Equitable Forest Diversity And Community In Sustainable Resource Management:

The Equitable Forest Carol J. Pierce Colfer, 2005 Publisher Description Realizing Community Futures Ravi Prabhu, Fergus Sinclair, Jerry Vanclay, 2012-05-04 This revolutionary book is a practical guide for helping communities in any location or context from a fishing community in England to a logging town in Canada to a farming village in India to develop a collective vision of a prosperous and sustainable future and a road map for mobilizing and managing their natural resources to realize that future It explains in a step by step manner how to use a process of participatory modelling to structure people's learning their understanding of the natural systems they depend upon and how this can lead to better social and environmental outcomes The book is for communities and professional natural resources managers who want to use this powerful tool to help people share visions of the future they want and to take appropriate immediate action to turn them into reality It introduces both the theory and practice of participatory modelling using everyday language and a variety of accessible and successful examples The result is a practical useful and accessible guide for practicing real successful community based natural resource management anywhere in any circumstances for community prosperity The Equitable Forest Carol J. Pierce Colfer, 2010-09-30 Research and policy toward sustainable forest management have often paid incomplete attention to the well being of local populations and their activities as forest managers Where there has been recognition of local communities the roles of marginalized groups and women are usually not well understood This is despite evidence that equity and social relationships including gender roles are important factors in the ways that communities manage forest resources overall and adapt to change Forests for People and the Environment : CIFOR Annual Report 2004 Center for International Forestry Research, Cifor., 2005-01-01 Negotiated Learning Irene Guijt, 2010-09-30 The first book to critically examine how monitoring can be an effective tool in participatory resource management Negotiated Learning draws on the first hand experiences of researchers and development professionals in eleven countries in Africa Asia and South America Collective monitoring shifts the emphasis of development and conservation professionals from externally defined programs to a locally relevant process It focuses on community participation in the selection of the indicators to be monitored as well as community participation in the learning and application of knowledge from the data that is collected As with other aspects of collaborative management collaborative monitoring emphasizes building local capacity so that communities can gradually assume full responsibility for the management of their resources The cases in Negotiated Learning highlight best practices but stress that collaborative monitoring is a relatively new area of theory and practice The cases focus on four themes the challenge of data driven monitoring in forest systems that supply multiple products and serve diverse functions and stakeholders the importance of building upon existing dialogue and learning systems the need to better understand social and political differences among local users and other stakeholders and the need to ensure the continuing adaptiveness of monitoring systems

The Equitable Forest Carol Colfer, 2010 While there continues to be refinement in defining and assessing sustainable management there remains the urgent need for policies that create the conditions that support sustainability and can halt or slow destructive practices already underway Carol Colfer and her contributors maintain that standardized solutions to forest problems from afar have failed to address both human and environmental needs Such approaches they argue often neglect the knowledge that local stakeholders have accumulated over generations as forest managers and do not address issues involving the diversity and well being of groups within communities The contributors note that these problems persist despite clear evidence that equity and social relationships including gender roles are important factors in the ways that communities adapt to change and manage forest resources overall The Equitable Forest offers an alternative to traditional externally organized strategies for forest management Termed adaptive collaborative management ACM the approach tries to better acknowledge the diversity complexity and unpredictability of human and natural systems ACM works to strengthen local institutions and use the knowledge and capacity of groups in local communities to enhance the health and well being of both forests and the people who live in and around them The Equitable Forest provides a detailed explanation of the descriptive analytical and methodological tools of ACM along with accounts of early stages of its implementation in tropical regions of Asia Africa and Latin America Although the contributors make it clear that it is too soon to evaluate the efficacy of ACM their work is supported by evidence that rural communities do make important contributions when involved in formal forest management that management strategies are most effective when flexible and tailored to local contexts and that efforts by outside governmental and nongovernmental organizations to support local management are feasible from the policymaking perspective and desirable for their impact on human economic and environmental well being

