

was no agreement among respondents' ranking of the constraints is reported. The coefficient of concordance (W) showed that 72% of the respondents were in agreement with the rankings of the constraints. Insufficient supply of chemicals was identified as the most critical constraint, followed by inadequate spraying personnel. Favoritism by the spraying personnel was the least constraint.

The results are consistent with the findings of Abukwah et al (2018) who identified strategies to the cocoa mass spraying program to include insufficient supply of chemicals, misting of pesticides by sprayers and inadequate funds for spraying machines. They also reported that the government spraying program to control pests and diseases has not reached its full potential because it has not been able to fulfill its mandate of ensuring that cocoa farms are sprayed four times a year between July and November.

Another problem was inadequate spraying personnel. According to the farmers' the number of spraying personnel in the area is too small compared to the size of cocoa farms in the area. As much as 74% of the farmers mentioned the need for additional spraying personnel in their communities.

Constant breakdown of spraying machines delays spraying. In some instances, farmers are given the chemicals to spray their cocoa farms at their own cost. In addition, some farmers also reported that because the gangs were paid on the basis of area covered, they tended to spray as much acreage as possible instead of targeting the capids (insects) on the canopies. Farmers also identified theft of chemical sprays as a constraint. Discrimination and favoritism was the least constraint.

8. Conclusion

From a farmers' perspective, the government spraying program which was introduced to eradicate pests and diseases affecting cocoa production in the country has been ineffective in the study area as a result of problems facing the implementation of the program. Logistical problems, poor spraying and failure to follow the recommended spraying regime pose a big challenge to the successful implementation of the government spraying program in the district. There is therefore the need for the Government to ensure that right quantities of chemicals are made available at the right time to ensure an effective spraying regime. In addition, CODAPED must closely monitor the work of the spraying personnel to ensure that they do a thorough job.

Regional Economic

Communities and Peacebuilding in Africa Victor Adetula, Redie Bereketeab, Cyril Obi, 2020-12-30 This book outlines challenges to the effective operation of regional economic communities RECs with regards to peacebuilding in Africa. Critically examining these issues from an interdisciplinary perspective with a focus on comparative analysis of the status, role and performances of the Economic Community of West African States ECOWAS and Intergovernmental Authority on Development IGAD, it examines particular constraints to their effective participation in regional initiatives. Focussing on inadequate technical capabilities, the complicity of state and non-state actors in conflicts within a region, the domestic politics of member states, it additionally addresses related theories and practices of peacekeeping, security, development and the peacebuilding nexus. It also engages provisioning regionalism and regional peacekeeping interventions, the legal and institutional framework of RECs and civil society and peacebuilding. Fundamentally, the book asks how effective the alliances and partnerships are in promoting regional peace and security and how much they are compromised by the intervention of external powers and actors, exploring new ideas and actions that may strengthen capacities to address the peacebuilding challenges on the continent effectively. This book will be of key interest to scholars and students of African politics and studies, peace and security studies, regionalism studies, policy practitioners in the field of African peacebuilding and more broadly to international relations. The Geopolitical Economy of Football Simon Chadwick, Paul Widdop, Michael M. Goldman, 2024-11-29 This book examines the new geopolitical economy of football, exploring the intersection of money, politics and power in the world's most popular sport. Against a background of international conflict and the emergence of powerful new state actors in world sport, the book considers how football investments and events have become instruments of soft power and industrial development and how football plays an increasingly significant role in global politics and international relations. Featuring the work of leading researchers from around the world and case studies from five continents, the book examines key contemporary issues such as the Gulf States' interests in European soccer and debates around sportswashing and human rights, the global politics of artificial intelligence (AI) in football and football's complex relationship with migration and identity in Africa and Latin America. It considers the seismic impact of Russia's invasion of Ukraine on the geopolitics of football, on the shifting landscape of the governance of football in Europe, the rise of Major League Soccer and the Messi effect, and how the development of China and India into global economic superpowers is reflected in their vision for their domestic football leagues. The book also considers the importance of Fédération Internationale de Football Association (FIFA) and their commercial partners and stakeholders as geopolitical actors on the world stage. This is a fascinating read for anybody with an interest in sport, political economy, international politics, globalisation or development.

Aging and Health in Africa Pranitha Maharaj, 2012-08-16

Population aging is a matter of global concern It often occurs in tandem with changes in the health profile of the population In Africa many countries are already facing a high burden of communicable diseases However as more and more children survive childhood and move on to adult years and old age they are also more likely to experience health problems associated with the aging process Population aging in Africa is occurring in the context of high levels of poverty changing family structures an immense disease burden fragile health systems and weak or poorly managed government institutions This book shows that aging is likely to lead to increased social and economic demands for the continent However most national governments in Africa have not begun to address the issue of how to respond effectively to the needs of the older population This will require a better understanding of the socio economic and demographic situation of the older population in Africa This book fills the gaps that exist by exploring the social realities of population aging in Africa It also focuses on the policy and programmatic responses gaps and future challenges related to aging across the continent
