methods It is at once meaningful resists strategic manipulation elicits honesty and is not subject to the classical paradoxes encountered in practice notably Condorcet's and Arrow's They offer theoretical practical and experimental evidence from national elections to figure skating competitions to support their arguments Drawing on insights from wine sports music and other competitions Balinski and Laraki argue that the question should not be how to transform many individual rankings into a single collective ranking but rather after defining a common language of grades to measure merit how to transform the many individual evaluations of each competitor into a single collective evaluation of all competitors The crux of the matter is a new model in which the traditional paradigm to compare is replaced by a new paradigm to evaluate

Evaluation and Decision Models Denis Bouyssou, Thierry Marchant, Marc Pirlot, Patrice Perny, Alexis Tsoukias, P. Vincke, 2012-12-06 1 1 Motivations Deciding is a very complex and difficult task Some people even argue that our ability to make decisions in complex situations is the main feature that distinguishes us from animals it is also common to say that laughing is the main difference Nevertheless when the task is too complex or the interests at stake are too important it quite often happens that we do not know or we are not sure what to decide and in many instances we resort to a decision support technique an informal one we toss a coin we ask an oracle we visit an astrologer we consult an expert we think or a formal one Although informal decision support techniques can be of interest in this book we will focus on formal ones Among the latter we find some well known decision support techniques cost benefit analysis multiple criteria decision analysis decision trees But there are many other ones sometimes not presented as decision support techniques that help making decisions Let us cite but a few examples When the director of a school must decide whether a given student will pass or fail he usually asks each teacher to assess the merits of the student by means of a grade The director then sums the grades and compares the result to a threshold When a bank must decide whether a given client will obtain a credit or not a technique called credit scoring is often used
