a special issue of Children s Geographies
