Hardscrabble Days:

Pueblo, Hardscrabble, Greenhorn Janet Leconte, 1980-11-01 Pueblo Hardscrabble and Greenhorn were among the very first white settlements in Colorado. In their time they were the most westerly settlements in American territory and they attracted a lively and varied population of mavericks from more civilized parts of the world from what became New Mexico to the south and from as far east as England. The inhabitants of these little walled towns thrived on the rigor and freedom of frontier life. Many were ex trappers full already of frontier expertise. Others were enthusiastic neophytes happy to escape problems back home. They sought Mexican wives in Taos or Santa Fe or allied themselves with the native Indian tribes or both. The fur trade and the illegal liquor trade with the Indians were at first the mainstays of their economy. As time went on they extended their activities to farming illegally on the land owned by the Indians and trading their crops and other trade articles. They enjoyed themselves hunting gambling trading and with their women freely mixing Spanish Indian and Anglo American cultures in a community without laws or bigotry. This idyll was brought to a close by the Mexican War and the lure of the California Gold Rush of 1849. The expectation of a railroad on the Arkansas brought many of the settlers back only to be scared away again by the massacre of Pueblo by the Utes in 1854 of which Mrs Leconte has reconstructed a very complete record. When the gold seekers rushed to Pikes Peak in 1858 and stayed to establish farms and towns some of the pioneers of the early days returned with them and shared their skills and knowledge to make possible the permanent settlements that resulted. Mrs Leconte has documented the history of the region from diaries letters and the reports of such distinguished passers by as J C Fremont and Francis Parkman. The result is a complete and compelling account of a neglected part of American frontier life. It is illustrated with more than fifty photographs and contemporary drawings. Forward from this Moment Leonard Pitts, 2009 From Pulitzer Prize winning columnist Leonard Pitts Jr his first ever collection In Her Mother's House Wendy Ho, 1999 Unwilling to see Asian American women silenced beneath the noisy discourses of feminists cultural nationalists and Eurocentric historians Wendy Ho turns to specific spoken stories of mothers and daughters. Against reductive tendencies of scholarship she places her own conversations with her China born grandmother and her U S born mother and her own readings of other Asian American women writers. She finds in the writings of Maxine Hong Kingston Amy Tan and Fae Myenne Ng not only complex mother daughter relationships but many faceted relationships to fathers family community and culture. Always resisting the simplistic explanations In Her Mother's House brings Asian American women's experience as mothers and daughters to the forefront of gender and ethnicity. Dead in Their Tracks
