Biogeography and Ecology of Southern Africa Marinus J.A. Werger,A.C. van Bruggen,2012-12-06 Southern Africa is certainly not a naturally bounded area so that there are several possibilities for delineating it and concepts about its extent Wellington discussed the various possibilities for delineation and suggested that one line stands out more clearly and definitely as a physical boundary than any other namely the South Equatorial Divide the watershed between the Zaïre Cuanza and Rufiji Rivers on the one hand and the Zambezi Cunene and Rovuma Rivers on the other This South Equatorial Divide is indeed a major line of separation for some organisms and is also applicable in a certain geographical sense though it does not possess the slightest significance for many other groups of organisms ecosystems or geographical and physical features of Africa The placing of the northern boundary of southern Africa differs in fact strongly per scientific discipline and is also influenced by practical considerations regarding the possibilities of scientific work as subordinate to certain political realities and historically grown traditions This is illustrated for example in such works as the Flora of Southern Africa where the northern boundary of the area is conceived as the northern and eastern political boundaries of South West Africa South Africa and Swaziland Botswana traditionally included in the area covered by the Flora Zambesiaca thus forms a large wedge in Southern Africa

Management, Co-Management Or No Management? Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations,2003-01-01 This publication contains reports of ten case studies of freshwater fisheries in southern Africa which were conducted in five medium sized lakes in the Democratic Republic of the Congo Malawi Zambia and Zimbabwe Five of the case studies focus on the biological and environmental effects of fishing while the remaining five are concerned with historical and sociological analysis

Davies, Keith F. Walker, 2013-03-09 Our understanding of the ecology of running waters has come a long way during the past few years From being a largely descriptive subject with a few under tones concerned with such things as fisheries pollution or control of blackflies it has evolved into a discipline with hypotheses such as the River Continuum Concept Vannote et al 1980 and even a book suggesting that it offers opportunity for the testing of ecological theory Barnes Minshall 1983 However perusal of the literature reveals that although some of the very early studies were concerned with large rivers references in Hynes 1970 the great mass of the work that has been done on running water has been on streams and small rivers and information on larger rivers is either on such limited topics as fisheries or plankton scattered among the journals or not available to the general limnologist The only exceptions are a few books in this series of publications such as those on the Nile Rz6ska 1976 the Volga Morduckai Boltovskoi 1979 and the Amazon Sioli 1984 and the recent compendium by Whitton 1984 on European rivers among which there are a few that rate as large      Fisheries responses to invasive species in a changing climate Azzurro, E., Bahri, T. (ed.), Valbo-Jørgensen, J. (ed.), Ma, X. (ed.), Strafella, P. (ed.), Vasconcellos, M. (ed.), 2024-07-04 Due to the increasing pressure of a globalized economy and under the effects of a changing climate biological invasions have become a frequent feature of marine and freshwater environments Global fisheries and aquaculture are therefore required to adjust to these changes with the dual aim of reducing the negative ecological consequences caused by these species and making the most of the advantages they might bring Here capitalizing on a wide spectrum of management actions which can be implemented to control and or adapt to aquatic invasions nine measures are presented they can be grouped under environmental social or socioeconomic strategies exploring their potential main challenges and enabling factors The nine measures provided with key recommendations are 1 Develop and manage a commercial fishery 2 Promote recreational harvesting 3 Explore market opportunities 4 Implement outreach programmes 5 Foster stakeholder engagement 6 Implement spatial control 7 Implement biological control 8 Restore ecosystems 9 Do nothing These suggestions discussed among a group of international experts and presented in a synthetic form may be used as a practical resource though not an exhaustive one to aid in the evaluation and identification of appropriate fisheries management responses to aquatic invasive species in the context of climate change While it may not address all the complexities of the subject it provides a starting point for adaptation strategies recognizing the diverse legal cultural and socioeconomic conditions in different fishery contexts offering valuable insights for policymakers fisheries managers and practitioners who have to deal with aquatic invasions Tropical Fish Hobbyist ,1986 Dams, Fish and Fisheries Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations,2001-01-01 The four papers presented in this publication address major fishery issues in relation to dam projects as identified by the World Commission on Dams WCD for the purpose of it s global reviews on Dams and development
