The Politics of the Prison and the Prisoner Susan Easton, 2018-06-13 In recent years there has been a resurgence of interest in the role of the prison as a source of political ideas and site of political engagement as well as in the prisoner's quest for citizenship. The rising number of prisoners has increased fiscal burdens which has meant that imprisonment has become a more important political issue. There is also greater interest in the prison as a site of political activism and in the generation of radical political ideas within the prison context and the formation of political networks within prison which extend beyond the prison walls. This book considers the prison as a site of political protest, discusses the quest for citizenship and the denial or negation of citizenship in prison, examines the discovery of politics in prison and the role of the prison in increasing political awareness, explores the treatment of political prisoners and reflects on the prisoner as a political problem for politicians negotiating pressures from the media and the public when addressing prisoners' demands. Drawing on a range of contemporary and historical topics such as prison riots, radicalisation and the denial of voting rights and including discussion of cases from the UK, US and Russia, this book examines the prison as a political institution and as a site of both politicisation and political protest. This book will be of interest to students and academics engaged with prisons, penology, punishment and corrections.

The Evolving Protection of Prisoners' Rights in Europe Gaëtan Cliquennois, 2022-12-30 The Evolving Protection of Prisoners' Rights in Europe explores the development of the framing of penal and prison policies by the European Court of Human Rights (ECHR) clarifying the European expectations of national authorities and describing the various models existing in Europe with a view to analysing their mechanisms and highlighting those that seem the most suitable. A new frame of penal and prison policies in Europe has been progressively established by the ECHR and the Council of Europe (CoE) to protect the rights of detainees in Europe. European countries have reacted very diversely to these policies. This book has several key benefits for readers: A global and detailed overview of the ECHR jurisprudence on penal and prison policies through an analysis of its development over time; An analysis of the interactions between the Strasbourg Court and the CoE bodies Committee of Ministers Committee for the Prevention of Torture and their reinforced framing of domestic penal and prison policies; A detailed examination of the impacts of the European case law on penal and prison policies within ten nation states in Europe including Romania which is currently very underresearched; A robust engagement with the diverse national reactions to this European case law as a policy strategy. This book will be of great interest to scholars and students of Law, Criminal Justice, Criminology and Sociology. It will also appeal to civil servants, judges, lawyers etc professionals and policymakers working for the CoE, the European Union and the United Nations Ministries of Justice, prison departments and human rights institutions as well as activists working for INGOs and NGOs.

Jacobs, White & Ovey: The European Convention on Human Rights Robin C. A. White, Clare Ovey, 2010-03-18 The highly experienced and respected authors select the most important case law and give a highly authoritative concise account of the European Convention on Human Rights Focuses on the European Convention itself rather than its implementation in any one member state and so is essential reading for human rights students across Europe Examines each Convention right in turn with a newly revised structure to map even more closely to human rights courses As a lecturer and a practitioner the authors are perfectly placed to provide up to date coverage of Strasbourg case law and explain it in a lively straightforward manner From publisher s website Beyond the Wire Peter Shirlow, Kieran McEvoy, 2008-01-20 This book provides the first detailed examination of the role played by former loyalist and republican prisoners in grass roots conflict transformation work in the Northern Ireland peace process It challenges the assumed passivity of former prisoners and ex combatants Instead it suggests that such individuals and the groups which they formed have been key agents of conflict transformation They have provided leadership in challenging cultures of violence developed practical methods of resolving inter communal conflict and found ways for communities to explore their troubled past In analysing this the authors challenge the sterile demonisation of former prisoners and the processes that maintain their exclusion from normal civic and social life The book is a constructive reminder of the need for full participation of both former combatants and victims in post conflict transformation It also lays out a new agenda for reconciliation which suggests that conflict transformation can and should begin from the extremes The book will be of interest to students of criminology peace and conflict studies law and politics geography and sociology as well as those with a particular interest in the Northern Ireland conflict Guide to Belfast, the Giant's Causeway, and the North of Ireland Robert Esler, 1884
