Geographys Inner Worlds Pervasive Themes In Contemporary American Geography:

Geography's Inner Worlds Ronald Francis Abler, Melvin Gerald Marcus, Judy M. Olson, 1995 A Spatial Approach to Regionalisms in the Global Economy M. Niemann, 2016-01-26 The author challenges the traditional manner in which regionalization has been approached and suggests that the failure to come to grips with this phenomenon is the result of the modernist regulation of space to margins of analysis He advances instead a spatially orientated approach which views states as one of multiple layers of a global social space Regionalization represents the construction of new layers in an effort to search for an institutional fix to the challenges of globalization Integrated Regional Assessment of Global Climate Change, Beyond the Map Gary R. Lock, 2000 This set of papers by European and North American archaeologists explore the interface between new spatial technologies and areas of theoretical concern in spatial archaeology Differing aspects of landscape such as vision perception and movement are explored through a series of case studies that focus on how spatial technologies can influence archaeological interpretation and to what extent these new technologies can be manipulated to take us beyond 2 dimensional maps Individual site based analyses and new applications of predictive modelling are also presented and assessed together with the wider questions of spatial technologies within heritage management Classics in Cartography Martin Dodge, 2011-06-15 Classics in Cartography provides an intellectually driven reinterpretation of a selection of ten touchstone articles in the development of mapping scholarship over the last four decades The classics are drawn exclusively from the international peer review journal Cartographica and are reprinted in full here They are accompanied by newly commissioned reflective essays by the original article authors and other eminent scholars to provide fresh interpretation of the meaning of the ideas presented and their wider lasting impact on cartographic research The book provides an equal balance of influential articles from the past and current commentaries which highlight their impact and current context Read in combination the original classic articles and these new reflective essays demonstrate how cartography works as a powerful representational form and explores how various different aspects of mapping practice have been conceptualized by an influential set of academic researchers Collates classic articles from four decades of the journal Cartographica Brings key articles up to date with contemporary interpretative essays by the leading scholars in mapping research Themes covered are the epistemological of mapping practice the ontological underpinnings of cartographic representation and the contested societal implications of maps Evaluates the progression of the field of cartographic research and demonstrates how new theoretical ideas originate develop and circulate Provides a signpost for students and new researchers on the key articles in cartography to read and reflect upon Ground Truth John Pickles, 1995-01-01 Professionals who work with grieving families including psychiatrists psychologists social workers family therapists physicians and nurses who work with dying patients and their families hospice and patient home care workers clergy The book also serves as a text in courses on bereavement family development family and child therapy and child developmental psychopathology A History of Spaces John Pickles, 2012-11-12 This book provides an essential insight into the practices and ideas of maps and map making It draws on a wide range of social theorists and theorists of maps and cartography to show how maps and map making have shaped the spaces in which we live Going beyond the focus of traditional cartography the book draws on examples of the use of maps from the sixteenth century to the present including their role in projects of the national and colonial state emergent capitalism and the planetary consciousness of the natural sciences It also considers the use of maps for military purposes maps that have coded modern conceptions of health disease and social character and maps of the transparent human body and the transparent earth Practices in Regional Science and Sustainable Regional Development R. B. Singh, Soumendu Chatterjee, Mukunda Mishra, Andrews José de Lucena, 2021-07-12 This book brings together the emerging trends and techniques incorporated in regional science during the first two decades of this millennium The book includes systematic and analytical notes making scientific commentary on the innovative methods of regional development measurement of the development regional development models and policy measures that have significant implications and wide applicability instrumental for India as well as the other global south countries There is clear evidence in the global south of the uneven spatial distribution of resources economic activities literacy and health conditions The most striking fact is the coexistence of development and underdevelopment that makes the planning process complicated This can hardly be explored without taking a deep insight into the matter of how the regional parameters are impacting regional society or economy to shape the development of that region There can be no effective global policy framework that will be effective equally for each and every region to mitigate local issues of society or economy It is here that the book integrates the efforts of practitioners working towards addressing these regional issues and striving for sustainable regional development through their innovative ideas Through its contributions the book addresses development issues regional impact of climate change social justice migration well being livelihood vulnerabilities and regional urban environmental issues from the standpoint of regional science It is a significant resource for researchers of spatial science and policy makers