Socio-Ecological Resilience to Climate Change in a Fragile Ecosystem Sosten

Chiotha, Daniel Jamu, Joseph Nagoli, Patrick Likongwe, Tembo Chanyenga, 2018-06-13 The Lake Chilwa Basin Climate Change Adaptation Programme was a seven year research and development programme in Malawi that concluded in March 2017 The programme was designed to protect the livelihoods of the population and enhance resilience of the natural resource base upon which it depends The Lake Chilwa Basin is an important wetland ecosystem which is a designated Ramsar Site under the Ramsar Wetland Convention and a Man and Biosphere Reserve designated by UNESCO This book provides a review of the research and programme interventions done based on the ecosystem approach EA a strategy for the integrated management of land water and living resources This is designed to promote biodiversity conservation and sustainable use in an equitable way in its implementation of mitigation and climate change adaptation interventions It is shown how local and district institutions were strengthened to better manage natural resources and build resilience to climate change cross basin and cross sector natural resource management and planning for climate change throughout the Basin were built household and enterprise adaptive capacity in Basin hotspots was built and improved forest management and governance contributed in mitigating the effects of climate change The study followed all the twelve key EA principles with involvement of all key stakeholders It is one of the first programmes to apply EA on such a wide temporal and spatial scale and provides key lessons to be learned for the protection of other fragile ecosystems in an era of climate change Coping Amidst the Chaos Alois Mandondo, Ravi Prabhu, Frank Matose, 2008-01-01

Restoring Forests and Trees for Sustainable Development Pia Katila, Carol J. Pierce Colfer, Wil de Jong, Glenn Galloway, Pablo Pacheco, Georg Winkel, 2024 Restoring Forests and Trees for Sustainable Development utilizes a multidisciplinary perspective to analyze and discuss the various opportunities and challenges of restoring tree and forest cover It examines forest restoration commitments policies and programs their implementation at different scales and contexts and how forest restoration helps to mitigate environmental societal and cultural challenges This book explores how restoration affects forest ecosystem services contributes to biodiversity conservation and generates benefits and synergies while recognizing the considerable costs tradeoffs and variable feasibility of its implementation Redefining Diversity and Dynamics of Natural Resources Management in Asia, Volume 1

Ganesh Shivakoti, Ujjwal Pradhan, Helmi Helmi, 2016-09-01 Redefining Diversity and Dynamics of Natural Resources Management in Asia Volumes 1 4 brings together scientific research and policy issues across various topographical area in Asia to provide a comprehensive overview of the issues facing the region Sustainable Natural Resources Management in Dynamic Southeast Asia Volume 1 pulls together regional experts in the field to look specifically at sustainability issues across the region to see what has been implemented what the impacts have been and what other options are available In the race to be a developed region many Southeast Asian countries have foregone natural resources through haphazard use As a result the people are faced with numerous environmental challenges particularly deforestation and forest degradation biodiversity loss and ecosystem degradation reduction in soil quality and decreases in the quantity of available water Community based forest management is the involvement of local communities in the protection conservation and management of public forests to prevent degradation through sustainable practices while still responding to the basic social and economic needs of local populations When the people who depend on forest resources for their livelihoods are jointly responsible for managing and protecting them they tend to do so in a more sustainable manner by focusing on the long term benefits rather than the immediate short term gains However when tenure rights are weak unclear or insecure or offer limited benefits people are incited in extracting more immediate benefits resulting in suboptimal forest management and the reduction of carbon stocks Features case studies that cover issues such as rising levels of deforestation forest degradation regional food security ecosystem degradation biodiversity loss conflicts over natural resource use water management issues and impacts on local communities Includes contributions from local researchers who are dealing with these issues first hand and on a daily basis Includes a comparative review on REDD implementation in different communities Focuses on sustainability issues across the region Rural-Urban Linkages and Sustainable Development Farai Kapfudzaruwa, Shogo Kudo, Kanako Matsuyama, Doreen Ingosan Allasiw, 2020-05-11 This volume picks up from where a previously edited title in this book series Rural Urban Linkages and Sustainable Development in Africa 2018 left off by presenting nine new case studies from various parts of the African continent These cases illustrate the complex and multifaceted interactions between cities and rural areas through the flow of resources people capital information and goods which directly impact the sustainable development of these concerned areas Contributions are drawn from young faculty and graduates from the three master s programmes in Sustainable Urban Development Sustainable Integrated Rural Development and Mining and Mineral Resources coordinated by the eight partner African universities who make up the Education for Sustainable Development in Africa ESDA initiative The volume is part of the ESDA book series that serves primarily as undergraduate and graduate instruction materials for courses on sustainable development in Africa It also aims to inform policy initiatives on development issues on the continent Forestry in a Global Context Roger Sands, 2013-11-12 From the time of hunter gatherers to the present day forests have played a vital role in the development of humanity and society This broad introductory textbook sets world forestry in a social environmental historical and economic context The development of forests grassland and humans is described from the Devonian through to the Age of Agriculture covering the factors determining the distribution of forests the classification of forest types the value and benefits of the forest and the products of the forest and their associated trade The book also explores issues such as sustainable forest management current patterns of deforestation and reforestation and future challenges facing our forests Fully updated throughout and with new contributions from international experts this second edition includes new chapters on climate change and international forest policy and expanded coverage of forest products and bioenergy production The Complex Forest Carol J.P. Colfer, 2010-09-30 The Complex Forest systematically examines the theory processes and early outcomes of a research and management approach called adaptive collaborative management ACM An alternative to positivist approaches to development and conservation that assume predictability in forest management ACM acknowledges the complexity and unpredictability inherent in any forest community and the importance of developing solutions together with the forest peoples whose lives will be most affected by the outcomes Building on earlier work that established the importance of flexible collaborative approaches to sustainable forest management The Complex Forest describes the work of ACM practitioners facing a broad range of challenges in diverse settings and attempts to identify the conditions under which ACM is most effective Case studies of ACM in 33 forest sites in 11 countries together with Colfer s systematic comparison of results at each site indicate that human and institutional capabilities have been strengthened In Zimbabwe for example the number of women involved in decisionmaking soared In Nepal community members detected and sanctioned dishonest community elites In Cameroon and Bolivia learning programs resulted in better conflict management These are early results but a wide range of recent research supports Colfer s belief that these new capabilities will eventually contribute to higher incomes and to sustainable improvements in the health of forests and forest peoples The Complex Forest reinforces calls for change in the way we plan conservation and development programs away from command and control approaches toward ones that require bureaucratic flexibility and responsiveness as well as greater local participation in setting priorities and problem solving

