

An anatomical illustration of a human torso from the neck down to the waist. The body is rendered in a translucent blue color, revealing the internal organs. The lungs are shown in a reddish-pink color, the heart is a darker red, and the liver is a large, dark brown organ. The stomach and intestines are depicted in a light pink color. The illustration is set against a black background.

Colborn, J.E. Skandalak, 1993-12-15

This text is designed to provide the medical and health science student with a laboratory dissection manual and self study questions for regional study of the human body. It integrates anatomical facts with the actual appearance and characteristics of the structures exposed.

Guide To Dissection Of The Human Body, A (2nd Edition) Frederick Peter Lisowski, 2004-05-24. In this second edition of A Guide to Dissection of the Human Body certain dissecting instructions have been revised to increase clarity. Methodical and comprehensive, the guide complements various anatomy courses. The terminology has been checked and brought up to date in accordance with the latest version of Terminologia Anatomica 1998. The major aim of this guide remains to provide a well rounded dissecting manual that reinforces but does not replace a textbook of human anatomy. The details of human anatomy covered here are of interest and importance primarily in a medical context. To this end the guide has been designed for medical, dental, osteopathy and physiotherapy students and for students of alternative medicine where dissection of the human body is required. It has also been planned for postgraduate students proceeding to specialise in the various clinical, surgical, radiological, emergency medical and gynaecological sciences and thus need to revise their anatomical knowledge through dissection. It has to be stressed learning anatomy is most efficient and retention is highest when didactic study is combined with the experience of dissection. In using this method one observes, palpates and moves parts of the body. It is a three dimensional and visuo tactile approach to the examination of the human body. Undoubtedly dissection reinforces and expands the knowledge gained from the textbook and from atlases and computerized anatomy programs. The Guide is flexible enough for use in long as well as short courses and is thus structured in such a way that the dissection of the body can be completed in 100 to 160 hours. It provides a link to real living and variable anatomy.      Atlas and Dissection Guide for Comparative Anatomy Saul Wischnitzer, 2006-02-13. Ideal for undergraduate comparative anatomy courses, this classic manual combines comprehensive illustrations, text and a clear, readable design. Organisms include protochordates, lamprey, dogfish, shark, mud puppy and cat.      Dissection Guide for Human Anatomy David A. Morton, Kerry D. Peterson, Kurt H. Albertine, 2004. This is a straightforward, hands-on dissection guide for human gross anatomy. Practical and easy to follow, its ideal balance of succinct descriptive text and detailed illustrations helps students to navigate through a dissection quickly and skillfully. Pairs crisp line drawings with concise bulleted instructions that can be followed easily. Presents separate sections on the trunk, head and neck, pelvis and perineum and upper and lower extremities. Focuses on where and how to cut.
