FITNESS FOR DRUMMERS

This INSTRUCTIONAL DVD features Justin Spencer executing and explaining the fundamental stretching and workout routines, specific to improving your drumming. Justin examines the importance of stretching before and after performing, he isolates select muscle groups that fatigue easily and require specific attention for drummers, and demonstrates techniques for increasing your stamina, which will improve stick control and endurance, enabling you to perform better and longer. He also discusses his own experience with injury, the impact to his drumming career and the strategies that enabled him to recover with a stronger level of performance than he had prior to his injury. Fitness for Drummers is designed to cover the basic core workouts, with simple everyday equipment that are the core elements to improving drumming speed, control and endurance.

JUSTIN SPENCER'S innovative percussive style has helped develop his band "Recycled Percussion" as one of the most powerfully intense drumming and percussion performance groups, touring internationally for more than a decade. Justin's pioneering vision is based in a seemingly magnetic attraction to concepts that are bold, risky and exploding with energy. Born in Goffstown, New Hampshire, Justin began drumming as a child and assembled the first "Recycled Percussion" group in high school. The foundation of the band built around the concept of drumming on anything but drums. The show has since developed into a masterful array of music and rhythms that span what have become signatures of Recycled Percussion's high energy show, including a barrage of industrial metal, monstrous power tools, a huge drum kit and an insane beat-box routine backed up by the sounds of DJ Dirty Soul. Touring nationally 11 months each year, with casts expanding to support new shows, Justin Spencer's tireless pursuit of developing percussion entertainment and music will continue to grow for years to come.

RECYCLED PERCUSSION is a power-percussion performance group that plays a style of music known as "Junk Rock," derived from their massive stage set up, where they drum a mixture of hard rock, hip-hop and funk on pieces of metal harvested from the industrial wasteland. With one of the largest tours in the US, Recycled Percussion has been named "Best Major Performing Group" two years running, and continues to expand internationally bringing their massive sound and monstrous show to audiences all over the world.
