The Cambridge History of Africa J. D. Missionary Work in Africa in Eugène Casalis's Time and Beyond Jamary Molumeli, Michel Prum, 2015-09-04 British influence on what was to become the British Empire and French influence on French speaking Africa have been extensively explored so far but few books focus on French missions in Britain's sphere of influence The French missionary Eugène Casalis represents a perhaps unique experience of a man taking part in the nation building process in an African country Lesotho which belonged to London's reserve Casalis was to become the King's special advisor and is still hailed today as one of the few men who built the country Based on the research of a dozen African and European academics who convened in Morija in 2012 to commemorate the bicentenary of that great Protestant humanist and to analyse Missionary Work in Africa in Eugène Casalis's Time and Beyond this book will provide fresh and stimulating material for readers interested in colonial and post colonial studies missions and religion and cultural and historical exchanges between the Southern part of the African continent and Great Britain The In-Between People Girma Bekele, 2011-03-29 In the midst of partial competing and often hostile forms of human solidarity David Bosch challenged the church to be the Alternative Community called to live in the in between of various opposing socio political economic and ecclesiastical polarities Girma Bekele explores and renews that call in the context of Ethiopia Acute poverty and the lingering question of the balance between ethnic distinctiveness and national unity together constitute a two edged challenge to Christian identity Constructive dialogue that fosters unity is intrinsic to effective response to the plight of the poor This means a turning away from institutional self preservation towards a contextually relevant mission that crosses all human made frontiers Taking Ethiopia as the immediate context Dr Bekele offers important insight to the church in the majority world and beyond The Excluded Past Robert MacKenzie, Peter Stone, 2013-10-23 A ground breaking book that examines the uneasy relationship between archaeology and education Argues that archaeologists have a vital role to play in education alongside other interpreters of the past Contributors from different countries and disciplines show how the exclusion of aspects of the past tends to impoverish and distort social and educational experience Africa, Asia, and South America Since 1800 A. J. H. Latham, 1995 A reference for graduate and undergraduate students presenting the bibliographic details and sometimes describing and evaluating the content of over 5 000 books in English most published since 1945 and many quite recently but also some earlier works of enduring importance A section of works on all three continents is followed by sections on each which first consider the continent as a whole then each country usually by chronological periods and topics such as economics politics and society Indexed only by author and editor but the table of contents is detailed enough to provide adequate access Distributed in the US by St Martin s Press Annotation copyright Book News Inc Portland Or The Making of Modern South Africa Nigel Worden, 2012-01-10 The new edition of The Making of Modern South Africa provides a comprehensive current introduction to the key themes and debates concerning the history of this controversial country Engagingly written the author provides a sharp analytical overview of the new South Africa Examines the major issues in South Africa s history from pre colonial to present including colonial conquest the establishment of racism segregation and apartheid resistance movements and the eventual founding of democracy Contains an additional final chapter that takes the story to the present and considers the challenges and compromises of the first two decades of democracy Updated with material on post apartheid era and current issues in South Africa The only book that gives direct guidance to bibliographical material and readings on key debates Provides a sharp analytical overview of the new South Africa Extensive references are given to the key writings on each topic and the debates between scholars

Fascism: The 'fascist epoch' Roger Griffin, Matthew Feldman, 2004 The nature of fascism has been hotly contested by scholars since the term was first coined by Mussolini in 1919 However for the first time since Italian fascism appeared there is now a significant degree of consensus amongst scholars about how to approach the generic term namely as a revolutionary form of ultra nationalism Seen from this perspective all forms of fascism have three common features anticonservatism a myth of ethnic or national renewal and a conception of a nation in crisis This collection includes articles that show this new consensus which is inevitably contested as well as making available material which relates to aspects of fascism independently of any sort of consensus and also covering fascism of the inter and post war periods This is a comprehensive selection of texts reflecting both the extreme multi faceted nature of fascism as a phenomenon and the extraordinary divergence of interpretations of fascism Is Apartheid Really Dead? Pan Africanist Working Class Cultural Critical

Perspectives Julian Kunnie, 2018-02-23 Is Apartheid Really Dead Pan Africanist Working Class Cultural Critical Perspectives is an engaging and incisive book that radically challenges the widespread view that post apartheid society is a liberated society specifically for the Black working class and rural peasant populations Julian Kunnie's central contention in this book is that the post apartheid government was the product of a serious compromise between the former ruling white led Nationalist Party and the African National Congress resulting in a continuation of the erstwhile system of monopoly capitalism and racial privilege albeit revised by the presence of a burgeoning Black political and economic elite The result of this historic compromise is the persistent subjugation and impoverishment of the Black working class by the designs of global capital as under apartheid this time managed by a Black elite in collaboration with the powerful white capitalist establishment in South Africa Is Apartheid Really Dead engages in a comprehensive analysis of the South African conflict and the negotiated settlement of apartheid rule and explores solutions to the problematic of continued Black oppression and exploitation Rooted in a Black Consciousness philosophical framework unlike most other works on post apartheid South Africa this book provides a carefully delineated history of the South African struggle from the pre colonial era through the present What is additionally distinctive is the author's reference to and discussion of the Pan Africanist movement in the global struggle for Black liberation highlighting the aftermath of the 1945 Pan African meeting in Manchester The author analyzes the South African struggle within the context of Pan Africanism and the continent wide movement to rid Africa of colonialism's legacy highlighting the neo colonial character of much of Africa's post independence nations arguing that South Africa has followed similar patterns One of the attractive qualities of this book is that it discusses correctives to the perceived situation of neo colonialism in South Africa by delving into issues of gender oppression and the primacy of women's struggle working class exploitation and Black worker mobilization environmental despoliation and indigenous religio cultural responses and educational disenfranchisement and the need for radically new structures and policies in educational transformation Ultimately Is Apartheid Really Dead postulates revolutionary change as a solution undergirded with all of the aforementioned ingredients While anticipating and articulating a revolutionary socialist vision for post apartheid South Africa this book is tempered by a realistic appraisal of the dynamics of the global economy and the legacy of colonial oppression and capitalism in South Africa

Johann W.N. Tempelhoff, 2018-12-01 Geologists physicists and ecologists currently promote the idea of a post Holocene epoch the Anthropocene As a result of constant innovation and modernisation in the fields of engineering natural science management studies and environmental studies there has been a growing awareness of the intrinsic interaction between humankind and the environment Humankind has become part of the environmental dynamics to the extent that they are literally able to change ecosystems Nowhere is the impact more evident than in the anthropogenic engagement with the hydrosphere from the smallest pool of water to the earth's atmosphere Comprehensive infrastructure development in water and sanitation the growing trend to seek additional resources in the form of groundwater desalinated seawater and recycled wastewater as well as special attention being given to capturing and preserving rainwater bear evidence of a timely response to climate change population growth and rapid development in many water stressed regions of the world The purpose of the book is to provide a historical overview of the manner in which South Africa s water resources have been governed from a time when the Union of South Africa was formed in 1910 up to 2008 a time of a growing global awareness of the potential impact that climate change may have on water resources in a key region of southern Africa notable for increasing levels of aridity and more erratic rainfall patterns This focus on the history of water affairs in South Africa makes it possible for scholars to comprehend the contemporary transitions made in the country s water governance system since the establishment in 2014 of the Department of Water and Sanitation The focus is on the Water Energy Food nexus a strategy which holistically contemplates the governance and use of water from the perspective of the interconnection between water energy and food as resources
