Fight Harry G. Lefever,2005 Undaunted by the Fight is a study of small but dedicated group of Spelman College students and faculty who between 1957 and 1967 risked their lives compromised their grades and jeopardized their careers to make Atlanta and the South a more just and open society Lefever argues that the participation of Spelman s students and faculty in the Civil Rights Movement represented both a continuity and a break with the institution s earlier history On the one hand their actions were consistent with Spelman s long history of liberal arts and community service yet on the other hand as his research documents their actions represented a break with Spelman s traditional non political stance and challenged the assumption that social changes should occur only gradually and within established legal institutions For the first time in the eighty plus years of Spelman s existence the students and faculty who participated in the Movement took actions that directly challenged the injustices of the social and political status quo Too often in the past the Movement literature including the literature on the Atlanta Movement focused disproportionately on the males involved to the exclusion of the women who were equally involved and who in many instances initiated actions and provided leadership for the Movement Lefever concludes his study by saying that Spelman s activist students and faculty succeeded to the extent they did because they kept their eyes on the prize They endured the struggle he says and in so doing eventually won many prizes some personal others social Undaunted they liberated themselves but at the same time they liberated their school their city and the larger society

Integrating Service Learning and Multicultural Education in Colleges and Universities Carolyn R. O'Grady, 2014-04-08 The focus of this book is on the ways in which service learning and multicultural education can and should be integrated so that each may be strengthened and consequently have greater effect on educational and social conditions. It offers a significant attempt to forge a dialogue among practitioners of service learning and multicultural education. The overriding theme is that service learning without a focused attention to the complexity of racial and cultural differences can reinforce the dominant cultural ideology but academic work that seeks to deconstruct these norms without providing a community based touchstone isolates students and schools from the realities of the larger communities of which they are part. Although the chapter authors provide varied perspectives on the benefits and challenges of integrating multicultural education and service learning they all are committed to a vision of education that synthesizes both action and reflection. None of the authors pretend to have all the answers to what this integration should look like nor do they believe that today's social problems are easily ameliorated through education. Rather they share theories, practices, failures and triumphs in order to further the conversation about the importance of aligning what educators say about the world and how they act in and on it. These authors share the view that multicultural education is truly transformative for students only when it includes a community action component and likewise service learning is truly a catalyst for change only when it is done from a multicultural and socially just perspective. It is their hope that the ideas explored in this book will further the work of those who share a commitment to the integration of action and reflection.

Children and Childhood in American Religions Don S. Browning, Bonnie J. Miller-McLemore, 2009-02-16 Whether First Communion or bar mitzvah, religious traditions play a central role in the lives of many American children. In this collection of essays, leading scholars reveal for the first time how various religions interpret, reconstruct and mediate their traditions to help guide children and their parents in navigating the opportunities and challenges of American life. The book examines ten religions among other topics: How the Catholic Church confronts the tension between its teachings about children and actual practice; The Oglala Lakota's struggle to preserve their spiritual tradition; The impact of modernity on Hinduism. Only by discussing the unique challenges faced by all religions and their followers can we take the first step toward a greater understanding for all of us.

Lanterns Marian Wright Edelman, 2013-05-01 I am grateful beyond words for the example of the lanterns shared in this memoir whose lives I hope will illuminate my children s your children s and the paths of countless others coming behind Marian Wright Edelman from the Preface Marian Wright Edelman the most influential children s advocate in the country The Washington Post shares stories from her life at the center of this century s most dramatic civil rights struggles She pays tribute to the extraordinary personal mentors who helped light her way Martin Luther King Jr Robert F Kennedy Fannie Lou Hamer William Sloane Coffin Ella Baker Mae Bertha Carter and many others She celebrates the lives of the great Black women of Bennettsville South Carolina Miz Tee Miz Lucy Miz Kate who along with her parents formed a formidable and loving network of community support for the young Marian Wright as a Black girl growing up in the segregated South We follow the author to Spelman College in the late 1950s when the school was a hotbed of civil rights activism and where through excerpts from her honest and passionate college journal we witness a national leader in the making and meet the people who inspired and empowered her including Dr Benjamin E Mays Howard Zinn and Charles E Merrill Jr Lanterns takes us to Mississippi in the 1960s where Edelman was the first and only Black woman lawyer Her account of those years is a riveting first hand addition to the literature of civil rights The only person I recognized in the menacing crowd as I walked towards the front courthouse steps was a veteran New York Times reporter He neither acknowledged me nor met my eyes I knew then what it was like to be a poor Black person in Mississippi alone And we follow Edelman as she leads Bobby Kennedy on his fateful trip to see Mississippi poverty and hunger for himself a powerful personal experience for the young RFK that helped awaken a nation's conscience to child hunger and poverty. Lanterns is illustrated with thirty of the author's personal photographs and includes A Parent's Pledge and Twenty-five More Lessons for Life, an inspiration to all of us—parents, grandparents, teachers, religious and civic leaders—to guide, protect, and love our children every day so that they will become in Marian Wright Edelman's moving vision the healing agents for national transformation.
