than he did at being a physician wrote biographer Linda Wagner Martin but during his long lifetime Williams excelled at both. He considered himself a socialist and opponent of capitalism and is probably spinning in his grave at the current state of things economically and socially. One of his best known poems is an apology poem taught to most American children in elementary school called This Is Just to Say. I have eaten the plums that were in the icebox and which you were probably saving for breakfast. Forgive me they were delicious so sweet and so cold. Dorothy Day 1897-1980 was an American journalist and social activist who became most famous for founding with Peter Maurin the Catholic Worker movement, a nonviolent pacifist movement which combines direct aid for the poor and homeless with nonviolent direct action on their behalf. Dorothea Lange 1895-1965 was a hugely influential American documentary photographer and photojournalist best known for her Depression era work for the Farm Security Administration (FSA). Lange's photographs humanized the tragic consequences of the Great Depression and profoundly influenced the development of documentary photography. One of Robert Coles' great passions. Erik Erikson 1902-1994 was a Danish German American developmental psychologist and psychoanalyst known for his theories on social development of human beings. He may be most famous for coining the phrase identity crisis. Erikson's greatest innovation was to postulate not five stages of development as Freud has done with his psychosexual stages but eight. Erik Erikson believed that every human being goes through a certain number of stages to reach his or her full development, theorizing eight stages that a human being goes through from birth to death. Walker Percy 1916-1990 was an American southern author best known for his philosophical novels set in and around New Orleans, the first of which The Moviegoer won the National Book Award for Fiction in 1962. He devoted his literary life to the exploration of the dislocation of man in the modern age. His work displays a unique combination of existential questioning, Southern sensibility and deep Catholic faith, all themes of great interest to Coles. Bruce Frederick Joseph Springsteen, born September 23, 1949, has long been in Robert Coles' orbit and he once held a concert as a fundraiser for Coles' magazine Double Take, now defunct. Springsteen's most successful studio albums Born to Run and Born in the U.S.A. epitomize his penchant for finding grandeur in the struggles of daily life in America and the latter album made him one of the most recognized artists of the 1980s within the United States.
