Financial Institutions, Markets and Services Dr. SADASIVAM RANI, Dr. JAYANTHI.S.V.GOPALA SARMA, Dr. PUCHA SWATHI, Dr. KRATI KULSHRESTHA, 2024-07-12 This book delves into the structure operation and expansion of India's financial system. For students of finance and money management, gaining a thorough understanding of how the financial system functions is crucial for effectively analyzing and comprehending monetary and financial policies. The first edition of this book provides a comprehensive view of the entire landscape of banking and non-banking institutions as well as the various markets for both short-term and long-term financial instruments and services. It covers significant issues within the Indian financial system such as financial inclusion, the new pension system, insurance principles, the auctioning of treasury bills, and foreign direct investment in India's retail sector. In addition, the book offers an in-depth analysis of derivatives, including their role in the global economy, market design, major policy changes, and the development of the derivatives market both in India and internationally. Recent financial reforms and current trends in the Indian financial industry are highlighted to reflect the latest developments. The evolution of a sophisticated financial system in India, especially since the early 1990s, has also led to the growth of a robust financial services sector. The efficiency of this emerging system is closely linked to the quality and range of financial services offered by non-banking financial companies, which, although still developing, are increasingly significant to the financial system. Financial services are broadly categorized into fund asset-based and fee-based advisory services, and this book addresses both categories. While focusing on the analytical aspects from the perspectives of both non-banking financial intermediaries and their clients, the book also thoroughly examines legal, procedural, tax, accounting, and regulatory dimensions. To facilitate learning and assessment, the text includes illustrative problems and review questions. A distinctive feature of the book is its blend of theoretical and practical insights into the contemporary Indian financial services sector. It is intended primarily for educators and advanced students in finance, management, commerce, and accounting, but it also serves as a valuable resource for practicing professionals. The book provides an overview of non-banking financial companies (NBFCs) as regulated by the RBI, including theoretical, conceptual, and regulatory aspects of lease financing and other fund-based services. It also covers legal, analytical, and regulatory facets of hire purchase, finance, consumer credit, and the institutional and operational framework of merchant banking in India. The analysis extends to prominent merchant banking activities such as mergers and acquisitions, stock broking, and credit rating.

Reform and Regulation of Economic Institutions in Afghanistan Haroun Rahimi, 2022-10-21 Taliban's return to power in August of 2021 caused everyone to ask why the two decades of institution building in Afghanistan failed. This book investigates the root causes of failed reforms in an important area of reform: trade and credit institutions. It explains why the efforts to reform and regulate the economic institutions in Afghanistan failed and what we can learn from their failure. It draws on more than eighty interviews with Afghan merchants, business leaders, money dealers, and government officials in five major provinces of Afghanistan to identify the barriers to access to credit and to understand the performance of formal institutions banks and their informal counterparts This book finds that Afghan merchants were often unable to benefit from the offerings of formal institutions for three reasons a highly volatile business climate uncertain contract enforcement and an unsupportive property rights system Several informal institutions have emerged that alleviate some of the credit constraints on Afghan merchants These informal institutions include risk sharing trade credit operations money dealers short term working capital loans Gerawee and Sar qufli Although these informal institutions have helped Afghan merchants survive they are unable to support economic growth This book argues that countries like Afghanistan should solve their institutional dilemma by adopting an approach which the author calls Grounded Institutional Reform Using this approach a country would formalize existing informal institutions a development that would vastly increase their effectiveness While this book focuses on credit and trade in Afghanistan the analysis of formalizing the informal can easily be extended to solve other types of economic problems in similarly situated countries This book should be of great interest to scholars policymakers and development workers in the field of law finance and development

Non-bank Financial Institutions and Capital Markets in Turkey Lalit Raina,Marie-Renée Bakker,2003-01-01 Currently Turkey s financial services industry is in an early stage of development with credit markets dominated by banking and capital markets dominated by Government securities Longstanding macro economic instability and inflation have discouraged investment in financial assets and crowded out funding for the private sector. The resulting lack of depth and breadth has made the financial sector in Turkey vulnerable to shocks resulting in repeated crises and has diminished its intermediation efficiency. This study analyzes the state of development and prospects for future growth of Turkish non bank financial institutions and capital markets. It identifies the key policy issues that should be addressed in order to develop non bank financial institutions in Turkey. Some of the themes included in the discussion and policy recommendations are mobilizing savings building an institutional investor base comprising insurance companies private pension funds and mutual funds developing equity markets debt markets and derivative markets developing leasing factoring and venture capital companies and strengthening confidence in financial markets through improved corporate governance.