Cartography Matthew H. Edney, 2019-04-12 In his most ambitious work to date Edney questions the very concept of cartography to argue that this flawed ideal has hobbled the study of maps Susan Schulten author of A History of America in 100 Maps Over the past four decades the volumes published in the landmark History of Cartography series have both chronicled and encouraged scholarship about maps and mapping practices across time and space As the current director of the project that has produced these volumes Matthew H Edney has a unique vantage point for understanding what cartography has come to mean and include In this book Edney disavows the term cartography rejecting the notion that maps represent an undifferentiated category of objects for study Rather than treating maps as a single unified group he argues scholars need to take a processual approach that examines specific types of maps sea charts versus thematic maps for example in the context of the unique circumstances of their production circulation and consumption To illuminate this bold argument Edney chronicles precisely how the ideal of cartography that has developed in the West since 1800 has gone astray By exposing the flaws in this ideal his book challenges everyone who studies maps and mapping practices to reexamine their approach to the topic The study of cartography will never be the same An intellectually bracing and marvellously provocative account of how the mythical ideal of cartography developed over time and in the process distorted our understanding of maps Times Higher Education Cartography The Ideal and Its History offers both a sharp critique of current practice and a call to reorient the field of map studies A landmark contribution K ren Wigen coeditor of Time in Maps Handbook of Research Methods for Tourism and Hospitality Management Robin Nunkoo,2018-07-27 As research in tourism and hospitality reaches maturity a growing number of methodological approaches are being utilized and in addition this knowledge is dispersed across a wide range of journals Consequently there is a broad and multidisciplinary community of tourism and hospitality researchers whom at present need to look widely for support on methods In this volume researchers fulfil a pressing need by clearly presenting methodological issues within tourism and hospitality research alongside particular methods and share their experiences of what works what does not work and where challenges and innovations lie

Visualization in Modern Cartography A.M. MacEachren,D.R. Fraser Taylor,2013-10-22 Visualization in Modern Cartography explores links between the centuries old discipline of cartography and today s revolutionary developments in scientific visualization The book has three main goals 1 to pass on design and symbolization expertise to the scientific visualization community information that comes from centuries of pre computer visualization by cartographers and their more recent experiences with computerizing the discipline 2 to help cartographers cope with the dramatic shift from print cartography to a dynamic virtual cartography for which their role is changing from that of map designer to one of spatial information display and or interface designer 3 to illustrate the expanded role for cartography in geographic environmental planning and earth science applications that comes with the development of interactive geographic visualization tools To achieve these goals the book is divided into three parts The first sets the historical cognitive and technological context for geographic cartographic visualization tool development The second covers key technological symbolization and user interface issues The third provides a detailed look at selected prototype geographic cartographic visualization tools and their applications

Globalization Development and Social Justice Ann El Khoury,2015-03-27 Are there existing alternatives to corporate globalization What are the prospects for and commonalities between communities and movements such as Occupy the World Social Forum and alternative economies Globalization Development and Social Justice advances the proposition that another globalization is not only possible but already exists It demonstrates that there are multiple pathways towards development with social justice and argues that enabling propositional agency rather than oppositional agency such as resistance is a more effective alternative to neoliberal globalization El Khoury develops a theory of infraglobalization that emphasizes creative constitution not just contestation of global and local processes The book features case studies and examples of diverse economic practice and innovative emergent political forms from the Global South and North These case studies are located in the informal social economy and community development as well as everyday practices from prefigurative politics to community cooperatives and participatory planning This book makes an important contribution to debates about the prospects for and practices of a transformative grassroots globalization and to critical debates about globalization and development strategies It will be of interest to students and scholars of international relations globalization social movement studies political and economic geography sociology anthropology and development studies

