financial intermediation overall especially with the poor Their analysis shows that Colombia s banks provide costly services mainly catered toward high income clients Existing fees and costs of checking savings and loan services average 5 10 percent of a monthly minimum wage making them hard to afford for low income clients The authors also explore the characteristics and impacts of financial exclusion associated with lower and more uncertain incomes lower education and closer links to the informal sector They cite the household survey conducted in Bogota showing that 70 percent of the unbanked earn less than one minimum wage per month are three times more likely to be unemployed than the banked and have lower education levels The unbanked save and borrow largely in the informal sector at greater risk and greater cost At the same time however high home ownership rates show that the unbanked have the capacity to build assets demonstrating that they have bankable characteristics The authors conclude with recommendations for government and for the financial sector to broaden access for the benefit of public and private sectors and for the unbanked World Bank web site The Routledge Companion to Financial Services Marketing Tina Harrison,Hooman Estelami,2014-12-05 Interest in Financial Services Marketing has grown hugely over the last few decades particularly since the financial crisis which scarred the industry and its relationship with customers It reflects the importance of the financial services industry to the economies of every nation and the realisation that the consumption and marketing of financial services differs from that of tangible goods and indeed many other intangible services This book is therefore a timely and much needed comprehensive compendium that reflects the development and maturation of the research domain and pulls together in a single volume the current state of thinking and debate The events associated with the financial crisis have highlighted that there is a need for banks and other financial institutions to understand how to rebuild trust and confidence improve relationships and derive value from the marketing process Edited by an international team of experts this book will provide the latest thinking on how to manage such challenges and will be vital reading for students and lecturers in financial services marketing policy makers and practitioners
