The Advent Of Netwar John Arquilla,1996 The information revolution is leading to the rise of network forms of organization with unusual implications for how societies are organized and conflicts are conducted Netwar is an emerging consequence The term refers to societal conflict and crime short of war in which the antagonists are organized more as sprawling leaderless networks than as tight knit hierarchies Many terrorists criminals fundamentalists and ethno nationalists are developing netwar capabilities A new generation of revolutionaries and militant radicals is also emerging with new doctrines strategies and technologies that support their reliance on network forms of organization Netwar may be the dominant mode of societal conflict in the 21st century These conclusions are implied by the evolution of societies according to a framework presented in this RAND study The emergence of netwar raises the need to rethink strategy and doctrine to conduct counternetwar Traditional notions of war and low intensity conflict as a sequential process based on massing maneuvering and fighting will likely prove inadequate to cope with nonlinear swarm like information age conflicts in which societal and military elements are closely intermingled
