Marginalization and Welfare Services Aila-Leena Matthies,Lars Uggerhøj,2016-05-13 Current debates around participation and marginalization dominate the agenda of many European political forums There is an increasing concern about the stability of social cohesion and a growing number of particular groups of people who are regarded as being at risk of being socially excluded or marginalized This volume goes beyond the surface of public discussions to look at the central role played by welfare services in European societies in either strengthening or hindering participatory citizenship and democracy In current discussions welfare services understood in a broad sense are centrally positioned there are high expectations that welfare services can hinder marginalization and enable participation Yet marginalization is in most cases rooted in the deeper structures of society with economy participation and involvement dependent on political or highly personal factors which are beyond the scope of welfare services This groundbreaking volume posits that participation and marginalization are twin concepts expressing opposing sides of one and the same processes faced by individuals and communities It will be essential reading for social workers sociologists and policy makers throughout Europe Involving Children and Young arising from their participation however Divided into five parts this practical book begins by considering what research with young people is and why we should do it before leading the reader into how to undertake it The book then provides practical examples of action and finishes with reflections about the whole process Bringing together a variety of experienced researchers from a wide range of backgrounds in health and social care and including young people the chapters provide insight for practical action as well as critical and theoretical reflection Involving Children and Young People in Health and Social Care Research includes issues on Understanding the reasons and processes for involving children and young people in research Making sure that involvement is meaningful and not merely tokenistic Developing research methods that are commensurate with different ages and abilities Ensuring adequate training and preparation for children young people and adults to make involvement meaningful Power and relationships between young people researchers and adult researchers Sustaining young people s interest and motivation Addressing ethical issues that arise throughout the research journey Committed to partnership and participation throughout the entire process of the active involvement of children and young people in health and social care research this text provides invaluable insights and is a resource for all those conducting research in and with children and young people
