Johnny J. R. Fontaine, Klaus R. Scherer, Cristina Soriano, 2013-08-01 Publications on emotion and the affective sciences in general have exploded in the last decade Numerous research teams and individual scholars from many different disciplines have published research papers or books about many different aspects of emotions and their role in behaviour and society However One aspect of emotional research that has been somewhat neglected is the way in which emotional terms translate into other languages When using terms like anger sadness fear disgust and joy for so called basic emotions as well as terms like shame guilt pride regret and contempt for more complex emotions it is naturally assumed that the emotion terms used for research in the native language of the researchers and translated into English are completely equivalent in meaning However this is not generally the case In many cases there is no direct one to one relationship between an English term and a term in an alternative language In fact there can be significant differences in the way that these seemingly similar emotional terms can be applied across various languages with important implications for how we review and appraise this work This book presents an extensive cross cultural and cross linguistic review of the meaning of emotion words adopting a novel methodological approach Based on the Component Process Model the authors developed a new instrument to assess the meaning of emotion terms This instrument the GRID questionnaire consists of a grid of 24 emotion terms spanning the emotion domain and 142 emotion features that operationalize five emotion components Appraisals Bodily reactions Expressions Action tendencies and Feelings For the operationalization of these five emotion components very different emotion models from the Western and the cultural comparative emotion literature were taken into account Components of Emotional Meaning includes contributions from psychological cultural comparative and linguistic perspectives demonstrating how this new instrument can be used to empirically study very different research questions on the meaning of emotion terms The implications of the results for major theoretical debates on emotion are also discussed For all researchers in the affective sciences this book is an important new reference work Perspectives on Language and Language Development Dorit Diskin Ravid, Hava Bat-Zeev Shyldkrot, 2006-08-25 Perspectives on Language and Language Development brings together new perspectives on language discourse and language development in 31 chapters by leading scholars from several countries with diverging backgrounds and disciplines It is a comprehensive overview of language as a rich multifaceted system inspired by the lifework of Ruth A Berman Edited by Dorit Ravid and Hava Bat Zeev Shyldkrot both from Tel Aviv University Israel the book offers state of the art portrayals of linguistic and psycholinguistic phenomena with new insights on the interrelations of language structure discourse theory and the development of language and literacy The volume presents innovative investigations on the interface of language and narrative in a broad range of languages with a section devoted to linguistic studies of Modern Hebrew It traces the development of language and literacy from early childhood through adolescence to maturity in spoken and written contexts and in monolingual as well as multilingual perspectives Linguists psycholinguists discourse scholars cognitive psychologists language teachers education experts and clinicians working in the field of language and discourse will find this book extremely useful both as a textbook and as a source of information

Progress in Pattern Recognition, Image Analysis, Computer Vision, and Applications Eduardo Bayro-Corrochano, Jan-Olof Eklundh, 2009-11-16 The 14th Iberoamerican Congress on Pattern

Recognition CIARP 2009 C gresoIberoAmericano de Reconocimiento de Patrones formed the latest of a now long series of successful meetings arranged by the rapidly growing Iberoamerican pattern recognition community. The conference was held in Guadalajara Jalisco Mexico and organized by the Mexican Association for Computer Vision Neural Computing and Robotics MACVNR. It was sponsored by MACVNR and several other Iberoamerican PR societies. CIARP 2009 was like the previous conferences in the series supported by the International Association for Pattern Recognition IAPR. CIARP 2009 attracted participants from all over the world presenting state of the art research on mathematical methods and computing techniques for pattern recognition computer vision image and signal analysis robot vision and speech recognition as well as on a wide range of their applications. This time the conference attracted participants from 23 countries 9 in Iberoamerica and 14 from other parts of the world. The total number of submitted papers was 187 and after a serious review process 108 papers were accepted all of them with a scientific quality above overall mean rating. Sixty four were selected as oral presentations and 44 as posters. Since 2008 the conference is almost single track and therefore there was no real grading in quality between oral and poster papers. As an acknowledgment that CIARP has established itself as a high quality conference its proceedings appear in the Lecture Notes in Computer Science series. Moreover its visibility is further enhanced by a selection of a set of papers that will be published in a special issue of the journal Pattern Recognition Letters.

From Sub-Lexical to Discourse-Level Effects in Bi- And Multilingual Language Processing Katarzyna Dziubalska-Kolaczyk, Monika M. Polczynska, Katarzyna Jankowiak, 2025-02-14. With the majority of the world population speaking more than one language cross language interactions associated with bi and multilingual language processing have recently received much scholarly attention. While we know from psycholinguistic research that multilingualism modulates cognitive mechanisms of language processing previous studies have concentrated selectively on specific aspects and/or stages of language processing with little cross disciplinary insight into multilingualism. This contribution aims to systematize our knowledge of multilingual language processing by providing a comprehensive overview of the effects observed at the level of sub lexical orthographic and phonological lexico semantic and discourse processing. Further since comprehensive studies of multilingualism require other areas of research e.g. psychology sociology and linguistics the present volume will bring together multiple fields methods and perspectives to provide a cross disciplinary and diverse overview of the effects of multilingualism.