Time-Integrative Geographic Information Systems Thomas Ott, Frank Swiaczny, 2012-12-06 The book deals with the integration of temporal information in Geographic Information Systems The main purpose of an historical or time integrative GIS is to reproduce spatio temporal processes or sequents of events in the real world in the form of a model The model thus making them accessible for spatial query analysis and visualization This volume reflects both theoretical thoughts on the interrelations of space and time as well as practical examples taken from various fields of application e g business data warehousing demographics history and spatial analysis Integrating Geographic Information Systems into Library Services: A Guide for Academic Libraries Abresch, John, Hanson, Ardis, Heron, Susan Jane, Reehling, Peter J., 2008-04-30 With the onslaught of emergent technology in academia libraries are privy to many innovative techniques to recognize and classify geospatial data above and beyond the traditional map librarianship As librarians become more involved in the development and provision of GIS services and resources they encounter both problems and solutions Integrating Geographic Information Systems into Library Services A Guide for Academic Libraries integrates traditional map librarianship and contemporary issues in digital librarianship within a framework of a global embedded information infrastructure addressing technical legal and institutional factors such as collection development reference and research services and cataloging metadata as well as issues in accessibility and standards GIS and Public Health Ellen K. Cromley, Sara McLafferty, 2012-01-01 Authoritative and comprehensive this is the leading text and professional resource on using geographic information systems GIS to analyze and address public health problems Basic GIS concepts and tools are explained including ways to access and manage spatial databases The book presents state of the art methods for mapping and analyzing data on population health events risk factors and health services and for incorporating geographical knowledge into planning and policy Numerous maps diagrams and real world applications are featured The companion Web page provides lab exercises with data that can be downloaded for individual or course use New to This Edition Incorporates major technological advances such as Internet based mapping systems and the rise of data from cell phones and other GPS enabled devices Chapter on health disparities Expanded coverage of public participation GIS Companion Web page has all new content Goes beyond the United States to encompass an international focus Theory, Change and Southern Africa P. Vale, L. Swatuk, B. Oden, 2001-06-26 As dramatic changes unfold throughout the world and the new millennium begins many in South Africa have begun to ask what next The scale and pace of change have led to a feeling of powerlessness How to cope with globalization regionalization a depleting ozone layer new diseases rampant militarization let alone unseen structures of influence and oppression like race class and gender While there is no shortage of theoretical models on offer many feel that they are inadequate for the case of Southern Africa In this book scholars of both international relations and Southern Africa present a wide variety of thoughts on the future of the region and the place of theory in helping us to understand the bewildering array of events characterizing the late modern early twenty first century world This book marks a call to theory if Southern Africans are to overcome the divisive legacy of the past and to move toward a more prosperous and sustainable collective future theory must be placed at the centre of everyday life For it is our understanding of the world that shapes both it and us Global Mountain Regions Ann Kingsolver, Sasikumar Balasundaram, 2018-09-01 No matter where they are located in the world communities living in mountain regions have shared experiences defined in large part by contradictions These communities often face social and economic marginalization despite providing the lumber coal minerals tea and tobacco that have fueled the growth of nations for centuries They are perceived as remote and socially inferior backwaters on one hand while simultaneously seen as culturally rich and spiritually sacred spaces on the other These contradictions become even more fraught as environmental changes and political strains place added pressure on these mountain communities Shifting national borders and changes to watersheds forests and natural resources play an increasingly important role as nations respond to the needs of a global economy The works in this volume consider multiple nations languages generations and religions in their exploration of upland communities responses to the unique challenges and opportunities they share From paintings to digital mapping environmental studies to poetry land reclamation efforts to song lyrics the collection provides a truly interdisciplinary and global study The editors and authors offer a cross cultural exploration of the many strategies that mountain communities are employing to face the concerns of the future
