Silver, 2012-12-06 It is difficult to overstate the importance of personal consumption both to individual consumers and to the economy While consumer are recognized as valuing market goods and services for the activities they can construct from them in the frameworks of several disciplines consequences of the characteristics of goods and services they use in these activities have not been well studied In the discourse to follow I will contrast knowledge yielding and conventional goods and services as factors in the construction of activities that consumers engage in when they are not in the workplace Consumers will be seen as deciding on non work activities and the inputs to these activities according to their objectives and the values and cumulated skills they hold I will suggest that knowledge content in these activities can be efficient for consumer objectives and also have important externalities through its effect on productivity at work and economic growth The exposition will seek to elaborate these points and contribute to multi disciplinary dialogue on consumption It takes as its starting point the contention that consumption is simultaneously an economic and social psychological process and that integration of content can contribute to explanation Resources in Education , 1997 ACTIVITIES FOR CHILDREN IN THERAPY Susan T. Dennison, Connie M. Knight, 1999-01-01 Activities for Children in Therapy provides the mental health professional with a wide variety of age appropriate activities which are simultaneously fun and therapeutic for the five to twelve year old troubled child These activities have been designed as enjoyable games that both the therapist and child can play in the context of therapy This latest edition of the text takes much of the hard work out of planning and implementing this therapy with children The activities are designed to build a significant child therapist relationship surface problem areas aid in resolving those problems and provide a healthy closure to the therapy relationship This new edition also provides a comprehensive listing of books with other therapeutic intervention ideas bibliotherapy materials that compliment the activity chapters of this book assessment scales for evaluating youngsters at the onset of treatment and a sample child assessment for individual therapy It will be of use to professionals who provide counseling to children such as social workers psychologists guidance counselors speech language pathologists art therapists and other related professionals

Radical Equality in Education Joanne Larson, 2014-02-03 Tinkering with the current educational system from within has not provided a just and equitable education for all children In this book acclaimed education theorist Joanne Larson poses basic questions about the nature and purpose of schooling Proposing that what is needed is a new purpose that is more consistent with contemporary knowledge production processes one that moves beyond the either or binary of preparing workers citizens in a competitive global economy or a democracy Larson argues that the only real solution is to start over in U S education the purpose of schooling should be to facilitate human learning meaning making and knowledge production toward just and equitable education for all Radical Equality in Education offers a new ontological starting point and a new theoretical framing that would follow from it articulates theoretical curricular pedagogical and assessment principles that frame a real plan for fundamental change in American education and presents examples of what these ideas might look like in schools and communities
