Financial Opening Under the WTO Agreement in Selected Asian Countries Yun-Hwan Kim, Asian Development Bank. Economics and Research Department, 2002 Financial Opening Under the WTO Agreement in Selected Asian Countries Yun-Hwan Kim, 2004-01 Two reports together 1 Financial Opening under the WTO Agreement in Selected Asian Countries Progress and Issues by Yun Hwan Kim Examines the People s Republic of China Indonesia Republic of Korea Malaysia Singapore and Thailand and suggests three guiding principles in opening financial services a resource mobilization for economic recovery and sustained development b financial stability and c market competition 2 A Review of Commitment Savings Products in Developing Countries by Nava Ashraf Nathalie Gons Dean S Karlan and Wesley Yin Development Centre Seminars Asia and Europe Services Liberalisation OECD, Asian Development Bank, 2003-06-06 This book demonstrates some of the pitfalls associated with services liberalisation but recommends perseverance and even acceleration of the reforms Contributors call for orderly and rapid progress towards regional integration of the services

International Law in East Asia Zou Keyuan, 2017-07-05 As the worlds political and economic landscape changes in response to the rise of Asian countries such as China so Asian influences on the global legal order will become more pronounced Many countries in the region such as Japan and South Korea influence the development of international law in various ways either individually or collectively through multinational organisations such as ASEAN This collection of published work by leading East Asian scholars covers Asian perspectives concerning various issues in international law ranging from general perspectives to particular themes such as international economic law international human rights law international ocean law international criminal law international security law and international dispute settlement For the first time it provides a comprehensive picture of how and why East Asian countries participate in international law making as well as comply with international law in their state practices In so doing the editors attempt to address the question whether the rising powers in East Asia will change the existing international legal order in future How Can Cambodia, Lao PDR, Myanmar, and Viet Nam Cope with Revenue Lost Due to AFTA Tariff Reductions? Kanokpan Lao-Araya, 2008-12 In joining the Assoc of Southeast Asian Nations ASEAN and ASEAN Free Trade Area Cambodia Lao PDR Myanmar and Viet Nam have agreed to comply with the Common Effective Preferential Tariff CEPT Scheme which reduces intra ASEAN tariff rates on certain imports and may reduce gov t revenue This study proposes tax structure and tax admin reforms and other policies that can be introduced to enhance revenue collection They can Strategically allocate goods among the four CEPT scheme lists Improve their tax systems by replacing traditional general sales taxes with Value Added Tax Reduce inefficiencies that impede tax collection and Discourage tax avoidance and evasion and reduce corruption among tax officials

Labor Market Distortions, Rural-Urban Inequality, and the Opening of the People's Republic of China Economy Thomas Hertel, 2008-05 Evaluates the impact of some key factor market reforms on rural urban inequality income distribution using a household disaggregated recursive dynamic computable general equilibrium model of the People's Republic of China. It also explores how these factor market reforms interact with product market reforms currently under way as part of the country's World Trade Organization (WTO) accession process. The simulation results show that reforms in the rural land rental market hukou system as well as increasing off-farm labor mobility would reduce the urban-rural income ratio dramatically. Furthermore, the combination of WTO accession factor market reforms improves both efficiency and equality significantly. Charts, tables, graphs.

WTO Domestic Regulation and Services Trade Aik Hoe Lim, Bart De Meester, 2014-03-13 Domestic regulation of services sectors has a significant impact on services trade liberalization, which is why General Agreement on Trade in Services (GATS) disciplines are negotiated in the WTO. With the help of analyses and case studies from academics, regulators, and trade experts, this book explores the scope and limits of WTO legal principles to promote domestic regulatory reform. Case studies discuss country-specific challenges and experiences of regulating important service sectors such as finance, telecommunications, distribution, legal education, health, postal, and logistics services, as well as the role of regulatory impact assessments. The findings will interest trade officials, policy makers, regulators, think tanks, and businesses concerned with the implications of domestic regulation on access to services markets and with the opportunities for formulating trade disciplines in this area. It is also a useful resource for academics and students researching regulatory approaches and practices in services sectors.

