Epoch and Artist David Jones, 2013-11-07 Written between the late 1930s and the late 1950s Epoch and Artist represents those essays that David Jones wished to see preserved in his lifetime Beginning with his most personal reflections upon Welsh culture the selection turns next to Jones's thoughts on the position of art and the artist in the twentieth century concluding with writings on the nature of epoch and European culture and history

Epoch and Artist: Selected Writings, by David Jones Tony Stoneburner, 1965 Epoch and Artist David Jones, 1959

Divine Cartographies W. David Soud, 2016-09-01 Recent critical studies of late modernism have explored the changing sense of both history and artistic possibility that emerged in the years surrounding World War II However relatively little attention has been devoted to the impact of poets' theological deliberations on their visions of history and their poetic strategies Divine Cartographies God History and Poiesis in W B Yeats David Jones and T S Eliot triangulates key texts as attempts to map theologically driven visions of the relation between history and eternity W David Soud considers several poems of Yeats's final and most fruitful engagement with Indic traditions Jones's The Anathemata and Eliot's Four Quartets For these three poets working at the height of their powers that project was inseparable from reflection on the relation between the individual self and God it was also bound up with questions of theodicy subjectivity and the task of the poet in the midst of historical trauma Drawing on the fields of Indology theology and history of religions as well as literary criticism Soud explores in depth and detail how in these texts theology is poetics

David Jones and Rome Jasmine Hunter Evans, 2022-02-03 This interdisciplinary and archival study explores the reception of ancient Rome in the artistic literary and philosophical works of David Jones 1895-1974 the Anglo Welsh Roman Catholic First World War veteran For Jones the twentieth century was a period of crisis an age of conflict disillusionment and cultural decay all of which he saw as evidence of the decline of Western civilisation Across his lifetime Jones would create a dynamic vision of ancient Rome in an attempt both to understand and to challenge this situation His reimagining of Rome was not founded on a classical education Instead it was fashioned from his lived experience extensive reading and most importantly his engagement with four areas of contemporary discourse that were themselves built upon intricate and conflicting representations of Rome British political rhetoric cyclical history the Catholic cultural revival and the Welsh nationalist movement Tracing Jones's developing approach to Rome across these contexts can provide a way into his art and thought Whether in his poetic fragments watercolours essays letters marginalia or unique painted inscriptions Jones strove to question complicate and remake Rome's relationship with modernity In this way Rome appears in Jones's works both as a symbol of transhistorical imperialism totalitarianism and the mechanisation of life and simultaneously as the cultural and religious progenitor of the West and in particular of Wales with which artists must creatively reconnect if decline was to be avoided David Jones: A Christian Modernist? Jamie Callison, Erik Tønning, Anna Johnson, Paul Fiddes, 2017-11-01 David Jones A Christian Modernist is a major reassessment of the work of the poet artist and essayist David Jones 1895 1974 in light of the complex ambiguous idea of a Christian modernism His richly experimental and palimpsestic poetry art and thought drew extensively on Christian tradition and symbolism as a key to the future rejecting a technocratic and utilitarian modernity in favour of a revitalised culture of sign and sacrament This volume examines historical influences on Jones's development his impassioned engagement with the idea of modernity and with modernist literature and art the theological sources and resonances of his work and contemporary or late modern perspectives on his achievement Understanding Sublimation in Freudian Theory and Modernist Writing Luke Thurston, 2024-07-03 What is at stake in Freud's enduring preoccupation with a process supposedly diverting sexuality into cultural activity In this study a leading scholar of psychoanalysis and literature re opens the old question of sublimation in a critical reading that explores one of the last remaining puzzles of Freudian thought Using the rigorous framework provided by Jean Laplanche Luke Thurston resituates sublimation as an unfinished Freudian concept bound up with a much wider history of philosophical and literary reflection Exploring the misunderstanding and reinvention of sublimation both in accounts of cultural history and in Lacan's celebrated reading of Antigone Thurston challenges some of the prevalent assumptions still seen in contemporary theory Thurston links his critical investigation of psychoanalysis to modernist literature discovering both parallels and alternatives to Freud's idea of sublimation in little known works by May Sinclair and David Jones The study concludes by arguing that these modernist artists both of whom were significantly affected by trauma during the First World War produced work radically at odds with the established canons of representation and that this anti hermeneutic art can be linked to a Copernican sublimation a process not controlled by the ego but vitalizing it and decentring its habitual structure Rewriting the Word "God" Romana Huk, 2025 Innovative poetry philosophy theology and new sciences converge in the project of rewriting the word God In Rewriting the Word God Romana Huk examines the substantive connections between innovative poetry of the last century and contemporary theology and philosophy Along the way we encounter ten poets who have without abandoning their inherited or chosen faith traditions radically rethought conceptualizations of divinity human ontology and the real From the startlingly proto phenomenological encounters with nature by Gerard Manley Hopkins to the post deconstructive pursuit of oracular speech in Fanny Howe these poets have found inspiration in a wide range of sources from ancient religious texts to modern philosophical movements But what unites them is their willingness to continually change experiment and challenge the status quo both in their religious beliefs and their poetic practice Huk shows how these poets have used their work to explore ultimate questions of life and death meaning and purpose and the relationship between humans and materiality humans and other humans which for these poets sheds light on humanity s relationship with the divine She also highlights the ways in which they have engaged with social and political issues in their poetry to speak out against injustice and oppression Rewriting the Word God is a thought provoking and inspiring work that will challenge current perceptions of both religion and poetry from new positions at the intersection of faith art philosophy science literary theory and culture David Jones on Religion,

