

The background of the image is a dense, repeating pattern of ancient Egyptian hieroglyphs. The hieroglyphs are arranged in vertical columns and are rendered in a dark, slightly weathered brown color against a lighter, textured tan background. The pattern is dense and covers the entire frame, creating a sense of an ancient wall or papyrus scroll.

Thinking in the Dark Murray Pomerance, R. Barton Palmer, 2015-10-16 Today's film scholars draw from a dizzying range of theoretical perspectives they're just as likely to cite philosopher Gilles Deleuze as they are to quote classic film theorist André Bazin To students first encountering them these theoretical lenses for viewing film can seem exhilarating but also overwhelming Thinking in the Dark introduces readers to twenty-one key theorists whose work has made a great impact on film scholarship today including Rudolf Arnheim Sergei Eisenstein Michel Foucault Siegfried Kracauer and Judith Butler Rather than just discussing each theorist's ideas in the abstract the book shows how those concepts might be applied when interpreting specific films by including an analysis of both a classic film and a contemporary one It thus demonstrates how theory can help us better appreciate films from all eras and genres from Hugo to Vertigo from City Lights to Sunset Blvd and from Young Mr Lincoln to A.I. and Wall-E The volume's contributors are all experts on their chosen theorist's work and furthermore are skilled at explaining that thinker's key ideas and terms to readers who are not yet familiar with them Thinking in the Dark is not only a valuable resource for teachers and students of film it's also a fun read one that teaches us all how to view familiar films through new eyes Theorists examined in this volume are Rudolf Arnheim Béla Balázs Roland Barthes André Bazin Walter Benjamin Judith Butler Stanley Cavell Michel Chion Gilles Deleuze Jean Douchet Sergei Eisenstein Jean Epstein Michel Foucault Siegfried Kracauer Jacques Lacan Vaché Lindsay Christian Metz Hugo Münsterberg V.F. Perkins Jacques Rancière and Jean Rouch

Complicating Articulation in Art Cinema Benedict Morrison, 2021 What is film criticism for This book aims to answer this question It argues that art cinema's political effect is the result of indeterminacy and not character-centric meaning

Beyond Sinology Andrea Bachner, 2014-01-21 New communication and information technologies remain challenging for the Chinese script which unlike alphabetic or other phonetic scripts relies on multiple signifying principles In recent decades this multiplicity has generated a rich corpus of reflection and experimentation in literature film visual and performance art and design and architecture both within China and different parts of the West Approaching this history from alternative theoretical perspectives this volume pinpoints the phenomena binding languages scripts and medial expressions to cultural and national identity Through a complex study of intercultural representations exchanges and tensions the text focuses on the concrete scripting of identity and alterity advancing a new understanding of the links between identity and medium and a new critique of articulations that rely on single monolithic and univocal definitions of writing

Vivre Ici Alison J. Murray Levine, 2018-03-19 Vivre Ici analyzes a diverse selection of contemporary French documentaries about spaces and places in France Integrating film theory eco-criticism and cultural history Levine investigates documentary cinema as experience The book reveals a collage-like fragmented vision of France as seen through documentary cameras and explores the social and political consequences of these films that matter criticism and theory and cinema's impact on literary texts including the work of H G Wells and Virginia Woolf. It also offers new research on early writings about film including the work of the women film critics who rose to prominence in the 1920s and on film societies and film journals in the period.

Italian Neorealist Cinema Christopher Wagstaff, 2007-12-29 The end of the Second World War saw the emergence of neorealist film in Italy. In Italian Neorealist Cinema Christopher Wagstaff analyses three neorealist films that have had significant influence on filmmakers around the world. Wagstaff treats these films as assemblies of sounds and images rather than as representations of historical reality. If Roberto Rossellini's Roma città aperta and Pais and Vittorio De Sica's Ladri di biciclette are still half a century after they were made among the most highly valued artefacts in the history of cinema, Wagstaff suggests that this could be due to the aesthetic and rhetorical qualities of their assembled narratives, performances, locations, lighting, sound, mise en scène and montage. This volume begins by situating neorealist cinema in its historical, industrial, commercial and cultural context and makes available for the first time a large amount of data on post-war Italian cinema. Wagstaff offers a theoretical discussion of what it means to treat realist films as aesthetic artefacts before moving on to the core of the book which consists of three studies of the films under discussion.

Italian Neorealist Cinema not only offers readers in Film Studies and Italian Studies a radically new perspective on neorealist cinema and the Italian art cinema that followed it but theorises and applies a method of close analysis of film texts for those interested in aesthetics and rhetoric as well as cinema in general.

Passport to Hollywood James Morrison, 1998-09-11 Examines popular films made in Hollywood by European directors offering a fresh take on the much debated issue of the great divide between modernism and mass culture.

Close Up 1927-1933 James Donald, Anne Friedberg, Laura Marcus, 1998 Close Up was the first English language journal of film theory. Published between 1927 and 1933 it billed itself as the only magazine devoted to film as an art, promising readers theory and analysis, no gossip. The journal was edited by the writer and filmmaker Kenneth Macpherson, the novelist Winifred Bryher and the poet H D and it attracted contributions from such major figures as Dorothy Richardson, Sergei Eisenstein and Man Ray. This anthology presents some of the liveliest and most important articles from the publication's short but influential history. The writing in Close Up was theoretically astute, politically incisive, open to emerging ideas from psychoanalysis, passionately committed to pure cinema and deeply critical of Hollywood and its European imitators. The articles collected here cover such subjects as women and film, The Negro in Cinema, Russian and working class cinema and developments in film technology including the much debated addition of sound. The contributors are a cosmopolitan cast reflecting the journal's commitment to internationalism. Close Up was published from Switzerland, printed in England and France and distributed in Paris, Berlin, London, New York and Los Angeles. The editors of this volume present a substantial introduction and commentaries on the articles that set Close Up in historical and intellectual context. This is crucial reading for anyone interested in the origins of film theory and the relationship between cinema and modernism.

Close Up: Cinema And Modernism James Donald, Anne Friedberg, Laura

Marcus,1998-11-01 Between 1927 and 1933 the journal Close Up championed a European avant garde in film making This volume republishes articles from the journal with an introduction and a commentary on the lives of and complex relationships between its writers and editors
