Finches Bowerbirds And Passerines:

Finches, Bowerbirds and Other Passerines of Australia Ronald Strahan, 1996-01-01 Covers 74 species in 15 families comprising the buntings finches sparrows weavers grass finches starlings orioles drongos bowerbirds birds of paradise magpie larks mud nest builders woodswallows currawongs magpies butcherbirds crows and ravens Bowerbirds Peter Rowland, 2008-05-06 The bowerbirds family Ptilonorhynchidae are famed for their unique bower building behaviour In some species the bower can be a complex construction of sticks and other vegetable matter that can grow to two metres in diameter and one and a half metres high Many species are also accomplished mimics and are able to copy the calls of other bird species other natural and mechanical sounds and even human speech The bowerbirds are confined to Australia and New Guinea and due to the difficulty in accessing certain areas of their distribution the study of their habits has been challenging The 20 existing species are almost equally divided between the two regions with eight species endemic to Australia 10 to New Guinea and two species occurring in both Bowerbirds condenses published knowledge into a format that will suit natural history enthusiasts at any level While the emphasis is on Australian members of the family with detailed accounts on each of the 10 species the New Guinea representatives are discussed in general chapters and are included in a supplemental section that covers key areas such as breeding identification and distribution This book also includes more than 50 illustrations including colour pictures of each Australian species their bowers displays and distributional maps Animal Signaling and Function Duncan J. Irschick, Mark Briffa, Jeffrey Podos, 2015-01-20 The diversity of animal signals has been widely documented and the generality of animal signals also tantalizingly suggests that there are common mechanisms that have selected for their origin However while much progress has been made on some fronts we still lack a general theory about why the diversity of signaling structures exist Our compilation will directly address this gap by focusing on an exciting new arena of sexual selection namely using functional approaches to understand signaling This approach is rooted in the idea that many signals are designed to transmit important functional information that is both important for issues of male quality and hence male competition and female choice The increasing use of technology in sexual selection studies has enabled researchers to test whether signaling is either constrained by or accurately transmits information about functional capacities Further in animals that fight vigorously functional capacities such as endurance or strength may make the difference between winning and losing This volume brings together a diverse collection of researchers who are actively investigating how function and signaling are related These researchers use both a variety of methods and taxa to study animal signaling and we believe that this integrative view is important to open up fresh vistas for why animal signals have evolved

Temporal Dimensions of Landscape Ecology John A. Bissonette, Ilse Storch, 2007-09-05 In this book the authors discuss the effects that temporal changes in resources have on animal populations The chapters address the idea of current as well as historical temporal influences on resource availability quality and distribution The authors draw attention to the neglected temporal issues so important to understanding species and community responses International contributions enable worldwide application of the theories Our Australian Feathered Friends ,2007 Directory of Australian Birds: Passerines R Schodde,IJ Mason,1999-10-01 Recent classifications of Australian birds have been limited to lists of species which are inadequate as biodiversity indicators The Directory of Australian Birds Passerines fills a huge gap in ornithological knowledge by separating out and listing not only 340 species of song birds but also the 720 distinct regional forms Covering about half the national bird fauna the Directory provides science and the community with baseline information about what bird it is and where it lives in an Australia wide context Identity is taken down to the level of distinct regional population No other compendium on Australian birds does this John Gould's Extinct and Endangered Birds of Australia Sue Taylor,2012 In 1838 John Gould the father of Australian ornithology visited Australia with the intention of gathering material for his great work on Australian birds In the resulting publication The Birds of Australia In Seven Volumes 1848 and the accompanying Supplement 1869 Gould named for the first time no fewer than 32 Australian bird species Gould s words about the Norfolk Island Kaka were prophetic the last bird of its kind died in a cage in London in 1851 Since then a number of other species illustrated in The Birds of Australia have become extinct and others are now facing extinction John Gould s Extinct and Endangered Birds of Australia features 59 plates of birds from Gould s eight volume work birds that today are threatened or that no longer exist Featuring exquisite full colour lithographs reproduced from the National Library of Australia s copy of The Birds of Australia this book gives an insight into the history of each bird s European discovery as well as its subsequent fortunes or misfortunes Finding Australian Birds Tim Dolby,Rohan Clarke,2014-05-28 Finding Australian Birds is a guide to the special birds found across Australia s vastly varied landscapes From the eastern rainforests to central deserts Australia is home to some 900 species of birds This book covers over 400 Australian bird watching sites conveniently grouped into the best birding areas from one end of the country to the other This includes areas such as Kakadu in the Top End and rocky gorges in the central deserts of the Northern Territory the Great Barrier Reef in Queensland rainforests distributed along the eastern Australian seaboard some of the world s tallest forests in Tasmania the Flinders Ranges and deserts along the iconic Strzelecki and Birdsville Tracks in South Australia and the mallee temperate woodlands and spectacular coastlines in both Victoria and south west Western Australia Each chapter begins with a brief description of the location followed by a section on where to find the birds which describes specific birdwatching sites within the location s boundaries and information on accommodation and facilities The book also provides a comprehensive Bird Finding Guide listing all of Australia s birds with details on their abundance and where exactly to see them Of value to both Australian birdwatchers and international visitors this book will assist novices birders of intermediate skill and keen twitchers to find any Australian species The Birds of Northern Melanesia Ernst Mayr,Jared M. Diamond,2001 Speciation is the process by which co existing daughter species evolve from one ancestral species e g humans chimpanzees and gorillas arising from a common ancestor around 5 000 000 years ago However many questions about speciation remain controversial The Birds of Northern Melanesia provides by far the most comprehensive study yet available of a rich fauna composed of the 195 breeding land and fresh water bird species of the Bismarck and Solomon Archipelagoes east of New Guinea This avifauna offers decisive advantages for understanding speciation and includes famous examples of geographic variation discussed in textbooks of evolutionary biology The book results from 30 years of collaboration between the evolutionary biologist Ernst Mayr and the ecologist Jared Diamond It shows how Northern Melanesian bird distributions provide snapshots of all stages in speciation from the earliest widely distributed species without geographic variation to the last closely related reproductively isolated species occurring sympatrically and segregating ecologically The presentation emphasizes the wide diversity of speciation outcomes steering a middle course between one model fits all simplification and ungeneralizable species accounts Questions illuminated include why some species are much more prone to speciate than others why some water barriers are much more effective at promoting speciation than others and whether hypothesized taxon cycles faunal dominance and legacies of Pleistocene land bridges are real These years of study have resulted in a huge database complete with distributions of all 195 species on 76 islands together with their taxonomy colonization routes ecological attributes abundance and overwater dispersal Color plates depict 88 species and allospecies many of which have never been seen before For students of speciation Northern Melanesian birds now constitute a model system against which other biotas can be compared For population biologists interested in other problems besides speciation this rich database can now be mined for insights