Governing Africa's Forests in a Globalized World Laura A. German, Anne-Marie Tiani, Alain Karsenty, 2009-12 Many countries around the world are engaged in decentralization processes and most African countries face serious problems with forest governance from benefits sharing to illegality and sustainable forest management This book summarizes experiences to date on the extent and nature of decentralization and its outcomes most of which suggest an underperformance of governance reforms and explores the viability of different governance instruments in the context of weak governance and expanding commercial pressures over forests Findings are grouped into two thematic areas decentralization livelihoods and sustainable forest management and international trade finance and forest sector governance reforms The authors examine diverse forces shaping the forest sector including the theory and practice of decentralization usurpation of authority corruption and illegality inequitable patterns of benefits capture and expansion of international trade in timber and carbon credits and discuss related outcomes on livelihoods forest condition and equity The book builds on earlier volumes exploring different dimensions of decentralization and perspectives from other world regions and distills dimensions of forest governance that are both unique to Africa and representative of broader global patterns Authors ground their analysis in relevant theory while attempting to distill implications of their findings for policy and practice

Biological Diversity and Sustainable Resources Use Oscar Grillo, Gianfranco Venora, 2011-11-14 Biological Diversity and Sustainable Resources Use is a very interesting volume including attractive overviews and original case studies mainly focused on socio economical effects of the right management of the ecosystems biodiversity as well as on the useful integration between human activities and environmental responses Ecological medical and historical aspects of the sustainable development are also discussed in this book which consists of articles written by international experts offering the reader a clear and extensive view of the present condition in which our planet is

Community Forestry in Nepal Richard Thwaites, Robert Fisher, Mohan Poudel, 2017-12-11 Community forestry focuses on the link between forest resources and livelihoods and contributes to forest conservation and reforestation It is widespread in Nepal with a very high proportion of the rural population involved and is widely recognized as one of the most successful examples of community forestry in Asia Through a combination of literature reviews and original research this volume explores key experiences and outcomes of community forestry in Nepal over the last four decades as a model for improving forest management and supporting local livelihoods The book takes a critical approach