Resources, Power, and Economic Interest Distribution in China Zhang Yishan, Yu Weisheng, Wang Guangliang, 2021-03-30
Based on an investigation of economic and resource allocation factors and their close relation to economic power this book puts forward the power paradigm a new economic research paradigm revealing the relationship among power institutions and resource allocation mechanisms helping to establish a valid connection between macroeconomics and microeconomics and shedding light on real world economic issues. Drawing on classical neoclassical and institutional economics and how these schools of thought have impacted on economic development in China over the past century the book sheds light on distribution processes and argues that enterprise contracts market pricing policies laws and regulations can all be classified as interest distribution mechanisms informed by a variety of power games. The power paradigm suggests that to achieve full utility and an optimal allocation of resources to foster social welfare power reciprocity needs to be shared among different economic agents at the same hierarchy level while making sure that power and responsibility are equivalent for each economic agent. The book will appeal to research students and academics interested in heterodox economics pluralist approaches institutional economics and game theory.

Internationalisation and Economic Institutions Mark Thatcher, 2007-07-19
This book examines when how and why internationalisation affects national economic institutions. It confronts questions at the heart of debates in political economy and comparative politics. What does internationalisation of markets mean? Who are its carriers in domestic arenas? Through which mechanisms does it affect decisions about national institutional reform? What are institutional outcomes in the face of internationalisation? The book responds to its questions by looking at key economic institutions in five strategic sectors: securities trading telecommunications electricity airlines and postal services. It compares across four countries that represent different varieties of capitalism namely Britain France

Germany and Italy over the period between 1965 and 2005 Thus it combines cross national historical and cross sectoral comparisons The author distinguishes technological and economic forms of internationalisation from policy forms notably decisions in powerful overseas nations and supranational regulation He argues that contrary to expectations the first was met with institutional inertia In contrast policy forms of internationalisation namely reforms in the US and European Union regulation played significant roles in undermining long standing national institutions The book explores the mechanisms whereby policy forms of internationalisation were influential by looking at the strategies coalitions and resources of key actors in national arenas It also shows that institutional outcomes were surprising all four countries albeit through different routes adopted increasingly similar reforms of economic institutions privatisation the ending of monopolies and delegation to independent regulatory agencies The book rejects the view that technological and economic forms of internationalisation drive institutional change It suggests that policy forms of internationalisation are more important because they become part of domestic decision making and aid the reform of well established national institutions

Monetary Fund,2018-12-06 Financial systems in the GCC have developed significantly over the last couple of decades but there appears to be further room for progress The development of bank and equity markets has been supported by a combination of buoyant economic activity a booming Islamic finance sector and financial sector reforms As a result financial systems have deepened and overall the level of financial development compares well with emerging markets However it still lags advanced economies and other than for Saudi Arabia appears to be lower than would be expected given economic fundamentals such as income levels Financial development in the GCC has relied to a large extent on banks while debt markets and nonbank financial institutions are less developed and access to equity markets is narrow The non bank financial institutions pension funds asset management and finance companies and insurance remain small Domestic debt markets are underdeveloped While equity markets appear to be well developed by market size they are dominated by a few large and often public sector companies GCC countries have made progress on financial inclusion but gaps remain in some important areas Access to finance for SMEs women and youth in particular appears relatively low This may partly reflect social norms low levels of participation of women in the labor market and private sector activity and the high level of youth unemployment Further financial development and inclusion is likely to be associated with stronger economic growth in the GCC countries While there is uncertainty surrounding the empirical estimates in the paper further progress with financial development and or inclusion is likely to go hand in hand with stronger growth The growth benefits however are likely to vary across countries depending on the current level of financial development and inclusion To realize these growth benefits reforms to strengthen access to finance for SMEs women and youth are needed Addressing institutional weaknesses and promoting financial sector competition would help boost access to finance for SMEs Reforms to enhance financial literacy and improve SME governance structures and insolvency frameworks are critical Other reforms encouraging female and youth employment and the use of emerging technologies in finance also appear promising Additional reforms to foster financial development should focus on developing debt markets and making stock markets more accessible to a larger pool of companies and investors To grow domestic debt markets the authorities should develop a government yield curve seek to increase market liquidity through secondary market trading and ensure requirements for private issuance are not onerous Stock market reforms should focus on enhancing corporate governance and investor protection removing restrictions on foreign ownership and encouraging financial market competition The latter would also help the development of non bank financial institutions
