Migrating Fujianese Guotong Li, 2016-11-07 With the Fujian coast at its center, this book reveals the intellectual migratory and gendered relationships that tied Fujian to the Chinese imperial domain and to its overseas networks. This Fujian study also offers ways to analyze local histories of late imperial China from a more global perspective. Based on a wide range of sources such as business contracts, legal documents, women's writings, and folksongs, Migrating Fujianese elucidates China's southeast coast and its migration patterns. Examining this multi-ethnic migrant community through the lens of ethnicity shows the complex operation of linked chain migration: overseas male emigration and overland family migration by the ethnic She people and its impact on the gender relations and family strategies of the coastal people. The study argues that examination of Fujianese migration through the lenses of gender and ethnicity is crucial to understanding the relationship between the flow of people and the society nourishing that flow.

Rediscovering Wen Tingyun Huaichuan Mou, 2012-02-01 In this book, Huaichuan Mou takes a fresh look at the life, times, and work of Wen Tingyun, the great poet of the late Tang dynasty in China whose reputation has been overshadowed by notoriety and misunderstanding for more than a thousand years. In probing the political intricacies of the major events of Wen's life and the complex contexts in which these events took place, Mou presents a historical key to Wen's artistic labyrinth, unraveling many of Wen's poetic puzzles and rediscovering a historical past that vividly represents his unyielding pursuit of ideal government and true love. This reconstruction of the poet's life results in a new understanding not only of his literary work but also of late Tang history as well. Translations and close readings of a number of poems and prose essays are included.

Yü,2021-03-23 Why did modern capitalism not arise in late imperial China One famous answer comes from Max Weber whose The Protestant Ethic and the Spirit of Capitalism gave a canonical analysis of religious and cultural factors in early modern European economic development In The Religions of China Weber contended that China lacked the crucial religious impetus to capitalist growth that Protestantism gave Europe The preeminent historian Ying shih Y offers a magisterial examination of religious and cultural influences in the development of China s early modern economy both complement and counterpoint to Weber s inquiry The Religious Ethic and Mercantile Spirit in Early Modern China investigates how evolving forms of Buddhism Confucianism and Daoism created and promulgated their own concepts of the work ethic from the late seventh century into the Qing dynasty The book traces how religious leaders developed the spiritual significance of labor and how merchants adopted this religious work ethic raising their status in Chinese society However Y argues China s early modern mercantile spirit was restricted by the imperial bureaucratic priority on social order He challenges Marxists who championed China s sprouts of capitalism during the fifteenth through eighteenth centuries as well as other modern scholars who credit Confucianism with producing dramatic economic growth in East Asian countries Y rejects the premise that China needed an early capitalist stage of development moreover the East Asian capitalism that flourished in the later half of the twentieth century was essentially part of the spread of global capitalism Now available in English translation this landmark work has been greatly influential among scholars in East Asia since its publication in Chinese in 1987 The Poetics of Decadence
