Harvesting Development:

Harvesting Development Karl Benediktsson, 2002 This work addresses the global local tension evident in much work on development issues through the example of fresh food markets in Papua New Guinea A key feature of the book is the author's interweaving of theoretical constructs with a detailed ethnography of marketing networks at the rural village and the urban market place as well as in the spaces in between It shows the rural community not as an isolated universe but as consisting of dynamic linkages and networks which extend way beyond the locality At the same time local actors with their own agendas and interpretations of the meta narrative of development are shown to be crucially important for shaping the outcome of the market integration process

Atmospheric Water Harvesting Development and Challenges Elvis Fosso-Kankeu, Ali Al Alili, Hemant Mittal, Bhekia Mamba, 2023-03-09 The commercial operation of atmospheric water harvesting systems is still limited to few countries this is mainly due to the low energy efficiency of the system and the inability to effectively operate throughout the various seasons of the year Researchers have attempted to develop strategies to render the operation of atmospheric water harvesters easier and cost effective This book covers work progress toward such direction including among others the co operation of these systems with renewable energy source and the adaptation of the systems to local conditions the response of the communities around the world to such technology and how its implementation is affected by cultural believe cost and technological friendliness The book is of interest to academic researchers students water authorities professional in relevant industries government regulatory bodies officers and environmentalists

Sustainable Communities, Sustainable Development Paul James, Yaso Nadarajah, Karen Haive, Victoria C. Stead, 2012-07-31 Papua New Guinea is going through a crisis A concentration on conventional approaches to development including an unsustainable reliance on mining forestry and foreign aid has contributed to the country's slow decline since independence in 1975 Sustainable Communities Sustainable Development attempts to address problems and gaps in the literature on development and develop a new qualitative conception of community sustainability informed by substantial and innovative research in Papua New Guinea In this context sustainability is conceived in terms that include not just practices tied to economic development It also informs questions of wellbeing and social integration community building social support and infrastructure renewal In short the concern with sustainability here entails undertaking an analysis of how communities are sustained through time how they cohere and change rather than being constrained within discourses and models of development From another angle this project presents an account of community sustainability detached from instrumental concerns with economic development Contributors address questions such as What are the stories and histories through which people respond to their nation s development What is the everyday social environment of groups living in highly diverse areas migrant settlements urban villages remote communities They seek to contribute to a creative and dynamic grass roots response to the demands of everyday life and local global pressures While the overdeveloped world faces an intersecting crisis created by global climate change and financial instability Papua New Guinea with all its difficulties still has the basis for responding to this manifold predicament Its secret lies in what has been seen as its weakness underdeveloped economies and communities where people still maintain sustainable relations to each other and the natural world

Rapid Damage-Free Robotic Harvesting of Tomatoes Jizhan Liu,Zhiguo Li,Pingping Li,2021-06-23 This book shares the latest findings on this topic systematically introduces readers to advances made in robotic harvesting around the globe and explores the relations between the development of robotic harvesting and the respective social economic conditions and agricultural business patterns in various countries regions Due to the unstructured setting it is used in and to the significant differences between individual fruit and vegetable targets robotic harvesting is currently considered to be one of the most challenging robotics technologies Accordingly research into this area involves the integration of various aspects including biomechanics optimization design advanced perception and intelligent control In addition to rapid and damage free robotic harvesting which reflects the multidisciplinary nature of the topic further aspects addressed include gripping collisions with viscoelastic objects using lasers to cut plant material plant fruit response to vacuum sucking and pulling and performance probability distribution Highlighting outstanding innovations and reflecting the latest advances in intelligent agricultural equipment in China the book offers a unique and valuable resource

The Second Great Emancipation Donald Holley,2000-07-01 In The Second Great Emancipation Donald Holley uses statistical and narrative analysis to demonstrate that farm mechanization occurred in the Delta region of Arkansas Louisiana and Mississippi after the region s population of farm laborers moved away for new opportunities Rather than pushing labor off the land Holley argues the mechanical cotton picker enabled the continuation of cotton cultivation in the post plantation era opening the door for the civil rights movement while ushering a period of prosperity into the South