Economic Growth and Poverty Reduction in Viet Nam Arsenio M. Balisacan, 2011-04 Viet Nam's dramatic transition and growth in the 1990s have been attributed to a series of reforms known as doi moi, which began in the late 1980s. Economic growth of nearly 8% yearly benefited the poor and reduced poverty from 61% in 1993 to 37% in 1998. The proportionate increases in the incomes of the poorest quintile were appreciably larger than those of the top 20 or 40% of the population. This result is at variance with typical findings for other countries, which indicate that welfare gains from growth are smallest for the lowest quintile and rise with income group. The results for Viet Nam suggest that the faster the growth rate, the lesser becomes the role of distributive factors that directly influence the poor's well-being. A print-on-demand report.

Monetary Poverty Estimates in Sri Lanka Neranjana Gunetilleke, 2008-05 Provides an introduction to poverty-related data available in Sri Lanka; monetary measurements of poverty carried out using this data. The lack of an official poverty line in Sri Lanka until June 2004 has over time generated a number of poverty lines corresponding to poverty measures. While these poverty measures have provided a good base for poverty analysis, this paper also touches on the problems generated by the use of multiple methods. The release of the official poverty line by the Dept. of Census Statistics can be seen as a major step forward in the debate on poverty measurement in Sri Lanka. Charts, tables.

Practices of Poverty Measurement and Poverty Profile of Nepal Devendra Chhetry, 2009-03 Reviews the poverty measuring practices, available measures of poverty, and economic growth figures of Nepal. The poverty rates for FY 1976-77, 1984-85, and 1995-96 are found to be not comparable due to change in methodology over time. The three poverty rates average 40% Nepal has experienced high economic growth during the 7th 1985 86 to 1989 90 and 8th 1992 93 to 1996 97 Plan periods with no strong evidences of poverty reduction This incompatible result is partially explained by comparing growth of the agricultural sector with the role of the sector in providing employment and income generation at the household level and by comparing social indicators particularly literacy rate with the growth of the nonagricultural sector Tables

Measuring Competitiveness in the World's Smallest Economies Ganeshan Wignaraja, 2008-05 Attempts to measure competitiveness CP across countries have typically neglected the world's smallest economies Hence a simple composite index the Small State Manufactured Export CP Index or SSMECI was developed to benchmark industrial CP The SSMECI represents the first attempt to provide a comprehensive picture of the CP performance of small states The performance of small states varies across geographical regions income groups country size classes High performing small states had better macroeconomic conditions higher levels of foreign invest more trade openness better levels of educ modern infrastructure A coherent market oriented CP strategy in small states is vital to success on international markets Tables Beyond Cost Recovery David Donald Dole, Ian Bartlett, 2004 References p 26 Do Minimum Wages Reduce Employment and Training? Guntur Sugiyarto, Benjamin A. Endriga, 2008 Welfare Impacts of Electricity Generation Sector Reform in the Philippines Natsuko Toba, 2003 Economic Analysis of Health Projects Erik A. Bloom, Peter Choynowski, 2003 The economic analysis of health projects has not received the attention that projects in other sectors have received primarily because of perceived difficulties in quantifying economic benefits However there is a misconception that economic analysis is a simple calculation of an economic internal rate of return Rather it envelops a broader range of issues that includes the rationale for the project cost effectiveness demand for the project output economic viability sustainability and equity considerations The purpose of this technical note is to present an example of an approach to the economic analysis of a health project that may be used as a guide for future projects It is based on an actual health project approved by the Asian Development Bank for Cambodia that will be implemented over the period 2003 2006 Strengthening the Economic Analysis of Natural Resource Management Projects Keith Ward, 2003 A review of a range of natural resources projects prepared during the 1990s by the Asian Development Bank ADB suggests that existing practices of economic analysis tend to capture only some of the impacts that such projects typically have Historically project analysis at ADB and elsewhere has tended to concentrate on identifying a monetized benefit in excess of 12 percent economic internal rate of return EIRR from direct resource use impacts and simply identifying and describing nonquantifiable impacts With the adoption of the ADB Environment Policy and the growing recognition that it is very often the poorest who suffer most from natural resource depletion and degradation a case is made that more analytic rigor in capturing as many as possible of the resource impacts of such projects is desirable This report therefore suggests some specific techniques to strengthen the economic analysis of natural resources projects including improving the application of the benefits transfer method defining the spatial boundaries of project economic analysis establishing an appropriate accounting stance for the project establishing the project's counterfactual i.e. without project situation and including the health impacts of such projects The use of appropriate discount rates for sensitivity analysis and for investment decision making are discussed and guidance is given on presenting the results of a project analysis and summarizing the poverty reduction impact of natural resource management projects
