school students in mind the essays in Teaching Sound Film A Reader cover some of the central films treated and central issues raised in today's cinema courses and provide students with practical models to help them improve their own writing and analytical skills. These essays are clear and readable that is sophisticated and meaty yet not overly technical or jargon heavy. This makes them perfect introductions to their respective films as well as important contributions to the field of film studies in general. Moreover, this book's scholarly apparatus features credits, images, bibliographies for all films discussed, filmographies for all the directors, a list of topics for writing and discussion, a glossary of film terms, and an appendix containing three essays respectively on film acting, avant garde cinema, and theater vs film.

Guidebook to Film Ronald Gottesman, Harry M. Geduld, 1972. Conversations with Stanley Kauffmann Stanley Kauffmann, 2003. This collection of interviews with Stanley Kauffmann from 1916 provides a virtual history of the journalistic practice of criticism in twentieth century America. His creative life spans seven decades and since 1958 he has been a film and drama critic for the New Republic, the New York Times, and Saturday Review. He also has been an actor, stage manager, playwright, novelist, and editor. Along with Dwight Macdonald, Andrew Sarris, and John Simon, he is one of the potent influential critics included in the New York school of twentieth century American criticism. The Los Angeles Times called him the Dean Swift of our country's criticism. Susan Sontag proclaimed him one of our national treasures. In this collection of interviews conducted by Charlie Rose, Dick Cavett, and others, he speaks both of the role of theater and film criticism in American culture and of the crisis he perceives within it. With wit and erudition, Kauffmann discusses many subjects: film directors who emerged during his long tenure at the New Republic, e.g., Martin Scorsese and Federico Fellini; actors who performed on both stage and screen; novels and their film adaptations; and the fractious relationship between Hollywood and the independent film movement. The precision and concise phrasing of Kauffmann's writing chime also in his brilliant conversations as he speaks of sex, taste, realism, the rise of film festival culture, and government subsidy of the arts. The volume ends with a conversation from 1998 in celebration of Kauffmann's forty-year tenure at the New Republic, where he continues to publish film reviews every week. The collection reveals this critic's sense of cultural mission by showing how Kauffmann applies to drama and film the same high standards he applies to fiction, poetry, music, and theater.

Conversations with Stanley Kauffmann reveals that this love of the arts is expressed in his finely honed gift for cogent, witty, wise commentary. Bert Cardullo, a professor of theater and drama at the University of Michigan, has written and edited several books on film and theater and has been published in the Hudson Review, the New Republic, Literature, Film Quarterly, South Atlantic Quarterly, and other publications.

The Cinema of Norman Mailer Justin Bozung, 2017-09-07. The Cinema of Norman Mailer Film is Like Death not only examines the enfant terrible writer's thoughts on cinema but also features interviews with Norman Mailer himself. The Cinema of Norman Mailer also explores Mailer's cinema through previously published and newly commissioned essays written by an array of film and literary scholars, enthusiasts, and those with a personal philosophical connection to Mailer. This volume discusses the National Book Award and Pulitzer Prize winning author and filmmaker's six films created during the years of 1947 and 1987 and contends to show how Mailer's films can be best read as cinematic delineations that visually represent many of the writer's metaphysical and ontological concerns and ideas that appear in his texts from the 1950s until his passing in 2007. By re-examining Mailer's cinema through these new perspectives one may be awarded not just a deeper understanding of Mailer's desire to make films but also find a new alternative vision of Mailer himself. Norman Mailer was not just a writer but more he was one of the most influential Postmodern artists of the twentieth century with deep roots in the cinema. He allowed the cinema to not only influence his aesthetic approach but sanctioned it as his easiest crafted analogy for exploring sociological imagination in his writing. Mailer once suggested Film is legitimately more interesting than books and with that in mind readers of Norman Mailer might begin to rethink his oeuvre through the viewfinder of the film medium as he was equally as passionate about working within cinema as he was about literature itself.

Approaches to the American Musical Robert Lawson-Peebles, 1996 This new analysis of American film and stage musicals puts forward the argument that productions such as Kiss Me Kate were popular because they dealt with important issues such as ethnicity rather than because of their value as escapism.

The Concise Routledge Encyclopedia of the Documentary Film Ian Aitken, 2013 This reference work explores the history of the documentary film. It discusses individual films and filmmakers, examines national and regional filmmaking traditions, elaborates on production companies, organizations, festivals, and institutions, explores themes, issues, and representations, and describes various styles, techniques, and technical issues.

Susan Sontag Leland Poague, Kathy A. Parsons, 2003-09-02 Susan Sontag: An Annotated Bibliography catalogues the works of one of America's most prolific and important 20th century authors. Known for her philosophical writings on American culture, topics left untouched by Sontag's writings are few and far between. This volume is an exhaustive collection that includes her novels, essays, reviews, films, and interviews. Each entry is accompanied by an annotated bibliography.

Filming Shakespeare's Plays Anthony Davies, 1990-06-29 Shakespeare's plays provide wonderfully challenging material for the film maker. While acknowledging that dramatic experiences for theatre and cinema audiences are significantly different, this book reveals some of the special qualities of cinema's dramatic language in the film adaptations of Shakespeare's plays by four directors: Laurence Olivier, Orson Welles, Peter Brook, and Akira Kurosawa, each of whom has a distinctly different approach to a film representation. Davies begins his study with a comparison of theatrical and cinematic space, showing that the dramatic resources of cinema are essentially spatial. The central chapters focus on Laurence Olivier's Henry V, Hamlet, and Richard III; Orson Welles' Macbeth, Othello, and Chimes at Midnight; Peter Brook's King Lear; and Akira Kurosawa's Throne of Blood. Davies discusses the dramatic problems posed by the source plays for the film maker and he examines how these films influenced later theatrical stagings. He concludes with an examination of the demands that distinguish the work of the Shakespearean stage actor from that of his counterpart in film.
