Science Fiction Serials Roy Kinnard, 2015-08-13 Destination Moon George Pal s 1950 Technicolor epic is generally cited as the first noteworthy science fiction film Usually ignored or casually dismissed in genre histories are the serials the low budget chapterplays exhibited as Saturday matinee fare and targeted almost exclusively at children. Lacking stars and top notch writers or directors the serials went largely unnoticed and unacknowledged by either critics or by the film industry. Yet serials were financially important to the Hollywood studios and were often free to exploit risky or outlandish subjects that producers of distinguished movies would not touch. Influential serials such as The Phantom Empire 1935 and Flash Gordon 1936 finally brought science fiction themes to the big screen. Those serials and 29 others are exhaustively covered in this work which provides complete cast and credit information along with plot descriptions and historical commentary for each serial. Video distributors if available are also listed.

In the Nick of Time William C. Cline, 2012-02-06

By the famous Big Reel columnist the story of serials from Universal's 1930 The Indians Are Coming to Columbia's 1956 Blazing the Overland Trail. Fifteen fascinating chapters explain the importance of cliffhangers to the industry as audience builders and product leaders. The serials provided training for actors and served as a technical university for people who later made the television industry work. An appendix lists in order of release all of the sound serials from 1930 through 1956 showing titles, releasing companies, chapter titles, directors and several cast members. Superb photographs.