Politics, and Culture David Jones,2018-06-28 David Jones author of In Parenthesis the great poem of World War I is increasingly recognized as a major voice in the first generation of British modernist writers Acclaimed by the likes of T S Eliot W B Yeats and W H Auden his writing was deeply informed by his Catholic faith and Welsh blood This book makes available for the first time a number of previously unpublished statements by Jones that open new perspectives on his own work and the religious political and cultural engagements of British modernism more broadly Annotated throughout with detailed commentaries exploring the historical context of each document the volume presents the restored text of Jones s essay on Hitler and includes a letter to Neville Chamberlain an unfinished essay on Gerard Manley Hopkins and the transcript of an interview with Jones a year before his death These reveal an unknown side of Jones and give fresh insight into the influences and assumptions of 20th century British literary culture Advances in Databases and Information to encourage researchers and practitioners to discuss and investigate data mining research and implementation issues and to share experience in developing and deploying data mining systems Of Making Many Books M. Edwards, 1990-10-19 Epoch and Artists David Jones, 1959 The Paintings of David Jones Nicolette Gray, 1989 The Architect , 1891 The Christian Literary Imagination Michael Scott, Michael J. Collins, 2024-09-24 What is the Christian literary imagination That question was put to the writers who have contributed to this collection of essays They were asked in answering it to choose and write about a work of literature that seemed to them to illustrate one of the varied ways in which the Christian imagination sees the world to define by example the meaning of the term A variety of beliefs or indeed unbeliefs are expressed by the contributors and authors they selected to discuss But what the essays have in common is an inquiry into the nature of belief and the means by which the reader's imagination can itself be stirred through the work of the author under discussion The book is structured chronologically with essays on literature ranging from Anglo Saxon England to 21st Century America but the contributors show a freedom of movement and reference across the centuries in their essays sometimes deliberately juxtaposing the historical with the contemporary What emerges from the collection is a shared inquiry into the enduring Christian vision of God's engagement with the world Dai Greatcoat David Jones, 2015-07-23 Through a selection of letters to friends and literary peers Dai Greatcoat presents a rare insight into the life of the poet and artist David Jones and in so doing offers an autobiographical portrait of the author in his own words Art World , 1917 Newsletter Art Libraries Society, 1969 Art and the Human Spirit Edward Howard Griggs, 1908