An Agenda for Cooperation in Agriculture Between the Countries of Central America and the Caribbean; Implementation of the Belize Agreement between CARICOM and CORECA , Water Resources Management in Ethiopia Helmut Kloos,Worku Legesse,2010 Sub Saharan Africa the poorest region worldwide has only recently begun to fully address the issues of meeting the water needs of its rapidly growing population to reduce the deepening poverty besetting the region and to accelerate economic growth The Nile Basin characterized by sharp spatial and temporal variations in water resources and including countries with different economies social and political structures and capacities illustrates the challenges of developing and managing the waters of the Nile River and its tributaries lakes and wetlands equitably among its 10 riparian countries Ethiopia the major source of the Nile but one of the poorest countries in the Nile Basin has recently begun to implement plans to harness more Nile water through hydroelectric and irrigation development both for national use and for transboundary development as part of the Nile Basin Initiative The Ethiopian government and communities by using different management approaches and resources are trying to boost water energy and food production strengthen conservation efforts and mitigate potential repercussions of water resources development These initiatives and programs have not been comprehensively examined In this study the editors address these and other issues surrounding water resources management in all economic and water sectors in Ethiopia within the setting of the Nile Basin the first comprehensive treatment of this subject The wide scope of this book is consistent with the tenets of integrated water resources management which demand that all water uses be managed in an integrated fashion for optimum and sustainable benefits to all water users both humans and ecosystems This book reveals the impacts of various resource management approaches and practices in Ethiopia and the Nile Basin Specifically it examines how deforestation and prevailing land use practices have exacerbated soil aridity and flood events why irrigated agriculture and hydropower development have caused floodplain degradation livelihood hardships and water related diseases where industrial and agricultural development is increasingly polluting water resources how household water supplies can be obtained through rainwater harvesting and the dependence on hydropower reduced through alternative energy sources and how misguided government policies have impeded efforts to deal with these and other challenges Results reveal dynamic interrelationships between these processes and identify the human and environmental driving forces which must be understood in effective integrated water resources management Another unique contribution of this book is the examination of the role of government and communities in managing water resources in Ethiopia Results show that the top down approach used by the socialist Derg government in soil and water conservation and social programs exacerbated water problems and reduced community participation Moreover the failure of its economic program reduced agricultural production increasing dependency on relief food and further impeding community initiatives in soil and water conservation activities Many elements of central planning persist in spite of the decentralization drive by the current government but there is evidence that integration of the top down and bottom up approaches to water resources management is necessary and feasible to strengthen and up scale programs to the national level The book identifies a number of customary water and soil management practices and institutions that may strengthen especially community based rainwater harvesting small scale irrigation reforestation soil and water conservation and flood control efforts This is an important book for researchers and students of resources management rural development hydrology and African studies Population and Food in the Early Twenty-first Century Nurul Islam,1995-01-01 The IFPRI roundtable with its focus on the prospects of a long term balance between food demand and supply provided a link between the two conferences as the adequacy of food supply at affordable prices for future populations is a crucial element in a strategy designed to alleviate poverty and accelerate growth in the context of an increasing population Frontier Livelihoods Sarah Turner,Christine Bonnin,Jean Michaud,2015-05-01 Do ethnic minorities have the power to alter the course of their fortune when living within a socialist state In Frontier Livelihoods the authors focus their study on the Hmong known in China as the Miao in the Sino Vietnamese borderlands contending that individuals and households create livelihoods about which governments often know little The product of wide ranging research over many years Frontier Livelihoods bridges the traditional divide between studies of China and peninsular Southeast Asia by examining the agency dynamics and resilience of livelihoods adopted by Hmong communities in Vietnam and in China s Yunnan Province It covers the reactions to state modernization projects among this ethnic group in two separate national jurisdictions and contributes to a growing body of literature on cross border relationships between ethnic minorities in the borderlands of China and its neighbors and in Southeast Asia more broadly NCERT Geography Class 12 Dr. Chaturbhuj Mamoriya ,Dr. Abha Singh,2025-03-07 Part A Fundamentals of Human Geography 1 Human Geography Nature and Scope 2 Population of the World Distribution Density and Growth 2A Population Composition 3 Human Development 4 Primary Activities 5 Secondary Activities 6 Tertiary and Quaternary Activities 7 Transport and Communication 8 International Trade 8A Human Settlements Part B India People and Economy 1 Population Distribution Density Growth and Composition 1A Migration Types Causes and Consequences 1B Human Development 2 Human Settlements 3 Land Resources and Agriculture 4 Water Resources 5 Mineral and Energy Resources 5A Manufacturing Industries 6 Planning and Sustainable Development in Indian Context 7 Transport and Communication 8 International Trade 9 Geographical Perspective on Selected Issues and Problems Part C Practical Work 1 Data Source and Collection 2 Data Processing 3 Graphical Representation of Data 3A Use of Computer in Data Processing and Mapping 3B Field Surveys 4 Spatial Information Technology Competency Focused Questions with Answers Board Examination Papers Alturas Field Office ,2007
