John Ford Bill Levy, 1998-11-30 John Ford 1894 1973 is universally acknowledged as one of the greatest directors in the history of cinema He is the only person to win four Academy Awards for Direction for The Informer 1935 The Grapes of Wrath 1940 How Green Was My Valley 1941 and The Quiet Man 1952 This reference book is a comprehensive guide to his career The volume begins with a biography that looks at Ford as a person a director and a cinematic legend and influence Ford's life is discussed chronologically but the biography repeatedly considers how his early experiences shaped his creative vision and attempts to explain why he was so self destructive and unhappy throughout his career In addition the biography carefully scrutinizes his methods styles techniques and secrets of direction A chronology presents his achievements in capsule form The rest of the book provides detailed information about his many productions and about the response to his works The heart of the volume is a filmography which includes individual entries for 184 films with which Ford was involved as either an actor a director a producer a writer an advisor or an assistant These entries include cast and credit information a plot synopsis critical commentary and excerpts from reviews The book also includes the most extensive annotated bibliography on Ford ever published with more than 1000 entries for books articles dissertations documentaries and even four works of fiction concerning Ford Additional sections of the book provide information about his unrealized projects his radio television and theater work his awards and honors and special collections and archives The Film Anthologies Index Stephen E. Bowles, 1994-10 The Film Anthologies Index is a bibliographical resource essential to any person or institution interested in the study of film No publication or database currently indexes the contents of these important anthologies There are over 600 anthologies by both multiple and single authors in English that have been published through 1991 These anthologies contain over 10 000 stand alone pieces that 1 reprint articles from their original source 2 select excerpts from book length publications and 3 include original essays appearing only in a specialized anthology Without The Film Anthologies Index the researcher would have no guide to the valuable contents between the covers of these anthologies Much more than just a guide to the contents of anthologies the main section consists of 6 563 numbered entries that alphabetically list by author the contents of each piece found in the anthologies You could find for example all pieces written by a particular author which have appeared in the anthologies Additionally every author entry refers the user to all the anthologized sources which contain each specific piece For example Robert Warshaw's landmark essay on Movie Chronicle

The Westerner can be found in 9 different anthologies or that selected essays by Sergei Einstein appear in over 50 separate anthologies Without The Film Anthologies Index there would be no way to systematically locate these buried treasures The final section of The Film Anthologies Index consists of an extensive listing of all film titles individual names specific genres countries periods studios etc as well as all key words and phrases that appear in the titles of the included pieces There are approximately 7000 topics covered in this section The user friendly layout of this reference source makes it both a comprehensive resource for everyone from the casual movie goer who wants a deeper understanding of the medium to the dedicated film scholar who is pursuing material on

High Noon Phillip Drummond, 2019-07-25 Made in 1951 High Noon rapidly became one of the most celebrated and controversial Hollywood dramas of the post war period A grave taut western about community and violence High Noon collected a clutch of Oscars helped to re establish the dwindling fortunes of its star Gary Cooper and confirmed the stature of director Fred Zinnemann and producer Stanley Kramer The film was also a flashpoint for the conflict between the US film industry and McCarthyite anti communism writer and associate producer Carl Foreman was hounded off the production and blacklisted Phillip Drummond offers a detailed account of High Noon s troubled production context and its early public reception along with career summaries of the key participants He analyzes the dramatic organization of the film with close reference to the original short story and Carl Foreman s script and concludes with an invaluable overview of the long history of critical debates focusing on questions of social identity and gender The result is a fresh and nuanced reading of a major classic Phillip Drummond is Lecturer in Film and Media Studies at the Institute of Education University of London UK

The Italian 100 Stephen J. Spignesi, 2003 An invaluable addition to the Citadel 100 series that ranks the most prominent Italian figures in history from the Chairman of the Board to the Mayor of New York City Now more than ever Americans have entered into a passionate love affair with all things Italian from the world changing adventures of Christopher Columbus to the drama of opera to Italian cinema to the epic family saga of The Sopranos The Italian 100 chronicles the rich legacy of Italians and Italian Americans in a ranking of the most influential 100 and the enduring nature of their contributions The giants who immeasurably changed the size and shape of our world Galileo ranked 1 Christopher Columbus 2 and Marconi 3 grace the top of the list while artistic and literary giants such as Michaelangelo Leonardo da Vinci Botticelli Petrarch and Dante feature prominently Also profiled are the brilliant and sometimes despotic political leaders such as Niccolo Machiavelli Lorenzo de Medici Garibaldi Rudolph Giuliani and Benito Mussolini and geniuses of music theater and film such as Vivaldi Puccini Pavarotti Fellini Scorsese and Sinatra The Italian 100 also highlights less familiar figures who have left legacies of equal magnitude such as Guido of Arezzo who invented the musical staff Leonardo Fibonacci who introduced Arabic numerals to the Western world Saint Fabiola the Roman matron credited with cofounding the first public hospital in Western Europe and Bartolommeo Cristofori inventor of the modern piano Part cultural companion part historical reference and part celebration The Italian 100 is a fresh and sometimes controversial look at a people who throughout more than fifteen centuries have had an enormous and profound effect on every aspect of the modern world

Teaching History with Film and Television John E. O'Connor, 1987 History teachers should be less concerned with having students try to re-experience the past and more concerned with teaching them how to learn from the study of it Keeping this in mind teachers should integrate more critical film and television analysis into their history classes but not in place of reading or at the expense of traditional approaches Teachers must show students how to engage rather than suspend their critical faculties when the projector or television monitor is turned on The first major section of this book Analyzing a Moving Image as a Historical Document discusses the two stages in the analysis of a moving image document 1 a general analysis of content production and reception and 2 the study of the moving image document as a representation of history as evidence for social and cultural history as evidence for historical fact or as evidence for the history of film and television Strategies for the classroom are also discussed The second major section Visual Language is an introduction to visual language meant to serve as a general and selective guide for history teachers new to the critical use of moving image media in the classroom Discussions of various aspects of film history and film techniques help to illustrate the possible use of films and television as historical documents and show how film history is a manifestation of the same socio-cultural forces that shape the larger history of society A 103 item bibliography and a sample class assignment are included JB Walford's Guide to reference material. Albert John Walford,1995 Sociocultural Studies in Education Richard A Quantz,2016-01-08 Sociocultural Studies in Education Critical Thinking for Democracy fills a void in the education of educators and citizens in a democracy It explores some of the fundamentals around which disagreements in education arise It presents a process with which those new to these debates can understand often confusing and entwined sets of facts and logics This book leads the reader through some general concepts and intellectual skills that provide the basis for making sense out of the debates around public education in a democracy This book can be seen as a primer on how to read texts about education It acknowledges that good teachers must be not only trained to teach but also educated about education It presents the various themes and currents found within the arguments and narratives that people use to represent public education It assumes that the more those interested in education know about how to see through the rhetoric the better they will be at discerning whose interests are served by which texts The Catholic Library World John M.