recognizing successes especially in forest conservation and restoration along with mixed outcomes in terms of poverty reduction and benefits to forest users It recognizes the way that community forestry has continued to evolve to meet new challenges including the global challenges of climate change environmental degradation and conservation as well as national demographic and social changes due to large scale labour migration and the growing remittance economy In addition to examining the changes and responses the book explores ways that community forestry in Nepal might move forward Lessons from Nepal have relevance to community forestry and community based approaches to natural resource management around the world that are also experiencing global pressures and opportunities Tropical Forest Community Ecology Walter Carson, Stefan Schnitzer, 2011-08-31 Historically tropical ecology has been a science often content with descriptive and demographic approaches which is understandable given the difficulty of studying these ecosystems and the need for basic demographic information Nonetheless over the last several years tropical ecologists have begun to test more sophisticated ecological theory and are now beginning to address a broad array of questions that are of particular importance to tropical systems and ecology in general Why are there are so many species in tropical forests and what mechanisms are responsible for the maintenance of that vast species diversity What factors control species coexistence Are there common patterns of species abundance and distribution across broad geographic scales What is the role of trophic interactions in these complex ecosystems How can these fragile ecosystems be conserved Containing contributions from some of the world s leading tropical ecologists Tropical Forest Community Ecology provides a summary of the key issues in the discipline of tropical ecology Includes contributions from some of the world s leading tropical ecologists Covers patterns of species distribution the maintenance of species diversity the community ecology of tropical animals forest regeneration and conservation of tropical ecosystems In Search of Common Ground Mariteuw Chimère Diaw, Tony Aseh, Ravi Prabhu, 2009-01-01

Redefining Diversity and Dynamics of Natural Resources Management in Asia, Volume 2 Ganesh Shivakoti, Mai Van Thanh, Tran Duc Vien, Stephen J Leisz, 2016-09-01 Redefining Diversity and Dynamics of Natural Resources Management in Southeast Asia Volumes 1 4 brings together scientific research and policy issues across various topographical areas in Asia to provide a comprehensive overview of the issues facing the region Upland Natural Resources and Social Ecological Systems in Northern Vietnam Volume 2 provides chapters on natural resource management in northern Vietnam tied together by the concept that participatory local involvement is needed in all aspects of natural resource management The volume examines planning for climate change managing forestland alleviating food shortages living with biodiversity and assessing the development projects and policies being implemented Without the involvement of local communities households and ultimately individual people the needed action will not be effectively taken Upland Natural Resources and Social Ecological Systems in Northern Vietnam Volume 2 goes beyond just Northern Vietnam to address the issue of transboundary natural resource management an issue that Vietnam is dealing with in its relations with northern neighbor China and western neighbor Laos as well as the transboundary water governance between Pakistan and India in south Asia with the hope that some of the lessons learned may one day be useful in the case of Vietnam and its neighbors Provides a multi disciplinary case study into a complex environmental situation involving government institutions planning and practices using northern Vietnam as the focus Covers the issues of natural resource management and biodiversity in depth using international case studies Provides examples of measuring the potential climate change impacts on food security in agricultural regions Examines topics such as planning for climate change managing forestland alleviating food shortages living with biodiversity and assessing development projects and policies

The Politics of Decentralization Carol J. Pierce Colfer, Doris Capistrano, 2012-04-27 Decentralization is sweeping the world and having dramatic and far reaching impacts on resource management and livelihoods particularly in forestry This book is the most up to date examination of the themes experiences and lessons learned from decentralization worldwide Drawing on research and support from all of the major international forestry and conservation organizations the book provides a balanced account that covers the impact of decentralization on resource management worldwide and provides comparative global insights with wide implications for policy management conservation and resource use and planning Topics covered include forest governance in federal systems democratic decentralization of forests and natural resources paths and pitfalls in decentralization and biodiversity conservation in decentralized forests The book provides in depth case studies of decentralization from Bolivia Ghana Indonesia Russia Scotland Switzerland Uganda and the US as well as highlights from federal countries including Australia Brazil Canada India and Malaysia It also addresses the critical links between the state forests communities and power relations in a range of regions and circumstances and provides case examples of how decentralization has been viewed and experienced by communities in Guatemala Philippines and Zimbabwe The Politics of Decentralization is state of the art coverage of decentralization and is essential for practitioners academics and policy makers across forestry and the full spectrum of natural resource management
